Viet Crisis At a Glance

By United Press International

WASHINGTON: Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara announces 64 air sorties against North Vietnamese gunboats and bases and destruction or damage of approximately 25 patrol boats along with a supporting oil depot. Two American planes and their pilots were lost.

SYRACUSE, N.Y.: President Johnson says U.S. forces have answered "deliberate, willful and systematic" North Vietnamese attacks on American destroyers in international waters. He declares there can be "no peace by aggression and no immunity from reply."

WASHINGTON: Congressional leaders promise prompt bipartisan support of presidential resolution to keep peace with whatever steps necessary. GOP presidential nominee Barry Goldwater backs Johnson.

SAIGON: Six — and probably more—F102 jet fighters rushed to South Viet Nam in readiness for North Vietnamese retaliation. U.S. military reinforcements reported arriving in Thailand.

MOSCOW: Radio Moscow says U.S. planes forced to withdraw from Communist air space after two "piratical" raids.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today U.S. Navy bombers have heavily damaged four North Vietnamese torpedo bases and wrecked a North Vietnamese oil storage depot in retaliation for attacks on two U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin.

At a news conference, the secretary said two U.S. aircraft had been shot down by ground fire and two had been damaged during 64 attack sorties launched from the aircraft carriers Ticonderoga and Constellation.

McNamara said approximately "25 patrol boats were damaged or destroyed."

The attack was in retaliation for an assault by three Red PT boats last Sunday against the destroyer Maddox in which one of the boats were sunk and two others damaged, and another fiercer engagement involving two U.S. craft Tuesday.

The second attack was aimed at the Maddox and the destroyer Turner Joy which had been sent to support the Maddox.

McNamara said in response to questions that "whether this (the retaliatory blow) will be all that is necessary is up to the North Vietnamese."

His summary of the U.S. response was a swift follow-up to the announcement by President Johnson Tuesday night that Navy planes had been sent on the mission to give a "positive reply" to the Red attacks.

The President made his announcement in somber tones at a session with newsmen late Tuesday night after a day-long series of emergency conferences.

The areas of the U.S. bombing attack were given by McNamara as four PT boat bases,

LBJ Asks Congressional Backing in Viet Crisis

By HARRY KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States moved toward a showdown in Southeast Asia today as President Johnson sent U.S. Navy planes in a series of attacks against Red PT boats and their shore facilities in North Viet Nam.

The President called the air strikes a "positive reply" to attacks on U.S. destroyers in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Viet Nam.

"Yet our response, for the present, will be limited and fitting," he added. "We Americans know, although others appear to forget, the risks of spreading conflict — we still seek no wider war."

The President, facing the most explosive international crisis since the Cuban missile showdown, announced the U.S. air assaults in a somber, pre-midnight address to the nation Tuesday night.

Johnson said Sunday's PT boat attacks on the destroyer Maddox were repeated Tuesday against two destroyers and "we believe at least two of the attacking boats were sunk. There were no U.S. losses."

The President said he had directed Ambassador Adlai E Stevenson to raise "immediately and urgently" before the U.N. Security Council the torpedo boat assaults that the United States charges were unprovoked and in international waters.

Communist North Viet Nam, in a broadcast early today, asserted the American charge of another PT boat raid Tuesday was "sheer fabrication by the U.S. imperialists aimed at covering up their illegal acts which brazenly violated the security of the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam and are aggravating further the situation in Southeast Asia."

In announcing the U.S. reply to the new Communist challenges, the President placed the Red China 'Told' to Keep Hands Off Viet Crisis

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — President Johnson declared today that peace requires a firm response to aggression, and that is the reason for U.S. air strikes at North Vietnamese attackers.

The world must never forget, he said, "that aggression unchallenged is aggression unleashed."

In effect, he told Red China to keep hands off and not enlarge the war.

"To any who may be tempted to support — or to widen — the present aggression," Johnson said, "I say this. There is no threat to any peaceful power from the United States of America. But there can be no peace by aggression and no immunity from reply. That is what is meant by the actions taken yesterday."

Johnson spoke at ceremonies dedicating a journalism building as the first unit of a $15-million communications center at Syracuse University, a gift to the university from publisher Samuel I. Newhouse.

He emphasized that this country's purpose is peace, and not-

Murderer of Broomfield Couple Is Being Hunted

BRECKENRIDGE, Colo. (AP) —A hundred searchers on horseback scoured the mountains in the Breckenridge area today, looking for the killer of a Broomfield, Colo., physician and his wife.

And, in Denver, authorities questioned the couple's 16-year-old son in connection with the death.

The dead couple — Dr. and Mrs. William J. Bresnahan, both 39—were stabbed to death near their campsite five miles below Dillon Dam on Willow Creek.

Officials arriving at the murder scene found three younger children locked in the family's camper wagon. They were Susan, 11; Penny, 2, and Robert, 2 months. They were reportedly unharmed.

The oldest son, Jim, who said he fought with the killer, suffered stab wounds. He was taken to St. Anthony's hospital, where his wounds were not considered serious. State Patrol Chief Gilbert Carrel and Summit County Dist. Atty. Harold Grant questioned the boy Tuesday night.

Between 75 and 100 searchers looked over the area Tuesday night, and the State Patrol set up nearly half a dozen roadblocks.

They were looking for a kinky-haired man described by the couple's son as having a dark complexion, weighing about 120 pounds and standing about 5-feet-6 inches tall.

Speedy Approval Forecast For Defense Resolution

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic and Republican Congressional leaders predicted today speedy and overwhelming support for President Johnson's call for a resolution backing U.S. determination "to take all necessary measures" to defend peace and freedom in Southeast Asia.

But some Republicans said off the record that they expected a full discussion of U.S. policy on Viet Nam before the resolution is approved.

Johnson asked for the resolution in a statement to the nation Tuesday night in which he said that the United States had launched air action against gun boats "and certain supporting facilities" after a second attack on U.S. destroyers off North Viet Nam.

House and senate leaders planned to move swiftly on the resolution. But no time-table for action was made public.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said there had been no opposition from Republicans when Johnson brought up the proposed resolution at a White House meeting of congressional leaders.

"It seemed to me that the group there was unanimous in its approval of this sort of action," the Montana Democrat said.

Three Bodies Identified as Those Of Missing Civil Rights Workers

By ANDREW J. REESE JR.

JACKSON, Miss. (UPI) — Three badly decomposed bodies found in shallow graves at a farm pond site near Philadelphia, Miss., were identified today as those of three civil rights workers who disappeared 44 days ago.

A terse FBI announcement, read here and in Washington, made no mention of the cause of death or whether arrests in the case were imminent.

Positive identifications from fingerprints and dental records were made of two of the workers—Andrew Goodman, 20, and Michael Schwerner, 24, both white and from New York.

A tentative identification was made of the third worker, Negro James Chaney, 21, of Meridian, Miss.

They vanished the night of June 21 near Philadelphia following their arrest on a speeding charge while participating in a summer campaign by college students to register Negro voters in Mississippi.

The bodies were found late Tuesday, six weeks and two days after Philadelphia authorities said they were released from jail, by FBI agents digging around a newly-constructed farm pond dam in dense pine thickets and underbrush five miles southwest of the small east Mississippi city.

The graves were a stone's throw from state highway 21, the same one on which the burned out station wagon used by the workers was found 13 miles northeast of Philadelphia the day after they disappeared.

Red China Has Little Comment On Viet Crisis

TOKYO (UPI) — Communist China's official news agency made its first broadcast concerning the U.S.-North Vietnamese engagements in the Gulf of Tonkin today, virtually without comment.

The official New China News Agency, in a broadcast monitored in Tokyo, noted that North Viet Nam's army high command had issued a statement "on the provocative activities carried out by U.S. warships in North Viet Nam's territorial waters."

Aside from this introduction, New China merely broadcast the text of the North Vietnamese statement.

Rain, Hail and Floods Cause Widespread Manitou Damage

* * * * * * * * * * * *

Rain and golf ball-size hail pelted the Manitou Springs area Tuesday afternoon, causing widespread damage.

Mayor L. Longaker called out volunteer firemen in the middle of a council meeting to cope with flooding in several areas of the hilly city.

Canon Avenue was particularly hard hit in the vicinity of the Cliff House Hotel. The hotel was flooded. Mud accumulated at the entrance to the Cliff Dwellings on El Paso Avenue and at times blocked this secondary artery.

Many tourists parked their cars, jamming traffic, instead of driving in the running mud and water and falling hail and rain. Some convertible tops were shredded by hail which also smashed neon signs. At times hail accumulated on the ground in small drifts.

Shops in the Arcade and downtown Manitou were flooded when water overflowed the gutter on the north side of Manitou Avenue. Merchants used brooms and barricades to protect their merchandise.

At the height of the storm, which began shortly before 3 p.m. and varied in intensity for about three hours, residents were busy unclogging gutters, storm sewers and flumes to pro-

Ceylon to Deny Ports To U.S., British Ships

COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — Ceylon's government has decided to deny facilities at its airports and seaports to British and American ships and planes going to Malaysia on military missions against Indonesia, an official source said today.

The source said this decision resulted from the government's determination to preserve its policy of nonalignment, even though it is a member of the Commonwealth along with Britain and Malaysia.

Nikita Puts Germany At Top of Issues

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev has again put Germany at the top of his list of unsettled cold war issues.

Without the "achievement of a German peace settlement," there can be no additional relaxation of East-West tensions, the Soviet leader said Monday.

Khrushchev was interviewed by Pravda and Izvestia in connection with the first anniversary of the signing of the limited nuclear test ban treaty. He said the pact had brought a "store of trust" between the cold war adversaries.

"It is very important to guard this store of trust and not to allow it to run out, but on the contrary, to strengthen and extend it in every way," he said.

But without a settlement of the German problem, he said, "It would be difficult to approach the problem of general and complete disarmament."

He called for an international agreement renouncing force in territorial disputes.

"It is necessary to suppress the breeding grounds of tension in the Caribbean, in Southeast Asia, in Cyprus and the Arab peninsula," said Khrushchev.

Historically, the American Indians did not have a single language and a common set of customs.

Leisurely Trip Marks Vacation For Goldwater

By ARTHUR EDSON

BALBOA, Calif. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater takes to the open sea again today for what could be his last day of complete rest until after the November election.

His schedule called for almost a repeat of Sunday's outing: A leisurely trip on the Sundance, an 83-foot one-time PT boat that has been converted into a luxury yacht.

For a moment newsmen and photographers thought that today they might get close to the Republican presidential candidate who they have not seen since he brushed by them at the Santa Rosa, Calif., airport Thursday.

Goldwater apparently considered taking the whole news crew along for a spin on the Sundance. But first the senator ruled out the newsmen because, he said, there wouldn't be room enough for them. Then it was reported he had excluded cameramen too.

But he will take along his two news secretaries and their two assistants who may phone back news from the boat.

Wednesday Goldwater heads back to Washington to plunge into a campaign schedule.

On Thursday and Friday he will talk to separate groups of Republican senators and house members. Also on Friday's schedule is a speech to a GOP candidate school run by Rep. Bob Wilson of California.

"I will not be surprised," Goldwater said Monday, "if the speech has some political overtones. In fact, throughout August, I will be making speeches fairly regularly and I might be dealing fairly regularly with political issues in each appearance."

His comment on campaign plans was in answer to written questions submitted by newsmen. A dozen queries were given to his secretaries to give to him, but he answered only half of them.

One question: "What are your comments on the PT boat attacks off South Vietnam?"

Goldwater replied by asking these three questions:

"I think the American people are entitled to ask some questions in regard to this event: Does the presence of American destroyers in the area signify the possible landing of larger American ground forces?

"Does it mean medium bombers are going to be used to interdict the supply lines? Does it mean a change is taking place in foreign policy at White House and State Department levels?"

In other replies, he said:

The moon shot is a great achievement but he doesn't think more money should be spent on it.

He welcomes the support of Sen. Mike Masnfield, D-Mont., who defended Goldwater's rights to his views against foreign press criticism.

He thinks the bracero program, in which Mexican labor is used on U.S. farms, should be continued.

The number one question on the list was political: What about President Johnson eliminating Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy as a vice presidential possibility?

"That is one the Democrats will have to answer," Goldwater said. "Anyone they choose will be saddled with Bobby Baker, Billy Sol Estes, South Viet Nam and waning U.S. prestige around the world. He sounds like a loser to start with."

Kansans Pick Nominees in Heat Wave

TOPEKA, Kan. (AP) — Nominees for governor, five congressional posts and eight secondary state races were being picked today as Kansans voted a near-record heat wave.

A record number of candidates for governor, eight Republicans and six Democrats, highlighted the election.

Skies were generally fair throughout the state with afternoon high temperatures of 100 to 108 degrees predicted for most areas.

Kansas is traditionally Republican, but Democrats have candidates in all state and district races and are hoping for a Democratic trend in November.

The Republican gubernatorial race has drawn the most attention.

Various polls have given the lead to State Sen. Paul R. Wunsch; McDill Boyd, Phillipsburg publisher; or V.S. Rep. William H. Avery, veteran of 10 years in Congress.

Atty. Gen. William M. Ferguson, who led the Republican ticket in the 1960 general election, also was a possible top contender.

Others in the Republican gubernatorial contest are two-term Lt. Gov. Harold Chase, Salina; State Rep. Grant Dohm, Grinnell; Dell Crozier, Wichita; and Albert S. Myers, Pawnee Rock.

Democratic gubernatorial candidates are Harry G. Wiles, member of the Kansas Corporation Commission; Jules V. Doty, Ottawa attorney and 1960 nominee for attorney general; former Lt. Gov. Joseph Henkle, Great Bend; former State Treasurer George Hart, Wichita; J. Donald Coffin, Council Grove telephone company owner; and Ewell Stewart, Fort Scott.

Congressional interest has centered in the 2nd District for the seat left open by Avery.

In the Republican primary are State Rep. Ralph Skoog, Topeka; Chester L. Mize, Atchison businessman; State Sen. John H. Murray, Leavenworth; and Charles D. McAtee.

Two Democrats are in the race — John Montgomery, Junction City publisher; and Jay Dyer, Atchinson businessman.

Hanover News

By MRS. RUTH CHISMAN

We are sorry to hear that Mrs. T. J. Bruce is in Penrose Hospital. She is on the 11th floor. Mrs. Hoffer, a friend of Harold and Gertrude Williams, is in the same room. Our hopes and prayers are that they have a speedy recovery. Mrs. Bruce has been under a heavy strain for three months.

The Drennan Homecoming, which has been held yearly for some time, will be held at the Drennan Community Building Sunday, Aug. 9. Each one is requested to bring table service and a basket lunch. The drinks will be furnished by the Drennan-Squirrel Creek Home Demonstration Club.

The children of Mrs. Ruby Spradlin met in Colorado Springs for a family reunion this week. This is the first time they have all been together in 20 years. Wednesday evening they were all out to the Clyde Bolls', but Mrs. Wanda Johnston, of near Woodland Park, Claude Ball and grandson were also guests. Wanda is the oldest daughter. Alma and Eloise, the other daughters. Jack and Tom are the sons. Mrs. Spradlin, the mother, lives in a trailer mobile home in Knob Hill.

The Charles Chismans arrived home Wednesday, July 29, two days later than expected, as Charles took ill suddenly and was in a Chicago hospital two days. After arriving at the Ambassador Hotel in Washington, about 9 or 10 at night they were trying to get settled around midnight when the fire bells began to ring. They all filed out, only to learn it was a false alarm. The fire was supposed to have been on the seventh floor and they were on the 11th floor. They visited with Congressman Edgar Chenoweth for awhile when they were at the Capitol. Charles and Dennis Chisman drove out to Roy Chisman's Thursday evening for Dennis' horse so he could ride in the Rodeo parade.

Marland De Groots visited Marland's folks, the Daw De Groots, Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Chisman took Karen and Dwight to the Carl Millions on Fountain Mesa, Wednesday afternoon, as Karen became ill and Dave was haling hay at his folks. Mr. Chisman gave Dennis several folders on our government, which will be valuable for Dennis in his school work.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Rebhle received their new bus last week, getting ready for the school year.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Akers and Claudia drove to Camp Iana Sunday and got Jeanie, who had been helping there. Claudia had also helped during the week.

A good crowd enjoyed the wonderful pictures that Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Brewer shared with us Saturday night, Aug. 1, at the Drennan Community Building. Wesley has a wonderful collection of these colored slides. They lasted two and a half hours and were very educational. They were a wonderful substitute for a trip to Africa for those who are not able to visit there. He had a great many of the animals of Africa, and also a wonderful collection of the flowers there. Wesley was in Africa two years, teaching school. While there he married an English girl, who also was a teacher. They now have a four months old baby daughter. Time has surely changed as [illegible] names meant nothing any more when we realize what and where so many of our young folks have been. The Virgil Porters, living in the Panama Canal Zone for two years, are returning for two years more. And this experience of Wesley's. So many of our boys being in all parts of the world has given them a broader view of the world.

Several areas received showers Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Chisman, Judy, Marvin and Ramona, of Pueblo, drove out to Roy Chisman's Sunday, Aug. 2. In the afternoon they all drove to Ellicott and called on the Gene Chisman's. They also stopped by the Lincoln Holmans for a chat.

Delbert Holman had flown from Garden City, Kan. and called on his folks for an afternoon visit. Nothing unusual now for the children to hop over for the afternoon.

Mrs. Bonnie Rebhle, David and Mark and Mrs. Maude Patterson, of Colorado Springs, attended church at Hanover and had dinner with the W. D. Rebles. Billy drove out later. Little David spent Sunday night with his grandparents. The Billy Rebles are moving to their home off Templeton Gap road this week.

Services were held at the Hanover Church Sunday evening. An offering was taken to go towards inside rest rooms at the church. These offerings are being taken at the evening service, which is held every two weeks.

Irene Vette returned home Sunday evening from Camp Iana, where she had helped most of the camp time.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Baker had Sunday dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Healy and a family of Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill McCarty and two daughters, and Mrs. Viola Bixley of Colorado Springs enjoyed the pictures shown by Wesley Brewer. Mrs. McCarty and Mrs. Bixley are aunts of Wesley's.

SELL EXCHANGE SEAT

NEW YORK (UPI) — A membership on the New York Stock Exchange has been sold for $195,000, unchanged from the previous transaction on July 15. An exchange "seat" now is quoted $185,000 bid, $207,000 asked.

"All right, all right—I'll shave it off first thing tomorrow morning!"

Balconies Are for Birds, Noted Architect Declares

NEW YORK (UPI) — Balconies are for the birds!

For those who don't have one, a city apartment with balcony may represent wealth, rising social status and gracious living. However, architect Lathrop Douglass, A.I.A., says anyone whose urban apartment does boast a balcony will tell a different story.

Balconies accumulate deep deposits of cinders, ashes, dust and other airborne debris and, in addition, are literally "for the birds"—providing comfortable perch and handy restroom facilities.

Douglass says apartment balconies often are nothing more than architectural gadgetry — something to make a dull building a little more interesting. He feels the space taken by a balcony could and should be incorporated into the apartment itself—and he suggests a way of doing it without losing the fresh air and view that the balcony is supposed to provide.

He suggests apartments be designed to use as much glass as possible in the outside wall of the living room—from floor to ceiling if there is a view. Generous double doors could open this up on a variation of the shallow French balcony which provides just a foot or two to step out on when there is a nice day. Or, there could be floor-to-ceiling glass, protected by railing, to open the room completely to fresh air and light.

"This design," Douglass says, "takes the wasted space of a deep balcony and transforms it into heated, air conditioned and handsomely appointed rooms. Opened up at the proper season, the illusion is there, and so is the comfort."

The Detroit River is known as the "Dardanelles of America."

Tree Choppers Are Routed by Housewives

ELMONT, N.Y. (AP) — Housewives pushing baby carriages have routed the tree choppers in the first skirmish over thee shade trees of Evans avenue.

Town officials of this Long Island community want to widen the streets, lined with oaks and elms that stand between the sidewalks and the pavement.

The women of Elmont, many of them refugees from the concrete canyons of New York City, want to preserve the greenery.

They moved out in force Monday.

Mrs. Charles Spanier stationed herself under a condemned tree, looked up at a workman and said:

"If you cut off one more branch, you'll have to drop it on my head to get rid of it."

The workman climbed down.

Pushing their infants in front of them, a dozen housewives led by Mrs. Hope Fox surrounded a truck that was to haul away the dismembered trees. They clogged Evans avenue and, after an hour, forced the workmen to give up for the day.

They also started circulating a petition and organized a telephone squad to swamp the office of the town board with complaints.

Town officials were not available for comment.

"I have nothing against drainage pipes or new curbing," said Mrs. Fox. "It's just that we moved out to the suburbs because we like the country atmosphere, which is rapidly disappearing.

"This whole thing started months ago, when we first heard that the streets in a 22-block area south of the Hempstead turnpike were going to be widened.

"We understood then that some of the trees would have to go, but there would be enough room between the sidewalk and the curb to plant new ones if we wanted to. But, when the man came around last Friday to mark the trees that were to be cut, he marked all but four in the whole area and told us that the curbs would be right next to the sidewalk.

"Solid cement! Imagine that!"

RUSSIAN BLAST TWIST

MOSCOW (UPI) — A ballet director said Tuesday the Soviet Union needs a new popular dance step to combat the twist, which is invading Russia.

Igor Moiseyev of the famed Moiseyev Ballet, said the Soviets must replace the twist with "virbrant optimistic dances with a sporting and community spirit — something that is lively and not a death jig."

This distinguished panel investigated 29 Canada Dry beverages. Here are its findings:

"Club Soda is o.k.--but only if you mix it with something terrific, like chocolate syrup." "Collins Mixer is a neat name, but it needs a lot of sugar." "Quinine Water--forget it. Nobody could like that stuff." As for Bitter Lemon, our panel refused even to taste anything with a name like that.

But boy, did they go for the other Canada Dry beverages.

They raved about the original pale dry Ginger Ale. They were crazy about all those delicious flavors--from lip-smacking Orange to true-fruit Grapefruit. And when we told them how Canada Dry creates Special Sparkle by blending costly ingredients with pinpoint carbonation--well, they just flipped!

Five Die in Ute Pass Four-Car Traffic Disaster

John James Monett, 47, Green Mountain Falls, driver of the truck which began the chain-reaction accident.

Dead on arrival at St. Francis Hospital was Charles Conrad, 12, of Burbank, Calif. He was a nephew of the Fergusons and a passenger in their car.

His 14-year old brother, Keith, another passenger, is in critical condition at St. Francis Hospital with severe head injuries.

Five other persons were injured. One remains hospitalized. Two children escaped injury.

State Patrolman Marion F. Leonard witnessed the accident which happened about 3:30 p.m. Leonard said the road was dry at the time though it had rained earlier. He said he had pulled a truck off the highway for a routine PUC check.

He said he and the driver of the other truck had just stepped from the vehicles when the first collision occurred.

Monett, alone in the truck was driving "at a high rate of speed," Leonard said and was in the wrong lane. He was traveling west. His pick-up truck sideswiped a car driven by William O. Burke, 24, 432 N. Cooper Ave.

The truck continued on the wrong side of the highway for 92 feet and smashed into the Ferguson car. The force of the impact knocked the Ferguson car 72 feet south of the highway.

Monett's truck flipped on its side and skidded for 27 feet coming to rest in the eastbound lane where it was struck by a car driven by John R. Ellis, 31, Champagne, Ill. The state patrol said that Ellis attempted to stop and skidded for 41 feet before striking the truck.

County Coroner Dr. Raoul Urich pronounced the Ferguson family and Monett dead at the scene.

Burke sustained cuts and bruises in the accident and was treated at Penrose Hospital and released. His wife, Ermabell L. Burke, 25, suffered cuts and chest injuries and their seven-year old daughter, Cindy, sustained contusions and abrasions. They were treated at the West Side Medical Center and released. Two other Burke children, Douglas, 5, and Jeffery, 3, escaped injury.

Ellis sustained a bruised leg and abrasions and was treated and released at St. Francis Hospital. His wife, Betty, 31, is in fairly good condition with a fractured wrist and cut head at St. Francis Hospital.

Three E and E ambulances fought stalled traffic through flooded Manitou Springs to reach the scene and raced back along rain-slickened highways weaving in and out of a four-mile line of stalled traffic leading down to Manitou Springs. One of the ambulances made two trips.

Wreckage from the crash lay in all directions for several hundred feet. State patrolmen, deputy sheriffs and volunteers helped control traffic. Gasoline was spilled over the highway and onto the side of the road.

The pick-up truck and the Ferguson car were declared total losses. The other two cars were damaged a total of $1,100.

Monett's body was taken to Blunt Mortuary. The Fergusons and the Conrad boy were taken to Law Mortuary.

The tragic accident raised Colorado's mounting highway death toll to 313, 25 more than at this same time last year.

No Mountain Climbing Event Here Thursday

The regular Thursday mountain climbing demonstration performed by Ft. Carson's Leadership and Mountain Training School, has been cancelled in favor of the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo parade in Colorado Springs at the same hour.

The demonstration was scheduled at 10:30 a.m. today in in North Cheyenne Caonn, along with Civil Air Patrol cadets here for their national drill competition.

Fire Damages Truck On West Side Tuesday

A fire late Tuesday afternoon resulted in damage to the wiring, paint and hood of a truck owned by the National Clay Products.

Fire Company No. 5 responded to the call at 3:44 p.m. at 25th Street and Colorado Avenue. The driver was John Shepheid, 121 S. Prospect St.

Deputy Chief Argus Cumming was in charge. Cause was reported to be a flooded carburetor.

Speedy Approval Forecast For Defense Resolution

conference of all Republican senators, said, "I believe the Republicans in Congress will support the President in any necessary action he may take to obtain a measure of security for the free world in the Far East."

Senate GOP leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois and Assistant leader Thomas H. Kuchel of California were not available for comment after the President's statement.

Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee, gave full support to President Johnson's statement.

Dirksen and House Republican leader Charles A. Halleck of Indiana had reportedly planned to criticize Johnson Administration policies in Southeast Asia at a news conference today. They canceled the conference.

development in the context of guerrilla fighting in U.S.-supported South Viet Nam.

"Aggression by terror against the peaceful villagers of South Viet Nam has now been joined by open aggression on the high seas against the United States of America," he said. "The determination of all Americans to carry out our full commitment to the people and government of South Viet Nam will be redoubled by this outrage."

Johnson, in his 500 word statement, said he had met with congressional leaders of both parties and told them he would immediately request Congress "to pass a resolution making it clear that our government is united in its determination to take all necessary measures in support of freedom, and in defense of peace, in Southeast Asia."

He said he had received assurance the resolution would be passed with overwhelming support.

The President received support for his course of action even before he announced it from Sen. Barry Goldwater, the Republican presidential nominee.

Johnson reached Goldwater, vacationing in Balboa, Calif., to tell him what he was going to say. And Goldwater told newsmen the President's decision was "the only thing he can do under the circumstances."

"I am sure that every American will subscribe to the actions outlined in the President's statement," Goldwater said.

Johnson declared it is a "solemn responsibility to have to order even limited military action by forces whose over-all strength is as vast and awesome as those of the United States of America. But it is my considered conviction, shared throughout your government, that firmness in the right is indispensable today for peace. That firmness will always be measured. Its mission is peace."

U.S. officials said the air strikes were decided upon unanimously by Johnson and his National Security Council advisers after receiving word of the second attack on U.S. destroyers.

They said the aim of the action was to remove the threat to U.S. ships without widening the war. The idea, they said, was to try to stop the sea attacks before the situation ignited into a full-scale Asian war.

Also at stake was the U.S. position in the struggle over the future of Southeast Asia, a struggle that has been going poorly for the United States.

U.S. officials calculate that the next few days will be the time of crisis as Communist China's leaders try to decide what to do about the U.S. action.

Sources said Johnson understood the possibility of a Red Chinese counteraction when he made his decision for the air strikes.

Both China and the Soviet Union have defense treaties with North Viet Nam. U.S. officials said they believe Moscow has been trying to disengage itself from Southeast Asia where its influence has been receding.

U.S. sources said they do not expect much civilian loss of life from the U.S. bombing because the torpedo boat facilities are located away from populated areas.

U.S. intelligence figures the North Vietnamese have about 30 to 40 torpedo boats in all.

Officials declined to say just how many of the craft and their home installations would have to be knocked out before the United States would consider the threat sufficiently removed.

They said the results of the strikes would have to be studied to see whether it had done the job or another attack might be needed.

LBJ's Text On Viet Nam

WASHINGTON (AP) — Following is the text of President Johnson's radio and television speech Tuesday night on the Viet Nam situation:

My fellow Americans:

As President and Commander-in-Chief, it is my duty to the American people to report that renewed hostile actions against U.S. ships on the high seas in the Gulf of Tonkin have today required me to order the military forces of the United States to take action in reply.

The initial attack on the destroyer Maddox, on Aug. 2, was repeated today by a number of hostile vessels attacking two U.S. destroyers with torpedoes. The destroyers, and supporting aircraft, acted at once on the orders I gave after the initial act of aggression. We believe at least two of the attacking boats were sunk. There were no U.S. losses.

The performance of commanders and crews in this engagement is in the highest tradition of the United States Navy.

But repeated acts of violence against the armed forces of the United States must be met not only with alert defense, but with positive reply. That reply is being given as I speak to you. Air action is now in execution against gunboats and certain supporting facilities of North Viet Nam which have been used in these hostile operations.

In the larger sense, this new act of aggression, aimed directly at our own forces, again brings home to all of us in the United States the importance of the struggle for peace and security in Southeast Asia. Aggression by terror against the peaceful villagers of South Viet Nam has now been joined by open aggression on the high seas against the United States of America. The determination of all Americans to carry out our whole commitment to the people and government of South Viet Nam will be redoubled by this outrage.

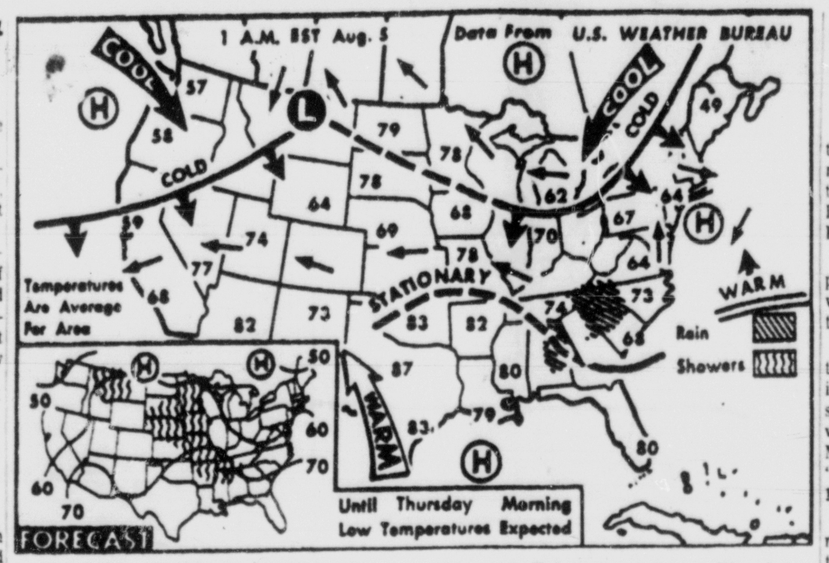

Yet our response, for the present, will be limited and fitting. We Americans know, although others appear to forget, the risks of spreading conflict — we still seek no wider war.

I have instructed the Secretary of State to make this position totally clear to friends, to adversaries, and indeed to all. I have instructed Ambassador (Adlai) Stevenson to raise this matter immediately and urgently before the Security Council of the United Nations.

Finally, I have met today with the leaders of both parties in the Congress of the United States and I have informed them that I shall immediately request the Congress to pass a resolution making it clear that our government is united in its determination to take all necessary measures in support of freedom, and in defense of peace, in Southeast Asia. I have been given encouraging assistance by these leaders that such a resolution will be promptly introduced, freely and expeditiously debated, and passed with overwhelming support.

And just a few minutes ago I was able to reach Senator Goldwater and I am glad to report he has expressed his support of the statement I am making tonight.

It is a solemn responsibility to have to order even limited military action by forces whose over-all strength is as vast and as awesome as those of the United States of America. But it is my considered conviction, shared throughout your government, that firmness in the right is indispensable today for peace. That firmness will always be measured. Its mission is peace.

Rain, Hail, Flood Cause Damage in Manitou Springs

tect their homes and businesses from flooding.

A citizen made his way through the falling hail to the council chambers to complain that there was two feet of water in his yard.

A young woman in a white dress took off her shoes and splashed through the water and mud on El Paso Avenue after her car stuck.

The Iron Springs Chateau was flooded as with other buildings when water rushed down Ruxton Ave. The evening melodrama in the chateau was canceled after a deposit of about four to five feet of sand in the building.

Ruxton and Fountain creeks swelled their banks. Two mud slides swept on to U.S. 24 in west Manitou near the entrance to Ute Pass.

City street and water department crews worked into the night to clear streets. Off-duty police were put on duty to direct traffic. They were joined by crews from the Manitou branch of the Colorado Springs Department of Public Utilities and telephone personnel.

Gene German, parks superintendent for the Colorado Springs Parks and Recreation Department, reported the high drive in Bear Creek Canyon washed out in several places because of the heavy rain and would be closed until this weekend.

The high drive is a one-way road that starts near the site where the Gold Camp Road intersects with the one coming up from North Cheyenne Canon.

The road in North Cheyenne Canon was barricaded for about tow hours, late Tuesday afternoon and evening because of rain-loosened rocks that spilled onto the highway. The road is now cleared of debris and is passable today.

Heavy rain sent water three to four feet deep across parts of the Garden of the Gods Road. This occurred with such suddenness that the road was not barricaded. People had to wait until the water had subsided in order to get through. A grader and a loader were used to clear the roadway of sand and water.

Don Lawrie, city street superintendent, said some washing occurred on the west side of Colorado Springs. Crews are at work today, cleaning debris from several west side streets.

Jack Sullivan, superintendent of the Pikes Peak Highway, said about two inches of hail fell on or near the summit, but no damage was reported to the highway outside of minor washing.

Sullivan also said that Tuesday's attendance set a new daily high for the season with 3,823 persons counted in spite of the storm.

Heavy Storm Cuts Manitou Meeting Short

Manitou Springs councilmen heard another request for licensing recreational activities in the Manitou Spa and cut their meeting short because of heavy Tuesday afternoon rains.

During the flood councilmen heard a request for business and dance hall licenses for the "Manitou Spa Recreation Center."

These licenses, explained Mr. and Mrs. Al Dwyer, owners of the restored mineral bath house, would cover a teenage club, games such as checkers and ping-pong, bridge, a sewing circle and musical and other entertainment.

Mrs. Dwyer explained that they did not want to make the Spa a dance hall, but that a dance hall license was necessary to operate a teenage center, and possibly a waltz club for adults.

"It's something that's needed," Councilman Z. A. Nevins, chairman of the police committee, said of the activities suggested for the Spa in downtown Manitou.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwyer said they would apply for the licenses in time for a hearing on the dance hall license Aug. 18.

A hearing was held on a blacktopping ordinance and the meeting adjourned.

Unfinished business on the agenda will be taken up at 9 a.m. this morning.

Girls Injured As Car Hits Jeep

Two girls were injured Tuesday evening when their car hit a parked jeep in the 300 block of E. Brady Blvd., police reorted.

The driver, Jean Elizabeth Worthington, 17, of 2007 N. Circle Dr., suffered a cut lip and was treated at Memorial Hospital and released. She was ticketed for careless driving.

A passenger, Constance Elaine Kanz, 18, of 2107 Lock haven Dr., suffered a head cut and was admitted to Memorial for observation.

Police said the car was going east when it hit the parked vehicle of Ralph Fredrick Wendland, 2032 Alpine Dr. The jeep was properly parked at the time of the accident.

Miss Worthington told officers she thought she saw a car coming toward her immediatly before hitting the jeep. It was raining at the time of the accident.

NEW COMMISSIONER — Rodger M. Fay (left), Tuesday, received congratulations from District Court Judge David W. Enoch, on his appointment as County Commissioner for the Second District. Fay, a Security businessman, was named Monday by Gov. John Love to fill the remaining unexpired term of the late Fred H. Monk, Fay's appointment to the post followed a recommendation Thursday of the Executive Committee of the El Paso County Republican Central Committee. He had previously announced his candidacy for the post in this fall's election. Both Mr. Monk and Fay had been designated by the Republican County Assembly.

U.S. Smashes Four Red Viet Nam Naval Bases

the first at Hongay near the mouth of the Red River close to Haiphong and, leading south, Loc Chao, Phuc Loi, and Quang Khe.

In addition the oil storage depot at Vinh near Quang Khe was brought under attack by the planes from the carriers.

"The oil storage depot containing 14 tanks and representing 10 per cent of the petroleum storage capacity of the country was 90 per cent destroyed," McNamara said adding: "Smoke was observed rising to 14,000 feet."

McNamara said there were no civilian villages near the target areas.

The secretary said he had moved Tuesday night to reinforce the Pacific area and these moves included:

1. Transfer of an attack carrier group from the First Fleet in the Atlantic to the Western Pacific.

2. Movement of intercepter and bomber aircraft into South Viet Nam.

3. Movement of fighter bombers into Thailand.

4. Transfer of intercepter and fighter-bomber squadrons from the United States "to advanced bases in the Pacific."

5. Movement of an anti-submarine force into the South China Sea.

6. The alerting and readying of selected Army and Marine forces.

The Army maintains the 25th Division in a high state of combat readiness at Honolulu. The Marines have their 3rd Division at Okinawa and a brigade at Honolulu.

McNamara told the news conference that reconnaissance flights would be carried out later to determine precisely what destruction had been sault.

Asked if he could give any wrought by the carrier plane as reason for the unusual North Vietnamese naval activities. McNamara replied, "I can't explain them."

He also said the Navy would continue its patrols in the Gulf "to protect itself against aggression."

No North Vietnamese aircraft attempted to intercept the attack aircraft from the two carriers. McNamara said he could not give a more precise estimate of damage to the four torpedo boat bases other than to say it was "very substantial."

McNamara said names of the two downed U.S. pilots would be released as soon as their next of kin had been notified, probably sometime today.

ological Survey, Joe Shuerer of Boulder and Max Bergendahl of Arvada, spotted the dazed boy on a dirt road in the area of the killing.

Shuerer said the boy was holding his side as the two surveyors drove up the road. They placed the boy in the jeep and went half a mile farther up the road, where they found the body of the father.

The men then took the boy to a nearby ranch and called the sheriff.

The body of the woman was found about a mile and a half downstream from that of her husband. Both bodies, authorities said, had been dragged from the sites of their murders.

Shuerer said they found the doctor's raincoat, jacket and cap still farther up the trail.

Both victims had been stabbed repeatedly in the back, neck and forehead. The boy had been stabbed several inches deep in his lower right side.

Shuerer quoted the boy as saying that his parents had gone fishing Monday evening and did not return. He tried to drive the family car to nearby Silverthorne during the night, but ran into a ditch.

The boy was later examined by Dr. John Smith of Dillon, who was one of the first on the scene after notification of the killing. He termed the murders "brutal, senseless and the work of a madman."

Smith took the boy to the Denver hospital.

Coroner Olin D. Mueller said an autopsy was planned. The bodies were taken from the scene in a black van and were delivered to an undisclosed mortuary.

Newsmen and photographers who showed up at the murder scene hours after the killing were held at bay by deputies with drawn guns.

The deputies identified themselves as Jim Dietzen of Frisco and Roger Gray of Breckenridge. They were armed with a shotgun and a rifle, and stopped newsmen from going closer than about a mile from the murder scene.

Dietzen ordered the seven newsmen—who had started up a trail—to "halt right there. Don't go a step farther."

When asked what action would be taken if an advance was attempted, one deputy said: "We'd have to use physical violence to stop you." The other added, "You might be reading an obituary in the paper."

for District Judge of the eastern half of the Fourth Judicial District.

Anderson also said that there will be no hearing on the matter. A decision was expected Tuesday but Anderson stated he had asked Attorney General Duke Dunbar to make the legal ruling.

Simon is running for judge of the eastern half and received an unopposed designation for the judicial nomination while Quine got a second line designation for the nomination of the western portion of the district. with District Attorney Pat Hinton coming first.

Quine then withdrew and filed a petition for the nomination in the eastern area. Simon promptly objected to the validity of the signatures on the petition and his objection was upheld at a meeting in the County Building July 28.

Quine was then given until Friday to file an amended petition which he did and Simon filed his second protest, a 28-page document signed by Simon and attorneys Leon H. Snyder, Eugene O. Perkins and Donald E. Lamora. It contains a total of 48 objections.

ed that the incidents in the Gulf of Tonkin are being put before the United Nations.

"We welcome — and we invite — the scrutiny of all men who seek peace, for peace is the only purpose of the course we pursue," Johnson said.

And he declared that no friendly country need fear, and no foe hope, "that this is a nation divided in this election year."

Johnson spoke slowly deliberately, bearing down on his words, and evoked a thunder of applause from thousands of listeners when he declared that deliberate, unprovoked attacks have been answered.

He got another round when he said aggression had been answered with action because aggression unchallenged is aggression unleashed.

Councilman Quits in Manitou Row

Manitou Springs councilman Floyd Lee resigned this morning after a contract was signed with water engineers.

The contract gave Stearns-Roger, the engineers, authorization to install equipment for a water system they had designed.

Councilman Lee and Councilman Fred Jordan voted against the contract. They pointed out that a previous motion by the council prohibited Stearns-Roger from bidding on water works which they designed.

"I have been ignored and ridiculed at this council," Lee said. He said that since he had been in office the council had "jeopardized" the city by putting a badge on policemen which were not hired by the council.

He said the city has given tickets where there are no parking signs, and, Lee said, "the mayor has sanctioned all of this."

Lee said he would submit his resignation in writing and would give his reasons for doing so.

Storm Closes Scenic High Drive Here

Heavy rain Tuesday afternoon washed out sections of the scenic High Drive down Bear Creek Canon and caused other minor damage to the road in North Cheyenne Canon and the Garden of the Gods.

Gene German, parks superintendent for the City Park and Recreation Department, said the High Drive would be closed until the weekend to repair the washout damage.

The High Drive starts near where the Goldcamp Road and the one coming out of North Cheyenne Canon intersect. It is one-way down road through Bear Creek Canon.

German also reported that the North Cheyenne Canon Road had to be closed for about two hours late Tuesday afternoon because of rocks tumbling down onto the highway. The road was open for travel again Wednesday morning.

The heavy rain also caused water three to four feet deep to cascade across sections of the road in the Garden of the Gods. The cloudburst hit with such suddenness that the road wasn't closed; motorists simply waited until the water subsided. Cleanup crews were in action there this morning.

There was some washing of gravel onto streets on the west side of Colorado Springs, according to Street Superintendent Don Lawrie, and some cleanup work was being done there this morning, too. The rain on the west side was not nearly as heavy as it was in Manitou Springs and elsewhere to the west.

Pikes Peak Highway Superintendent Jack Sullivan said two inches of hail hit the top of the mountain during the storm, with rain elsewhere along the 20-mile route. Road damage from the storm was minor.

In spite of the rain, a new daily high attendance record was established Tuesday as 3,823 persons went through the toll gate.

Court Is Asked To Clear Title Of Alamo Park

account of prejudice of self-interest."

The suit was filed by the county commissioners against the Colorado Springs Co. and the City of Colorado Springs. It is scheduled for trial Sept. 8.

The El Paso County Public Works Committee recommended clearing title to the land. The committee was named after commissioners authorized a three-mill levy Oct. 16 to finance the construction or remodeling of the courthouse and County Jail.

The Colorado Springs Co. deeded Alamo Park to the city for use as a public park and later the city and the company deeded the land to the county for use as a courthouse.

The action was challenged in a suit brought by J. E. McIntyre and a number of El Paso County residents. In 1960 the State Court of Appeals ruled that a courthouse could not be built on the site.

The ruling was rather late for the erection of the courthouse was already under way.

I Remember

By CHARLES S. DUDLEY

This column is proving a delightful means of meeting old acquaintances and seeing people I should have known in the old days, but didn't. They see the coluumn and come here to see me, or write to me.

C. S. DUDLEY

Saturday M. O'Dell, of 805 E. Platte Ave., dropped in to see me. Previously to 1917 he delivered groceries for the Kirkman-Leonard store in Manitou Springs. He drove a team of horses on a grocery wagon up and down the hills of Mantiou and remembers going to my home there, although I was in California at the time. The late Jim Leonard of that store was an old friend of mine. I cannot remember Kirkman. Raymond Hilligoss, who long conducted a grocery store in Manitou Springs, and who lives there still, was a member of the firm of Meador and Hilligoss, which at the time O'Dell refers to operated a hardware store next to the Jim Leonard's store. I have not seen Hilligoss for years, I regret to say. At one time he and I were guides at the Cave of the Winds. When people wished also to see the Grand Caverns, on the other side of the mountain, Hilligoss would guide them through there, as he was the only one of the guides who could play tunes on the ribbon stalactites with the pliers he carried to hold magnesium tape, which was lighted for a better look at the subterranean rooms than the reflecting oil lamps we carried at the time aftforded. That, of course, was before the Cave of the Winds was lighted by electricity.

I couldn't remember O'Dell. I don't know whether we were acquainted when he was in Manitou or not. He has been a resident of Colorado Springs for many years and drove a Town Talk bread wagon. He retired only recently. We talked of the many changes that have come about in Manitou Springs, and in Colorado Springs also.

Comedienne Anna Russell Has Joke Book

By WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP) — Some comics have gag-writers. Anna Russell has an encyclopedia.

"Nine times out of ten when I get an idea for a new number," says the lady who moves through life with a mocking gleam in her eye, "I look up the topic in the big book.

"That's where I get the background for what comes out later."

Miss Russell's avid reading over the past 17 years has equipped her with enough material for multiple transcontinental and global junkets, a half-dozen record albums and a fandom dominated by college students and clerics.

"One of my big groups consists of priests and clergymen," she observes, "although I've never quite figured out why."

She has been displaying her array recently at the 41st Street Theater in "All By Myself."

"New York audiences," Miss Russell says "are a little sharper than around the country, but you're all different from England where they like a lot of asides. Here people listen more closely and want to hear every word that's said."

Much of her repertoire kids various types of musicianship, a logical development for a damsel who started out to be a music teacher.

"I'm not a good enough performer to hurt any really good musicians," she says, "but a lot of people get up to sing and play who never should — the concert field is awfully overstocked. Perhaps I've made some of that kind stop altogether."

Miss Russell, born in Canada, studied in England at a school where the prize pupil was Marie Olivier, elder sister of the future Sir Laurence.

"We all had to take part in dramatics," recalls Miss Russell, "and after she left, they had a competition to find which of us could learn lines fastest. That happened to be me, so I got all the plum parts — and despised it.

"A couple of years ago, my old teacher came to a performance and reminded me that I'd vowed never to go on stage. I said, 'Well, yes — but it took 30 years to get me here.'"

In the playing of chimes, a set of four bells can be played in 24 different orders.

Rebellious Sect Is Outlawed in North Rhodesia

By JOHN MCCAUSLAND

LUSAKA, Northern Rhodesia (AP) — The Northern Rhodesian government has temporarily outlawed the fanatic Lumpa sect, whose rampages in the past 12 days have cost at least 270 lives.

In a nationwide broadcast Monday night after the Lumpa massacre of 150 persons at Lundazi, Prime Minister Kenneth Kaunda threatened anyone attending meetings of the cult with seven years in prison.

Kaunda said he does not dispute the right of the Lumpas to their religious beliefs — a hodgepodge of African superstition, paganism and Church of Scotland theology — but he insisted on the restoration of order. He said he would lift the ban in about a month if the carnage ends.

Kaunda is trying desperately to bring peace to the central African country before it receives independence from Britain in 12 weeks.

Some 2,200 native troops under White officers are combing the bush for Lumpa prophetess Alice Lenshina, who founded the sect 11 years ago, claiming she had died and returned from Heaven.

Officials believe the error at Lundazi, a market center 400 miles northeast of Lusaka, was in retaliation for the slaying of 75 Lumpas at the sect's headquarters at Sione Thursday. The Lumpas died in a suicidal charge with spears and muzzle loaders against government riflemen.

Some 200 men and women sacked and destroyed 10 villages, attacked government offices and overran a police station in the Lundazi area Monday, a government spokesman said. Most of the victims were African villagers. Two Indian families and an African policeman also were killed, the spokesman said.

Tourists were urged to leave the area. The government airlifted additional troops to Lundazi to pursue the raiders. It also sent planes to drop leaflets calling for peace.

Some 1,200 refugees flooded into Lundazi. Hundreds more sought asylum at the White Fathers' Mulanga Mission, south of Chinsali. The crowding has resulted in outbreaks of smallpox, typhoid and dysentery, and the mission reports it is low on medical supplies and food.

Kaunda told a party rally in Lusaka to leave repression of the Lumpas to his government. Vowing to avenge those slaughtered, Kaunda promised to give the sect "three times as much trouble" as it had given.

"There is something wrong with our nation," he said. "Part of us has stopped thinking, we have got to work hard to clean up this rubbish."

Alice, an African in her 40s who was raised in a strict Church of Scotland mission, is believed to have some 20,000 followers.

DEPOSITS RISE

NEW YORK (UPI) —Deposits in the nation's largest mutual savings banks rose 9.1 per cent over the 12 months ended June 30, the American Banker reported Tuesday. Total deposits as of July 1 were $34,692,000,000.

GENERAL INSPECTS — Command interest in the care and maintenance of the M-113 Armored Personnel Carrier is exemplified at Ft. Carson's 1st Brigade as Pfc. Frederick Kennedy, right, holds the oil indicator stick from his APC for the approval of Maj. Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, new commander of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division, left. Gen. Maroun spent Monday morning inspecting training and maintenance at the 1st Brigade. Sergeant Major Bruce M. Shankland, post sergeant major, center, accompanied Gen. Maroun on his tour of inspection.

Staff Welfare Ranks High With General

The welfare of his soldiers ranks first in the interests of Maj. Gen. Autrey J. Maroun, new commander of Ft. Carson and the 5th Infantry Division.

A four-hour visit Sunday to the Ft. Carson U.S. Army Hospital highlighted the interest of the new commander in his soldiers. The general and Mrs. Maroun went to the hospital after attending Protestant services in the Post Chapel.

The new commanding general's second day on post maintained the intensive pace he has set. On Saturday he inspected several rifles of his 1st Battalion, 10th Infantry honor platoon then looked over the salute battery of the 1st Battalion, 19th Artillery, M-108, 15mm howitzers, some of the division's newest artillery, a block away.

Saturday evening the Marouns were honored at an officers club reception for key staff officers, commanders and civilians.

Chaplain (Lt. Col.) Andrew I. Johnson greeted Gen. and Mrs. Maroun and members of their party Sunday and "prayed for strength for the new commanding general as he takes command" in the invocation.

Col. Martin Pfotenhauer, hospital commander, escorted the Marouns on their introduction to the 22-year-old hospital which included lunch in the hospital mess hall.

Among the patients General Maroun talked with were Capt. Marvin E. Humphrey, 705th Maintenance Battalion aircraft maintenance officer. The general discussed ambulance procedure with M. Sgt. Homer Noble, 51st Medical Company, and asked for suggestions on the patient level from Pvt. Carl E. Parks, 3d Brigade Headquarters Company.

Mrs. Maroun's constant smile charmed children in the pediatrics ward and added the family atmosphere to visits with the soldiers.

Scare With Skeleton Credited to Boys

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Police are looking for boys who stole a skeleton and scared residents of a suburban Copenhagen apartment house.

The skeleton, nicknamed Jokum, vanished from a neighborhood school's natural history department Monday night.

Tuesday an 8-year-old girl in an apartment house answered a knock on the door of her apartment. On the landing outside was Jokum.

The girl ran screaming back into the apartment.

As her father jumped to the door, the skeleton fell in his arms. The staircase echoed to female screams and male curses as neighbors hurried out.

One man said he saw at least three boys running out of the house.

Briton Makes Public Apology to Dog

SOHAM, England (AP) — Bert Peacock, 67, made a public apology to a dog today.

Peacock had complained to police that Tina, Ruth Harvey's 2-year-old Alsatian, bit his son. The police found another dog was the culprit.

The Soham Advertiser carried this advertisement today:

"Mr. B. Peacock wishes to apologise for a false accusation against Mrs. R. Harvey's dog."

"I thought the record should be put straight with a public announcement," Harvey said.

Various Terms Are Used for Furniture Sales

By MARGERY McELHENY

CHICAGO (UPI) — If you plan to buy new furniture soon, it's a good idea to brush up on the terms manufacturers use to identify their products.

Oil - type finish: This is a relatively new advance in finishes and has shown a sharp increase in popularity. It has greater spot and stain resistance than a hand-rubbed finish, and requires re-oiling with specified oils every now and then.

Finish: A technical description of the basic wood to do one or several of the following: Enhance natural color and design. Change natural color to lighter or darker tones. Develop a dull or glossy surface. Protect wood surfaces for better wear. Make woods resistant to stains or burns. Make one wood look like another.

Distressing: A treatment which is sometimes called "antiquing," designed to make new woods look like old by means of fly specks, dents, etc.

Bleaching: A process used to make woods lighter than their natural color.

Figure: The pattern or design in wood created more by the abnormal than the normal growth of the tree. It is sometimes incorrectly used as synonymous with grain.

Grain: Size and arrangement of the cells and pores of living trees determines grain. The annual growth rings cause the most common grain character. Grains are classified into three groups: fine, medium and coarse. Birch is an example of fine grained wood, walnut of medium and oak of coarse grained wood.

Inlay or accent: A design in the surface of wood furniture created by inserting small trims or panels of a different wood (usually a fancy wood) or some other decorative material.

Piano - finish: A treatment which imports a brilliant glossy finish with a hard glittering effect. It is sometimes mistaken for a sign of quality, which is not necessarily the case.

The American Walnut Manufacturers' Assn. and the National Oak Flooring Manufacturers' Assn. report that walnut and oak are being produced in darker tones.

The darker - toned oak floors complement the wider use of area and accent rugs, a breakaway from what some designers have termed the monotony of endless miles of single-tone wall-to-wall carpeting.

Dark oak floors offer a pleasing background for the bold colors of area rugs. There is no sacrifice of wood beauty since the dark tones show up the grain, and the contrast between the dark wood and the bright colored rugs allows each element to stand out without competing.

Along with the trend toward dark brown tones in oak, there is growing interest in treating the floors in decorator colors — various shades of blue, green and red, for example.

This has been given impetus by the development of new, easy-to-use stains which do not hide the natural beauty of the wood.

Walnut finishes slightly darker than natural are making gains.

Robert Davis is planning to spend the weekend with his grandparents, Lt. Col. and Mrs. Rogers M. McDonough.

ATTACKS GOLDWATER

BERLIN (UPI) — The East Berlin newspaper Berliner Zeitung printed Tuesday a three-column attack on Sen. Barry Goldwater.

"The average American understands more and more that Goldwaterism is a sharper form of McCarthyism, that Goldwater as president, in the words of labor leader Walter Reuther would be a catastrophe for America, and, in the words of Negro leader Martin Luther King, a danger for the world," it said.

FUTURE FASHION — This experimental fabric, from which blankets are being made, might also be used for future wearing apparel. The costume, designed for the year 2000, is a halter-top jumpsuit worn under a long-line jacket. The fabric is called Fiberwoven and is made by the Chatham Manufacturing Co.

Judge Orders Bond, Docket Fee Forfeited

A $$00 bond plus a $10 jury docket fee were ordered forfeited Tuesday by Judge Allan Asher when Mickey Moluton, 20, 1024 N. Corona St., failed to appear in Municipal Court.

Moulton had been scheduled to appear for his jury setting on charges of speeding, reckless driving, careless driving, making an illegal turn, a signal light violation and a stop sign violation.

A jury trial was set for 9 a.m. Aug. 19 for Charles Brown, 16, 3 Penrose Blvd., on a careless driving charge. The boy was represented by attorney Thomas Gresham.

Wanda York, 24, 737 E. Colorado Ave., will have two jury trials Aug. 21 on separate charges of vagrancy. The trials will be held at 9 a.m. and 2 p.m. She will be represented by attorney John Cooper.

The case of Joseph Archuleta, 34, 1809 W. Sheldon St., was stricken from the jury docket when the man's wife was granted permission to drop charges of disorderly conduct, riotous conduct and breach of peace she had filed against her husband. Archuleta will stand trial Thursday on a concealed weapons charge, but he waived a jury, and the case will be heard before Judge Asher.

By mutual consent, Benjamin Sillix, 35, 2521 W. Cucharras St., and three Ent Air Force men agreed to dismiss charges they had filed against each other.

Sillix's decision was upon the advice of his lawyer, Clifton Kruse. He had charged Ernest Faison,, 24, Fred Saffold, 23, and Nathanial Seals, 24, with disorderly conduct and riotous conduct. They in turn had charged Sillix with disorderly conduct and drunkenness.

The four men made a formal request to Judge Asher that the charges be dismissed and the judge agreed when Deputy City Attorney Bob Isaac said he had no objection.

Through his attorney, Sillix withdrew his request for a jury trial and the case was stricken from the docket.

At the request of attorney Jack O'Leary, Judge Asher continued until Aug. 13 the case of Stuart Sall, 25, 700 Saturn Dr., who is charged with careless driving.

Disposition on a case of injury to city property against William Klipsch, 25, 222 N. Wahsatch Ave., was continued until Aug. 18.

Veryl Sanderson, 19, of Manitou Springs, had his case on a charge of following too close continued until Aug. 11.

Jennie Lobato, 25, 3830 N. Nevada Ave., pleaded guilty to being drunk and was sentenced to 10 days in El Paso County Jail.

Walter Wrinkle, 322 E. Costilla St., pleaded not guilty to a vagrancy charge. Judge Asher set his bond at $50. Wrinkle's trial will be today.

Child Releases Vehicle's Brake, Car Hits House

A Canon City tot, a car, and a house tangled Saturday morning, and the car and the house got the worst of it.

The car was parked in a private drive at the home of Clarence Fay, Jr. at 1225 North Fifth St., when Fay's three-year-old daughter released the emergency brake. The car rolled down the drive, crossed Fifth Street and struck the rear of the house located at 505 Forest St.

The impact pushed in the wall of the building, knocked out a sink, and broke the studding in the wall. Damage to the car was estimated by Sgt. Neal McGee, who reported the incident, to be $250. Damage to the house was estimated to be $500. The tot was uninjured.

Owner of the house, which is vacant, is W. K. Hooker of Salida.

Fremont Fair Halts Showing of Breeders

The Fremont County Fair Board has postponed the exhibiting of breeding classes of dairy, beef, sheep and swine, and all horse classes at the 4-H fair scheduled to start Sunday at the Canon City Fairgrounds.

The action was taken as a precautionary measure because of the prevalence of the livestock disease, vesicular stomatitis, in Fremont, Custer and Pueblo counties.

Exhibits in fat classes of beef, sheep and swine, poultry, rabbits, and all other divisions will go as scheduled.

Sergeant Rides Horse 900 Miles To Take Job

A retired Air Force flight engineer gave up one of the fastest forms of transportation around for one of the slowest and rode horseback from Minot, N.D. to Monument on his three-year old Arab - Quarter Horse mix, Dixie Lee.

Sgt. Smokey Bowers arrived in Monument Monday after a 900-mile ride on highways and dirt roads, and through rain, hail and scorching heat. The well-tanned Bowers left North Dakota on July 1 and rode every day except for a 5-day stop because of bad weather.

Bowers, who came to Monument to take a job as a wrangler with the Woodmoor Corporation, made the trip on horseback for several reasons. He wanted to get his two horses here as cheaply as possible and "to prove horses are not finished as a means of transportation. They're just a little slower than others."

A third reason was that he "wanted to promote horsemanship among youth. Keeping horses teaches youth tolerance and understanding."

The 49-year old Bowers was born in northeastern Texas and grew up on Colorado's western slope. Before entering the service he was a packer for sheep and cattle camps and worked with livestock. "After 23 years in the Air Force I'm glad to get back to horses," Bowers says. "You can't see the country from the window of an automobile. You have to ride horseback. On the trip I was treated royally everywhere I stopped. I saw a lot of wonderful country and some not so wonderful."

He rode Dixie Lee and used his other horse, a four-year old Indian Pony and Quarter Horse mix named Chester, as a pack horse. "Dixie Lee was full of fire when we started, but soon slowed to a steady pace and now nothing shakes her up," Bowers said. "She spooked a few times when we came on rattlesnakes but she settles down real fast when I speak to her."

Bowers is married and the grandfather of five. Understandably, his wife drove to Colorado in the family car, foregoing the hardships of her husband's month-long journey.

Bowers, who will take care of the riding stables, train horses and give riding lessons for the development company, is a good friend of Col. Donald W. Nance of NORAD who convinced him to come to Monument.

Boulder Woman Hurt By Motel Glass Door

A Boulder woman suffered severe cuts when she walked into a glass door at the Palmer House Motor Hotel Tuesday afternoon, police reported.

Janette N. Baker, 31, was taken to Penrose Hospital for treatment of cuts on her left leg and wrist and a puncture wound in her right arm.

She told police she was walking fast and thought the door was open at the time of the accident. The door shatterd when she walked into it.

Compounded Errors Result In Wrong Tax Assessments

By JOHN KUGLIN
Gazette Telegraph Staff Writer

After a surveying mistake 16 houses in Stratmoor Valley subdivision were built on the boundary line between Harrison School District 2 and Widefield District 3.

Another error — this time in assessing 1963 school taxes — resulted in taxpayers in part of Stratmoor Valley paying to support District 2 schools when their property was actually in District 3.

By the error taxpayers were assessed 37.10 mills for District 2 taxes, instead of 29.92 mills for District 3.

The assessing mixup involved 40 acres and happened because the wrong square was colored on a map in the county assessor's office, said Deputy Violet Davis.

She said that records of tax receipts and the number of taxpayers overcharged in the area were not available because "we are going on IBM."

She ruled out the possibility of a refund from the assessor's office and added that this would be up to the two school districts.

The disputed 40 acres are in District 3, not 2, according to old school records. Pinpointed, the acreage is in Township 51S., Range 66 W., the southwest corner of Section 3.

Before the assessing error, taxes on the quarter section always went to District 3. The 40 acres were included in District 3 in 1874 by F. C. Millington, then county superintendent of schools. This was two years before Colorado achieved statehod.

Unofficially the two school districts would like to detach the 40 acres from District 3 and put them in District 2 by moving the boundary line a quarter of a section east.

No longer would the boundary line run under the 16 houses which would definitely be in District 2. Two problems would be eliminated: Which district gets to tax the houses? Which school system do youngsters legally attend?

Until recently it was not realized that 16 houses were being built on the school district boundary line, said Richard Taylor, District 3 superintendent. This was because an incorrect survey showed the disputed 40 acres in District 2, Taylor explained.

If the two school boards officially recommend detachment of the 40 acres to District 2, the decision is probably up to the County School Planning Commission. This body meets infrequently to consider consolidation of the 17 El Paso County school districts.

County School Superintendent Gergianna Kettle said she was acting independently of the two school boards and that her attorney was studying school laws to determine what to do.

Mrs. Kettle pointed out a recent adjustment of school boundaries between Colorado Springs District 11 and Cheyenne Mountain District 12 which left taxpayers still paying off District 11 bonded indebtedness, after their property was placed in District 12.

Canon City Policeman, Clark Resigns Post

The resignation of Earl Clark, a member of the Canon City police force for seven years, was announced Tuesday by Police Chief Ken Owens.

Owens said Clark resigned to accept a position with the Colorado State Department of Revenue, working under the secretary of state.

Clark joined the police force in June, 1957, coming from Snider, Tex. While in Canon City he was active in rodeo riding clubs, and was a member of the South Central Law Enforcement Officers Association, and the Canon City Chapter of Footprinters. He is unmarried.

Items Valued At $2,050 Stolen Here

Thieves stole electrical wire, cable and tools worth a total of $2,050 from a van truck owned by the Electrical Construction Co., 1026 S. Tejon St., in one of several theft cases reported by police this morning.

The truck was in the Phil Long garage at 1212 Fountain Creek Blvd. over the weekend when the theft occurred. The padlock on the truck was cut with bolt cutters.

Two women were arrested Tuesday for shoplifting at the F. W. Woolworth store at 18 N. Tejon St. Raymond York, assistant manager at the store, said he followed the women outside and brought them back inside where it was found they had left the store without paying for $7 worth of underwear and baby clothes.

The women, Ruby Lee Campbell, 20, of 118 S. Corona St., and Frances Baskin, 35, of 912 N. Royer St., were taken to police headquarters and booked for shoplifting.

Four golf clubs worth a total of $100 were stolen from the car of William W. Wacker, 1327 N. Iowa St. The theft occurred sometime Monday. The car was parked outside Wacker's home with a back door open at the time of the theft.

Sabra Barnett, 332 N. Foote Ave., discovered Monday that $50 had been stolen from her apartment. The cash was taken from a box in the bedroom. Police said the thief probably entered the apartment through an open window.

Enlisted Men Processing For Prep School

A group of 202 enlisted men representing three services will take "a step in the right direction" Saturday as they begin two weeks of processing and indoctrination prior to start of classes at the Air Force Academy Preparatory School.

The 202 — 83 Regular servicemen and 119 Reservists — make up the third class to tackle the nine-month-long Prep School course. All the cadet candidates, with the exception of single representatives of the Navy and the Marines, are from the Air Force.

Actual classes start Aug. 24.

Established in 1961, the Prep School offers Academy hopefuls an opportuntiy to polish knowledge (with the emphasis on math and English) and physical skills necessary to successfully pass Academy entrance exams and to meet the mental and physical demands when admitted.

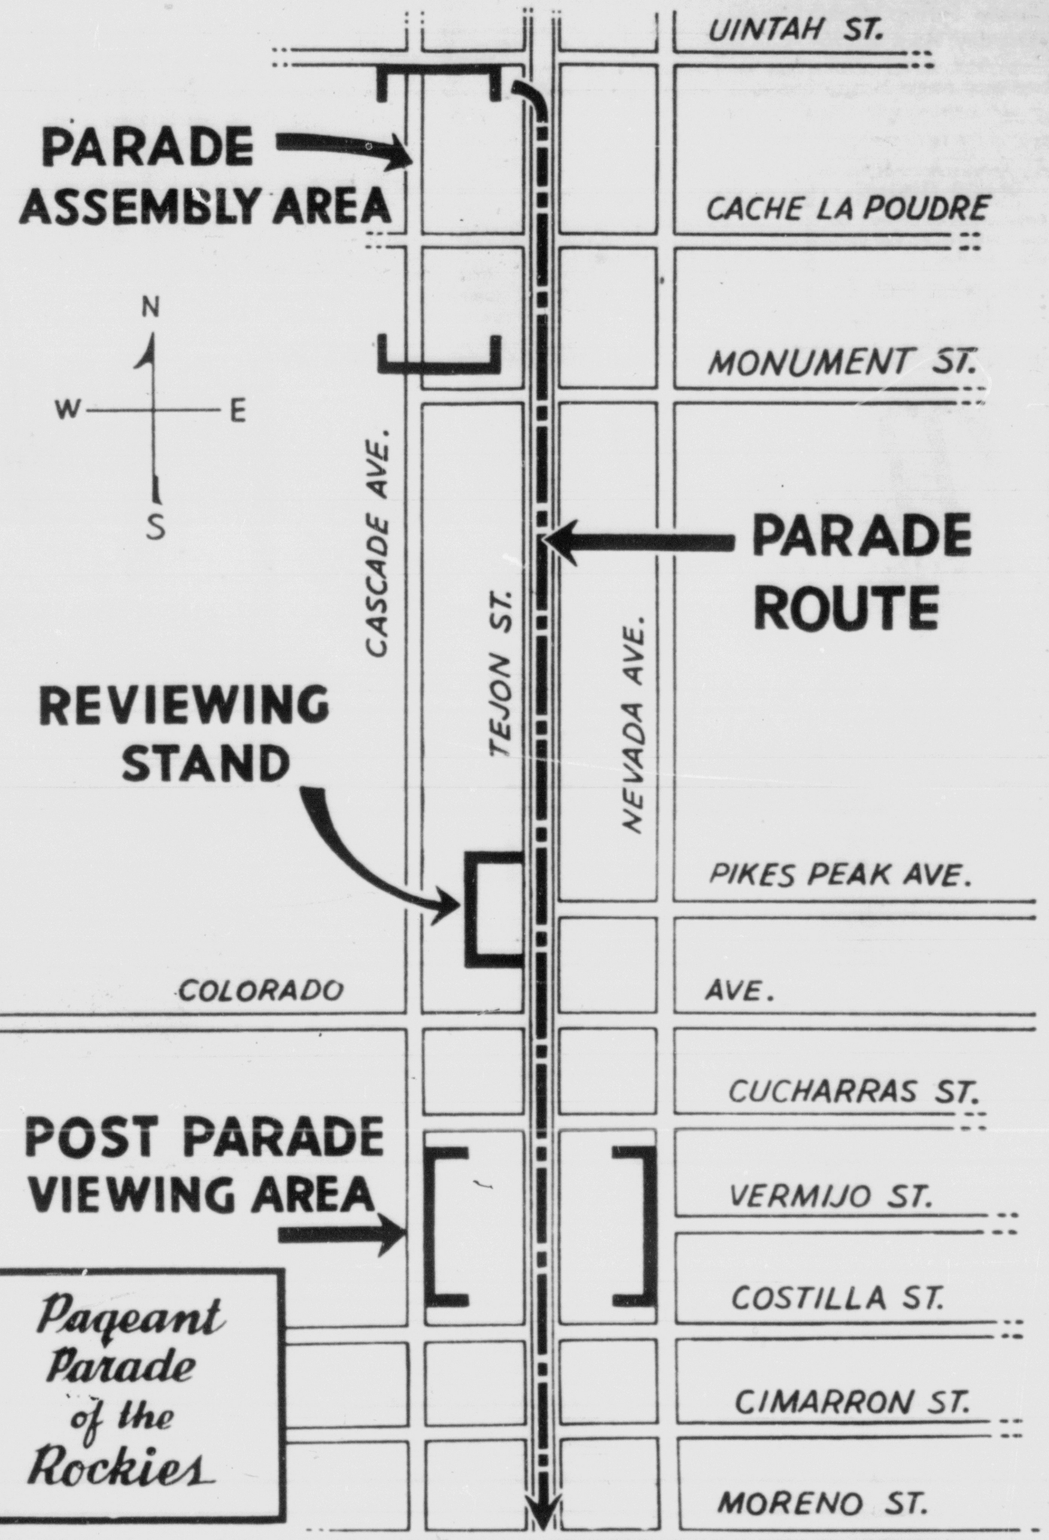

A total of 110 members of the Class of 1963-64 received appointments to the Academy following completion of the course. One cadet candidate was named to West Point and a second entered the Naval ROTC.

Of the three classes graduated since the Prep School opened in 1961, 165 members have received Academy appointments.

Police Report Death Of Eriks Pencis

Police this morning reported the death of Eriks Julius Pencis, 56, of 834 E. Costilla St.

Officers said Pencis' wife, Elviza Pencis, could not awaken him Tuesday morning. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital where he was pronounced dead of a probable heart attack.

PARADE ROUTE—This is a map of the route which will be followed Thursday at 10 a.m. by the Pageant Parade of the Rockies. The parade will assemble in the area between Monument Street and Uintah Street, move to Tejon Street and follow that thoroughfare south, past the reviewing stand at Pikes Peak Avenue, and then to Moreno Street. The post parade viewing area is located between Cucharras Street and Costilla Street. Floats will leave the parade at Vermijo Street and proceed to the display area. Spectators may see the entire parade by stationing themselves north of Vermijo Street.

Top Cowboys, Roughest Stock All Set for Wildest Show in the West

The nation's top cowboys and the roughest, toughest rodeo stock in the country will team up at 8 o'clock tonight for the opening performance of the wildest show in the West, the annual Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo, held each year at Penrose Stadium.

Record crowds are expected to be seated in the covered stadium for the five performances which will include a matinee Thursday at 2 p.m., while the cowboys compete against each other and against the clock for more than $24,000 in prize money. The rodeo will continue through Saturday night.

Featured at this year's show will be the world-famous Ben Hur horses, one of Hollywood's most spectacular spectaculars, which will appear at each performance of the rodeo.

Also featured will be the Flying Cimarrons, one of whom is Dick Hammond of Black Forest and Colorado Springs. This troupe, which appeared at the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo some years ago, specializes in trick riding unlike any every witnessed in gigantic Penrose Stadium.

Special attractions for the Thursday matinee, when more than 200 young cowboys and cowgirls — all contestants in Revue sponsored by the Gazette Telegraph in cooperation with the rodeo association — will attend, include Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, stright from Walt Disney's studios in Hollywood.

Another popular specialty Act will be performed by the Santa Rosa Palomino Posse from Vernon, Tex., making its third appearance here. The posse is considered the outstanding drill team of its kind in the nation and is composed of businessmen who furnish their own horses and ride in their spare time.

Not to be forgotten is the Pageant of the Rockies Parade, scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday in downtown Colorado Springs.

The parade will feature 67 entries, including 19 riding groups, nine bands, 24 outstanding floats and numerous other special entries. Gov. John Love, a resident of Colorado Springs when he's not at the Statehouse, will be grand marshal of the parade. Persons wishing to see all of the parade should station themselves on Tejon Street between Cache La Poudre and Vermijo Streets.

Special guests at Thursday's matinee rodeo will be more than 600 visitors from Denver who will arrive by train early that morning. Also scheduled to be present for the 2 p.m. performance will be a contingent of mayors from all over Colorado. That performance will be dedicated to the mayors.

Each performance of the rodeo will be dedicated to a specific group of military personnel, a group which the entire rodeo honors.

Tonight's performance will be Armed Forces Night, particularly designated in honor of Ft. Carson. Thursday will be Colorado Springs Night, honoring North American Air Defense Command personnel. Friday will be Southern Colorado Night, honoring Air Force Academy personnel, and Saturday will be Farm and Ranch Night.

At each night performance of the rodeo, all stadium lights will be dimmed and spectators will be asked to ignite lighters or matches for a brief moment during which a trumpeter will play "Taps in honor of the men and women who have given their lives in the service of their country.

Announcer for the rodeo will by Cy Taillon, who has been the man behind the mike at the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo for the past 22 years.

Stock for the show is being furnished by Lynn and Jake Beutler of Elk City, Okla., who have been producing rodeos for 36 years.

Wilbur Plaugher will be the rodeo clown.

Produced by Beutler Brothers, the rodeo is presented by the Colorado Springs Rodeo Association and sponsored by the Colorado Springs Post No. 5, American Legion. Proceeds are earmarked for the aid of needy veterans and their dependents.

Tickets are available at the downtown ticket office at Pikes Peak Avenue and Tejon Street and at the Penrose Stadium Ticket Office. The downtown office is open daily from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m., and the stadium office is open from 8:30 to 5 p.m.

Lightning Hits Antenna At Canon City Home

Lightning struck a television antenna, causing a small fire on the roof of the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rocco DeVitis of 1707 Franklin Ave., Canon City, about 6 p.m. Monday.

Three paid and 12 volunteer firemen answered the call to the one story home. Damage was estimated to be $25.

Station Wagon Theft Reported by Owner

Ken Scharich, 2504 Wren Dr. reported to the sheriff's department this morning that his car, a 1957 Chevrolet station wagon, had been stolen.

Scharich said he left it parked at the Hackney House, 900 E. Fillmore St. Tuesday night. He also left his keys in it. The missing vehicle is turquoise and white, license, JZ447.

Driver Fined $200 in JP Court Tuesday

Ernest Carl Anderson, 41, 611 N. Union Blvd., was fined $200 and costs by Justice of the Peace James F. Quine Tuesday for driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor. Anderson was arrested on Colorado Highway 29 Monday by State Patrolman Pete Thiel.

Joy A. Clark, 26, 707 N. Tejon St., paid a $5 fine and costs for driving on Colorado Highway 27 June 7 without a valid operator's license. The fine was suspended. Gordon Baumgardner was the state patrolman.

State Patrolman John L. Baker gave a ticket to Mary Helen Reeves, 21, Denver, for following too closely. The violation happened on Colorado Highway 38 June 23 and the defendant was fined $5 and costs.

Careless driving on Mitchell Lane June 27 cost Willie Vaughan Ross, 17, Monument, $5 and costs. Carl Drake of the state patrol was the officer.

Drake also ticketed Linda Jean Heyse, 20, 1020 N. Sheridan Ave., for driving at 42 miles per hour in a 35 zone on West Cheyenne Road Tuesday. She was fined $7 and costs.

Irvin J. Burch, 67, 518 N. Cascade Ave., was also charged with speeding and fined $10 and costs. According to State Patrolman N. Boals, the defendant was traveling at 40 miles per hour in a 30 zone on 5th Street Saturday.

Driving at 42 miles per hour in a 35 zone cost Charles Tuffany Haley, 17, 1514 Mesa Ave., $7 and costs. Boals ticketed him on West Cheyenne Road Monday.

Boals gave a ticket to James L. Martin, 21, Holly Hall, as he was traveling at 59 miles per hour in a 50 zone on Colorado Highway 115 Saturday. He was fined $10 and costs.

Daniel Francis Patrick Looney, 17, 14 W. Jefferson St., was charged with careless driving on Mesa Road July 26. The state patrolman was Carl Drake and the fine $5 and costs.

In Justice of the Peace H. C. McShane's court John Walter Rockey, 14, 828 Mono Blvd., paid a $6 fine and costs for driving with no operator's license. Police Officer D. Krabbenhoft gave him the summons July 29 on Fontanero Street.

HINTS FROM Heloise

Dear Heloise:

I find that a good way to dry cotton caps is to put them over a saucepan that fits snugly, then hang the pan up by the handle! Always dry in a perfect shape. —Mrs. O. A.

Gal, you had your thinking cap on when you discovered this one! —Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Yesterday when I was cleaning all my crystal, I remembered that you had suggested using vinegar to remove the scum from glass bud vases, decanters, etc.

I poured straight vinegar into my cut glass vases and my crystal decanters and let them set for about an hour. When I poured out the vinegar and washed the vases and decanters they sparkled and were as pretty as the day we bought them. —D. E. D.

Dear Heloise:

I am so delighted with my bed headboard that I would like to let you know about it.

The headboard had grease spots on it and next to my newly painted lavender walls it did not look at all pretty.

So . . . I bought two yards of adhesive-backed paper in lavender with a gold speckled design and fitted it across the headboard. It is beautiful.

I had a small piece left over and fitted it on top of my night table. I simply love it. —Bertah C. Freedman

Dear Heloise:

Here is a timesaver for any gardener:

Take an ordinary trowel and mark it off in inches with bright nail polish.

This way, when planting seeds or bulbs, there is no more guessing how deep to dig.

I have found this method most helpful. The nail polish can be removed easily with polish remover. —Mrs. Mary Darlington

Owl-eyes are back — in sunglass fashions. This round lens which first was introduced 30 years ago has made full circle reports one manufacturer, Foster Grant, which says that also new are color ocordinations. One group of sun specs have lenses tinted rose, blue, canary, brown, neutral and green, with matching or complementary frame tops and temple pieces.

A new version of the pettipant makes its debut for back to school wear. Called the "beatknit," it is made of cotton knit jersey and elasticized at the waist. It comes in bright, horizontal stripes reminiscent of the striped bathing suits of the Mack Sennett comedies. The pants are designed primarily to be worn as an undergarment in cool weather, but can go also as briefs with sportswear in warmer weather.

How many suits are needed for the well-dressed man? Well, the Duke of Buckingham owned 1,625 suits, said Ron Postal of the National Council of Men's Fashions. "But," he added, "I have met plenty of men with only 10 or 12 suits who easily qualified as well dressed."

The pendant is the jewelry industry pet in necklaces for fall. Pendants range from tailored ones styled to be paired with knits and suits to big, bold beauties to accent or disguise low-cut after dark clothes.

Furs for fall and winter come in all colors. From the natural skins, they go on to bright reds, greens, blues, grays, golds, pinks, and blacks and whites.

A new way to wear mink: Ferdinando Sarmi used white mink to form the bra bodice of a white chiffon formal. Mink, too, was white.

South coordinated his attack to avail himself of every opportunity to bring in his four heart contract.

West opened the queen of clubs which was taken by dummy's king. On the surface it appeared that declarer was confronted with the loss of one trick in each of three suits—spades, hearts, and clubs, so that the fate of the contract would hinge on the diamond finesse. Declarer observed that, if he were lucky enough to find the diamond suit divided three-three with East holding the queen, he could establish an eventual discard in the suit for his losing club.

South was not particularly concerned with looking for an overtrick, however, for if the diamond finesse lost he would be automatically set inasmuch as the opponents would have time to get their club trick before he could assume control of the proceedings.

An additional prospect for a discard was available in the spade suit provided that both missing honors were located in front of the ace-jack. At trick two South led a small spade from dummy and East was obliged to put up the queen to prevent declarer from winning the trick too cheaply. South covered with the ace of spades and reentered the North hand with the king of diamonds in order to lead another spade. East played the king which established declarer's jack.

A club was returned to drive out the dummy's ace. South hastened to lead a diamond to his ace, eschewing the finesse in favor of discarding North's losing club on the jack of spades. This enabled him to ruff a club, and all he lost was one spade, one heart and one diamond.

Finding both spade honors favorably located was admittedly a somewhat remote prospect, but the play could be attempted at no cost for, if it failed, declarer could always fall back on the diamond finesse as a last resort.

Tots vs. Machine In Learning Test

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — The newest group of "researchers" at the Westinghouse Electric laboratories are children ranging from three to eight years of age.

The children are helping to test a new learning machine called SLATE — for simulated learning by automated typewriter enviornment.

The machine, a sophisticated "talking typewriter," has shown remarkable ability to teach young children to read and type.

SLATE has three main systems — an electric typewriter operated by the student; a teacher-supervised control system overseeing the typewriter's functions; and a voice storage and playback system for pronouncing letters and words typed on the keyboard.

The machine was designed and built by Westinghouse physicists after a Yale University study indicated that such a machine teaches language skills to pre-school children better than conventional methods.

MR. AND MRS. CLARENCE HASTY

Honored on Anniversary

A reception fror Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hasty was held from 2 until 5 p.m. Sunday at the Church of the Latter Day Saints, 2502 E. Palmer St., in celebration of their golden wedding anniversary.

They were married Aug. 2, 1914 at Vera, Okla., where Mr. Hasty was in the drainage business with his father and brother. Mrs. Hasty, the former Martha Mae Hall will be 68 on Dec. 17, and Mr. Hall will be 78 on Sept. 5. He is a native of Kansas, where he was born on a farm near Toronto.

Mrs. Hasty was born in Catale, Indian Territory, which later became Oklahoma. During World War II she worked for Spartan Aircraft Co. for five years.

Mr. and Mrs. Hasty moved to Colorado in 1915 and homesteaded for four years in the Drylands. They then returned to Oklahoma, where Mr. Hasty worked for the Service Pipeline Co. in the oilfields at Shiatook for 28 years. He retired in 1951 and they moved to Colorado Springs. Not satisfied to be idle, Mr. Hasty became caretaker of the Rocky Mountain Kennel Club, where he has worked for the past eight years.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hasty are in good health and deal in real estate as a sideline. When he retires from the Kennel Club, where they now reside, they plan to live at their home at 1317 N. Prospect St. They have two living children: Marvin F. Hasty of El Monte, Calif., and Mrs. Flossie Davis of San Francisco. Another son, William, was killed in World War II. They have three grandchildren, Donald Hasty, Ronald Davis and Judy Miller. They also have three great grandchildren, Kenny and Jimmy Davis, and Matthew Miller.

Out of town guests at the reception were Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hasty of El Monte, Calif.; Mrs. Kenneth Davis of San Francisco; Mrs. J. I. Owen of Alameda, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Case, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Case and children, Mrs. Harold Smith, all of Tulsa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Roark, Manitou, Okla., Mrs. Jim Martin, Tipton, Okla., and Mrs. Nannie Belle McClain, Pampa, Tex.

Trinity WSCS Will Meet for Brunch

The WSCS of Trinity Methodist Church will meet at 9:30 a.m. Thursday for a brunch at the home of one of the members, corner of 19th and Henderson Sts.

Belle Walters will be the leader and Merry Circle will serve refreshments.

Dear Abby--

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

She's Got Nerve!

DEAR ABBY: I have a neighbor who is the nerviest person I've ever known, but I hate to hurt her. She walks into my house without knocking and has scared me out of my wits so many times it's not even funny. She opens my refrigerator to see what's there. She lifts the lids off my pots to find out what I am cooking. She even adds water if she thinks it needs it. If a letter happens to be laying around, she'll read it. She has even picked up my husband's check stubs and studied them. I could go on and on. Don't tell me to keep my doors locked. With children it's hard. I have never taken such liberties in her house. Is there some nice way I can put a stop to this? I would not hurt her feelings for the world. —DEVOTED READER

DEAR READER: There is no "nice" way to tell a snoop that she's a snoop. Keep all personal mail and check stubs out of sight. And when she adds water to your soup, count to ten. But don't complain of HER nerve if YOU haven't the nerve to tell her SHE'S nervy!

DEAR ABBY: How does a 20-year-old girl who has just announced her engagement with intentions to get married next summer tell her parents that she has to get married as soon as possible? —THE GIRL

DEAR GIRL: In plain English. And fast.

DEAR ABBY: Where we live, the houses are very close together. Lately I have seen a boy, who can't be more than nine years old, hanging out of the bathroom window, smoking. I see him almost every day. He is obviously smoking on the Q.T., and blowing the smoke outside. I know his mother just to say "hello" to. Do you think the next time I see her, I should tell her what her son is up to? —A NEIGHBOR

DEAR NEIGHBOR: Put yourself in her shoes. If YOU had a child that age, doing what hers was doing, wouldn't you want to be told?

DEAR ABBY: I appreciated your column on how much satisfaction some of your readers got from giving away the clothing of their loved ones after they had passed away. When my mother died, I couldn't bear to give her clothes away, so I wrapped them in paper and packed them in boxes. Thirty years later, upon opening the boxes, everything was moth-eaten and yellowed with age. How much better it would have been for her lovely clothes to have been worn out by some friend! —MARGARET

'Why Don't They?' Is Never-Ending Query

TOLEDO, Ohio (UPI) — Those women are at it again—pestering the manufacturers with suggestions for improving their products.

For instance, why not make muffin tins that could be removed from the frame for easy cleaning and space-saving storage? Or, why don't "they" stop printing the price on greetings cards? It's like giving a gift with the price attached.

These were some of the newest "why don't they?" suggestions submitted by housewives to National Family Opinion, Inc., a consumer research firm which says it lists 85,000 part-time homemaker consultants.

Other suggestions:

Why don't they package brown sugar in re-usable plastic containers? Storage would be simplified and hard, lumpy brown sugar would no longer plague the housewife.

Why don't they make two-pants pajamas for children because inevitably the bottoms wear out twice as rapidly as the tops?

Why don't they develop a product that actually will remove spots and imbedded soil from drip dry fabrics? Heavily soiled synthetics, and some pure cotton drip dry materials, are difficult to wash successfully because both soil and stains resist treatment.

Why don't they package ground pepper in a box with a pouring spout, similar to the one used for salt? Those tin-topped small containers with a center hole are maddening to use for filling pepper shakers.

Why don't they manufacture paper bibs to match the paper tablecloths, plates, napkins and such sold for children's parties? Most small children wear their best to a party and all of them have spills.

Why don't they add a foot or so to electric iron cords. The extra foot would double an iron's convenience.

Why don't they make the fuel tank on a power mower of transparent material so one can tell when the fuel is getting low?

Why don't they do something about tags and stickers on products. Trying to clean off the glue without scratching or other product damage is almost impossible.

The Mature Parent

Shortcomings Hurt 'Shoulds'

During her vacation Muriel Lawrence is turning her column over to excerpts from "Neurosis and Human Growth," by Karen Horney, M.D. Copyright, 1950, by W. W. Norton & Co., Inc., New York. Reprinted by permission.

The realization of any present shortcoming is unbearable for anyone harassed by the dictatorial "shoulds."

Whatever the difficulty, it must be removed quickly.

How this removal is effected varies.

The more a person lives in imagination, the more likely it is that he will simply spirit away the difficulty. Thus a patient who had discovered in herself a colossal drive for being the power behind the throne and who saw how this drive had operated in her life was convinced by the next day that it was now entirely a matter of the past.

Others try by dint of sheer will power to remove the difficulty of which they have become aware. Will power machinery is switched on as soon as they become aware of foibles.

Most neurotic disturbances, however, resist even the most strenuous efforts at control. Conscious efforts at control simply do not avail against a depression, a deeply ingrained inhibition to work, consuming daydreams. But again clarity of thinking cannot penetrate to the inner dictate, the "I should be able to master it." Many reactions of despondence, irritability or fear occurring during analysis are less a response to the patient's having discovered a disturbing problem in himself than to his feeling impotent to remove it right away.

Thus the "shoulds" lack the moral seriousness of genuine ideals. People in their grip are not striviang, for instance, toward approximating a greater degree of honesty but are driven to attain the absolute in honesty.

At best they can achieve a behavioristic perfection such as Pearl Buck has described in the character of Madame Wu in the "Pavilion of Women". Here is the portrait of a woman who always seems to do, feel, think the right thing. The superficial appearance of such people is, needless to say, most deceptive. They themselves are bewildered when, seemingly out of a blue sky, they develop a street phobia or functional heart trouble. How is this possible, they ask. They have always managed life perfectly, have been the leaders in their class, the organizers, the model marriage partners or parents.

Eventually a situation which they cannot manage was bound to occur. The analyst, when getting acquainted with the enormous tension under which they operate, marvels that they have kept going as long as they have without gross disturbances.

The "shoulds" are permeated by the spirit of arrogance and aim at enhancing the neurotic's glory and at making him godlike. They are, in this sense, the neurotic counterfeit of normal human strivings. One recognizes them as an immoral, rather than a moral, phenomenon.

Girl Named Smith Outlicks Taylor In One Film Role

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — The chances are the most photographed girl of the year will not be Elizabeth Taylor, but an attractive young burnette whose last name is Smith.

Sue Smith, 20, poses for more than 70,000 still pictures and 150,000 feet of movie film each year as part of her job in the film testing laboratory of Eastman Kodak Co. Her face is not familiar to the general public, but it is to the technicans who monitor the quality of the firm's photographic film.

Miss Smith is photographed in both indoor and outdoor scenes under good and poor lighting conditions. The colors of her clothing and the props in certain scenes are selected especially to check the color characteristics of a particular film. The idea is to duplicate the typical picture-taking situations faced by amateur photographers.

Miss Smith, who has been facing a camera lens for almost three years, was selected for the job because her complexion tones are very close to those of the average person. Technicians made thousands of spectrophotometer readings to get a precise idea of just what skin tones were required before selecting her.

Campus Concept For High School

DUNCANVILLE, Tex. (UPI) — Construction is to begin shortly on a new high school for 1,800 students featuring a "campus concept" rather than the traditional single - building school.

The $2.9 million project for this suburban Dallas County town will have five units with a total of 202,000 square feet, built in two stages. Architect Don Jarvis called it "a very unusual school, to put it mildly."

The campus plan, although not as spacious as that of a full college, allows compact arrangements of all academic, science, and business classrooms, and separate buildings for noisy, active or special-use areas. Eventually an auditorium, stadium and a gym will be part of the campus.

The two - story library and commons are in the center of rounded by a mall which connects academic corridors.

A central kitchen and air conditioning equipment installation will serve all schools on the campus. Outside the cafeteria is a snack bar.

Fashionette

Paisley printed wools in subdued hues show in quantity in the new clothes collections.

MUTINIED TWICE

William Bligh, English admiral and captain of the H.M.S. Bounty during the famous mutiny, was involed in another mutiny when he later became governor of New South Wales, according to the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

Britons pronounce Southward "Suthuck" and Leominster "Lemster."

Prep Now for First School Day

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Parents whose children are scheduled to enter school for the first time this fall should begin making preparation for the big event as soon as possible.

Mrs. Marguerite L. Duvall, extension specialist in child development at Pennsylvania State University, said getting ready for school involves both short term actions and long term planning.

Physically, a strong, healthy body is the goal, she said. Long range planning for this can include building good habits, such as eating and sleeping, and building muscles and coordination with active play.

Immediate things needed include a physical checkup, cloth for school and instruction of children safety precautions.

Other areas are just as essential as the physical one, Mrs. Duvall added. Children need to grow and develop mentally, socially and emotionally to be ready for the milestone of beginning school.

Parents can help their children enrich their experiences, learn to meet new situations without fear, play with others their own age and stimulate their curiosity.

Cookout Tips Are Given for Man of House

NEW YORK (UPI) — Comes the weekend and the family chef's hat is worn by the man of the house as he presides at the outdoor barbecue. To him, also, falls the K.P. that goes with cooking.

To ease his clean-up chores and keep the charcoal hearth safe and tidy, some suggestions from B. T. Babbitt, Inc., makers of household cleaning products:

—Start with a clean griddle. Use a wire brush to remove any rust accumulation and hose the grids with a fine spray.

—When lighting the charcoal fire, and until the fire is out, keep the garden hose handy and at the ready, with the house connection open.

—Barbecues, portable or permanent, should be a safe distance from the house and should be located with an eye to stray sparks. Special care should be exercised in dry or windy weather.

—As soon as the charcoal is lighted, the griddle should be placed over the fire. A hot griddle helps sear and seal the meat, keeping the juices inside, and the heat sterilizes the cooking surface, neutralizing any contamination caused by hidden rust deposits.

To clean the griddle lay it on a sheet of newspaper and spray with an aerosol oven cleaner.

COLORADO CHAMP—Don McLaughlin of Fort Collins has thrown his hat into the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo ring in defense of his World Champion Steer Roping crown, won in 1963. McLaughlin is professional rodeo's biggest winner ever with a rope. $253,836 since 1946. The annual rodeo opens tonight and will continue through Saturday night at Penrose Stadium. (RCA Photo)

MCNICHOLS ATTENDS

DENVER (UPI)— Former Gov. Steve McNichols and his wife will be among the guests attending a White House dinner Thursday in honor of U.N. Secretary-General U Thant. McNichols, Democratic national committeeman for Colorado, said he hoped to "talk some politics" with top-level Democrats while in Washington.

Twenty-four million neckties costing $26 million were sold for Father's Day.

WHAT A CADDIE!

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—After purchasing 100 practice golf balls, Paul Grubbs made arrangements to drive to the front of his office, where a man would hand them to him.

Academy Float Follows Space Explorer Theme

The role of its graduates in the exploration of space will be theme of "Gateway to the Stars," Air Force Academy's entry in the 1964 Pageant Parade of the Rockies.

T. Sgt. Bob Dover, an illustrator assigned to the Audio-Visual Services, designed the float. It measures 32 feet long, 12 feet wide, and 12 feet high. Topping the entry is an 11 foot tall replica of the Class of 1965 ring.

Three cadets will ride the flat; one holding the Academy falcon mascot, the other two clad in parade dress.

A book titled, "Pioneers of the Future," caps the front of the design.

Capt. Vince J. Raymond Jr., staff judge advocate, and SM. Sgt. Merritt Green, NCOIC, Audio-Visual Services, spearheaded efforts to construct the entry.

The Academy Band will also march in the parade, one of five military music units to take part.

LBJ Accepts Painting From Sergeant

President Lyndon Johnson has accepted a framed portrait of himself done in oils by a former Ft. Carson sergeant now stationed in Seoul, Korea.

S. Sgt. James T. Gardner, 28, painted the portrait several weeks ago and before leaving Korea, shipped it off to the President. In a thank-you letter signed by the President's personal secretary, Juanita D. Roberts, Mr. Johnson expressed his appreciation for the sergeant's thoughtfulness and wished him success in his career.

Sgt. Gardner, a native of Milwaukee, Wisc., has studied art here and plans to continue his studies in Korea. He hopes to go into commericial art upon his return to the United States.

While he is in Korea, his wife Lynette will live with her mother, Mrs. Anna Thompson, 102 W. Polk St.

Local Secretary Wins Luggage in National Contest

Regional prizewinners in the recently-concluded Thermo-Fax "Ask-the-Boss" national sweepstakes were announced this week by Robert Sadler, manager of Thermo-Fax Sales, Inc., Denver.

Winners are Mrs. Elizabeth Slaback, 542 E. Platte Ave., and Mrs. Gertrude Qvale, 705 20th St., Boulder. Both are secretaries.

Mrs. Slaback won a three-piece set of matched Samsonite luggage. Mrs. Qvale was awarded a $100 Jantzen wardrobe.

The two winners were among and office workers from Colorado and Wyoming who entered the contest simply by asking their employer to spend a few minutes watching a demonstration of Thermo-Fax or 3M copying machine.

Nationally, the four top prizes in the contest were trips to Acapulco, Mexico; nowever, no Colorado-Wyoming entrants were among the top four winners, Sadler said.

Merchant Police Inc., Names Vice President

Mrs. Edna Whittenberg, owner of Merchant Police Inc., has announced the appointment of Frederick (Fred) Lander as vice president and general manager of the corporation.

Lander is a native of Colorado Springs and has had experience in sales and management in the field of investigation. Before accepting his present position, he was employed by another Springs detective agency in a similar position.

Mrs. Whittenberg stated that with the increase of business in the downtown areas as well as the growth of the outlying districts, there will be an increased demand for the services of her company.

FREDERICK LANDER

The employment of Lander is only one of the planned expansion moves to be made by the company in keeping pace with the city growth, Mrs. Whittenberg said.

Mrs. Whittenberg has, for the past 13 years, provided protective service for the property of her customers. During the hours of darkness she made her rounds with her dog "Tippett."

Until she was injured in a fall last fall, her service record equalled that of any other protective service in the area, Lander said.

She has stated that she is now in full control of the business at the present time.

Local Man Named Columbia Savings Vice President

H. Eugene Combs, manager of Columbia Savings and Loan Association, Pikes Peak and Nevada Avenues, has been promoted to assistant vice president, Daniel L. Ritchie, executive vice president of the statewide savings institution, announced today.

Combs has been manager of Columbia's Colorado Springs office since December. Before joining the company as a loan counsellor in 1962, he was vice president of the Francis Construction Company in Denver.

Prior to this time he was in the insurance business for nine years.

After serving for three years with the Air Force during World War II, Mr. Combs attended the University of Oklahoma graduating with a B.S. degree in business administration.

Organizations in which he is active include the Colorado Springs Board of Realtors, Chamber of Commerce, Society of Real Estate Appraisers Exchange Club and the Home Builders' Association.

Combs resides at 42 Redwood Drive with his wife and four children.

Law Suit Charges False Ads Used For Fish Lures

A. G. Spalding & Bro., of Chicopee, Mass., internationally known manufacturer of sporting goods, has filed a $500,000 law suit in New York State Supreme Court against Monroe Caine of Scarsdale, N.Y. for trademark infringement and unfair competition in the use of the Spalding name in advertising "Talking Fishing Lures." Spalding is also seeking an injunction against Caine actually selling the products advertised.

The suit charges that Caine falsely advertised the "talking fishing lures" as a product of the "Spalding Fish and Game Division, 520 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y." There is no fish and game division of A.G. Spalding & Bros. The advertisements have appeared in a number of daily newspapers in various cities.

Caine's home address is given as 222 Daisy Farms Drive, Scarsdale, N.Y. The suit against him was filed by the law firm of Miller, Montgomery and Spalding of 1 Wall Street, New York, general legal counsel for A. G. Spalding & Bros.

Three States Hold Primary Elections

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three states hold primary elections today, with Rep. Richard Bollins, a strong supporter of the Johnson Administration on the powerful House Rules Committee, facing a stiff fight in Missouri.

Bolling's battle and primary contests for gubernatorial nominations in Missouri and Kansas hold the limelight.

Idaho also has a primary, with Democratic incumbent Reps. Ralph Harding and Compton I. White unopposed for renomination.

Bolling, a liberal who for many years was the late speaker Sam Rayburn's spokesman on the rules committee, is opposed by a conservative, Judge Hunter Phillips of the Jackson County Court. The district is in Kansas City.

Phillips has called Bolling "wild-eyed and left-wing in character." Former President Harry S. Truman has endorsed Bolling, and a close friend of Truman's, Tom L. Evans, is the congressman's campaign manager. Bolling has solid support from organized labor.

Phillips is backed by five splinter groups of the old Kansas City Democratic machine of Tom Pendergast.

Missouri Lt. Gov. Hilary A. Bush and state House Majority Leader Warren E. Hearnes head a five-man field seeking the Democratic nomination for governor. Ethan Shepley of St. Louis and William B. Ewald of Kirkwood are among four Republican hopefuls.

Retiring Gov. John M. Dalton is ineligible for re-election.

Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo., has two little-known opponents, while Republicans are picking between Jean Paul Bradshaw and Morris D. Duncan.

Two Republican congressmen are unopposed for renomination, while seven incumbent Democrats have opposition.

In Kansas, eight Republicans are running for governor, including Rep. William H. Avery, who resigned as a member of the House Rules Committee. Other GOP hopefuls include McDill Boyd, a close runnerup in 1960, Lt. Gov. Harold Chase, Atty. Gen. William M. Ferguson and State Senate President Paul Wunsch.

Former State Treasurer George Hart and Corporation Commissioner Harry G. Wiles are among six Democratic candidates.

Two-term Republican Gov. John Anderson is not seeking re-election.

In House contests in Kansas, four men are trying for the GOP nomination to succeed Avery, while Rep. Garner Shriver has one Republican primary opponent. The other three Republican incumbents are unopposed.

Guerrillas Killed By British Forces

KUCHING, Malaysia (AP) — British security forces in Malaysia's Borneo state of Sarawak killed five Indonesian guerrillas Monday in a border region clash.

A spokesman said one British trooper was slightly wounded.

It was the third such encounter in 10 days in Sarawak. Six Indonesians were killed on Friday.

Five Clergymen In Jail Plan New Appeals

By DOUGLAS STARR

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — A group of clergymen who went to jail Monday on a sit-in conviction after three years of appeals ran out have started a new line of appeal.

The five white and three Negro clergymen spent the night in segregated cells and were assigned work duties for today.

But their lawyer said the men probably would pay $500 fines and go home if the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans refuses to take jurisdiction and grant bond during appeals.

The lawyer, Howard Dixon, said he sent the court an emergency telegram and he expected a decision by tomorrow.

U.S. Dist. Judge G. Harrold Carswell turned down the clergymen's petition Monday. It contended there was no evidence of unlawful assembly and that an Interstate Commerce Commission order had wiped out segregation at Tallahassee transportation terminals.

The clergymen were "freedom riders" testing compliance with the ICC order. They were arrested for unlawful assembly when they refused to leave a segregated airport restaurant.

Carswell said the clergymen must return to Municipal Court Judge John Rudd, who had convicted them three years ago.

In arguing for their release before federal court, Dixon said the police "had two choices — to arrest the clergymen or to arrest the hoodlums and rednecks who were threatening them from outside the terminal. He made the wrong choice."

The clergymen have lost appeals to the circuit court, State Supreme Court and the U.S. Supreme Court. They are:

The Rev. John W. Collier of Newark, N.J.; Dr. Robert M. Brown of Stanford, Calif.; the Rev. Robert J. Stone of New York City; the Rev. A. McArven Warner of New York City; Rabbi Israel Dresner of Springfield, N.J.; Rabbi Martin Freedman of Paterson, N.J.; the Rev. Arthur L. Hardge of New Britain, Conn., and the Rev. Petty D. M. Kinney of Nyack, N.Y.

The Rev. Wayne Hartmire Jr., of Culver City, Calif., arrived Monday night and said he would decide on whether to go to jail after appearing before Judge Carswell.

Dixon said a 10th clergyman convicted with the others would pay his fine. He identified him as the Rev. Ralph Lord Roy of New York City.

Mickey Rooney Will Face TV's Dick Van Dyke

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Come fall, it will be Mickey Rooney against Dick Van Dyke.

If television has a boot hill, it is network time periods opposite hit shows.

Perfectly good programs often die from lack of attention. Last season's victims included "The Judy Garland Show," overwhelmed by NBC's "Bonanza," and NBC's "Espionage," which never had a chance against CBS' "Beverly Hillbillies."

This season ABC proposed to toss the veteran Rooney into the ratings battle against the top-rated "The Dick Van Dyke Show."

Rooney, the pint-sized David in the fight, appears unconcerned about what could be an eight-ball position. His "Mickey" series centers about a family, the usual husband, wife and two children, who inherit a resort hotel.

Rooney boasts of the talent behind his series — Arthur Marx, Groucho's son, as producer-writer, and Richard Whorf, the director. But he confesses his admiration for Van Dyke's talents.

"The way I feel," he adds, "is that there certainly ought to be room for both of us."

A Hollywood film studio is a place where the real blends with the unreal and imagination merges with practicality so often and so well that it is hard to tell where one leaves off and the other begins.

At 20th Century-Fox, for instance, they have constructed permanent outdoor sets for ABC's new "Peyton Place," in an area containing the studio's commissary, fire department and other work-a-day buildings.

The commissary has been dressed up with a sign and will be used as the Peyton Place Hotel. The fire department building has been transformed into the "Peyton Place Fire Department." And a little square that holds a monument to the studio's World War II veterans will be used as the village green.

First Casualties Returning From 'Harm's Way'

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The first casualties have returned from Otto Preminger's replay of Pearl Harbor and its aftermath, "In Harm's Way."

One returnee from the Hawaiian location is Hugh O'Brian, who promptly entered a hospital for a four-week treatment of a tropical virus. Another is Paula Prentiss, who came back to the mainland with one of her lengthy legs in a cast.

"Broke the darned thing in a scene," she reported. "Worked the rest of the day, though. Didn't dare quit, you know Ott."

Indeed I do. He is the hard-headed taskmaster whose bite is seldom as fierce as his bark. Paula, who stands 5 feet 9 without cast, said she got along marvelously with him.

"We had some wonderful fights," said the San Antonio, Tex., beauty. "Whenever we had a difference of opinion over a scene, he and I had a fine shouting match. I think he likes it that way. It was good for me, too; by the time I did the scenes I had a good steam of emotion up."

Her accident occurred on her last day of shooting. She and John Wayne were supposed to be running through the cane fields during the Japanese bombing. The cane had been chopped down to photographable height, but the runners had little vision of where they were stepping. Paula stepped into a three-foot pothole. Crunch!

She finished her work with the ankle swollen like a coconut, then sought treatment.

"For eight days I had to keep my foot elevated so the swelling would go down," she related. "I kept looking at it and say to myself, 'If I'm going to break my leg doing a picture, I ought to get paid for it.' "

The source of her dissatisfaction was her contract with MGM, which allowed the studio to collect handsome fees for loanouts like "Man's Favorite Sport?", "The World of Henry Orient" and "In Harm's Way" while paying her only her usual salary. Meanwhile the studio had no work of its own for Paula.

"You'd think MGM could find an occasional film for its contract list, which consists of me and Yvette Mimieux," she said. "But no. The last thing we did was a guest-star spot in a Connie Francis movie.

"That was all right with me, because I got paid my back salary for doing it. I had three words 'What is it?' that came to $5,000 a word, which is not bad at all.

"When I said goodby to Yvette, I told her: 'See you in the next Connie Francis movie'."

Paula's contract has now been adjusted to one film a year. That leaves her free to do movies and plays for her own personal profit.

And whatever happened to the costarring team of herself and Jim Hutton, which was hailed as a new Myrna Loy-William Powell combo?

"It would have been great with us — if we had been given good material," Paula said. "By the time we did our fourth picture together, 'The Horizontal Lieutenant,' we were pushing buttons for standard reactions in an attempt to get laughs. We told each other if that was all the studio could come up with, we might as well cool it."

WORRY CLINIC

By George W. Crane, M.D., Ph.D.

Edith was worried about her roommate, for the latter had developed an infatuation for Edith. Among adults, such romancing with one's own sex is called homosexuality. Millions of Americans are homosexuals, yet this is simply a juvenile stage in emotional growth.

By George W. Crane, Ph. D. M. D.

CASE T-438: Edith B., aged 19, was one of my psychology students on our downtown campus at Northwestern University.

About the middle of the semester, Edith asked for a personal interview.

During our session she wandered around for half an hour, afraid to mention the thing that really troubled her.

She had informed me that she had a roommate and it was this other girl who had caused Edith to ask for the interview.

Finally, in desperation and

embarrassment, Edith blurted out:

"Oh, Dr. Crane, she is one of those THINGS!"

What Edith was trying to say was simply the fact that she thought her roommate was a homosexual.

For the girl had tried to pet and kiss and fondle Edith, much to Edith's shock and horror.

Many people, even in this late year of 1964, still look upon a homosexual of either sex as being very abnormal.

The majority shy away from such victims and treat them with almost as much horror as the lepers engendered back in the Biblical times.

"Unclean! Unclean!" was the cry that lepers were then forced to make in order to keep normal folks from coming in contact with them.

But modern psychology urges everybody to take a scientific view of human deviations from the normal.

Remember, too, that whatever 51 per cent of people engage in generally forms the yardstick for "normalcy."

Being "abnormal" usually means you are statistically in the minority.

Yet many good acts, as measured by this statistical yardstick, are abnormal.

For example, it is thus abnormal for anybody to go to church on Sunday, since far less than 50 per cent are in church each Sabbath.

It is likewise statistically abnormal to go to college, since only a minority ever spend any time on a campus.

It is also abnormal to be unmarried after the age of 30, for the majority marry before that age.

Obviously, I am showing you there should be no hysteria about such words as "normal" vs. "abnormal."

Homosexuality is just one state in the usual emotional development from infancy to mature adulthood.

At birth, we enter Stage No. 1, wich is the "egocentric," wherein everything revolves around ourself.

That is the time when an infant has no concern for others but is solely interested in being fed, diapered and kept warm.

Stage No. 2 arrives about kindergarten age, wherein the child admits his parents as important planets revolving around himself as the center.

State No. 3 is the "gang" or normal homosexual level at which boys prefer their own sex and girls have little use for boys. It runs till the mid teens.

But when we get into senior high school, maybe 85 per cent of us enter Stage No. 4 (heterosexual) in which we look to the OPPOSITE sex for romance.

The other 15 per cent remain at one or another of those lower stages.

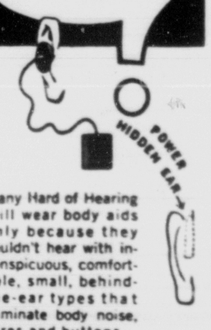

Thus, many brilliant adults never leave the selfish egocentric level, so they become psychopathic personalities.

Other confirmed spinsters and bachelors get "fixated" on their parents, while millions of people remain permanently attracted to their own sex.

Five Rotary Daughters in Rodeo Parade

Five daughters of Rotarians will appear on the Indian float sponsored by the five local Rotary clubs in Thursday's Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo parade.

They are Miss Sue Woodward, Miss Charla Towner, Miss Karen Wieselmann, Miss Janet Palm and Miss Gail Nelson.

Homer Paris, drama instructor at Wasson High School, designed the float and supervised its construction.

Miss Woodward graduated from Cheyenne Mountain High School and is a freshman at the University of Colorado where she is majoring in nursing. She is the daughter of Wally Woodward, director of Broadmoor Rotary Club, who is associated with Short and Briggs Realtors.

Miss Towner graduated from Wasson High School in 1963. She is majoring in business education at Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah, where she is a sophomore. She is the daughter of Charles A. Towner Jr. of Towner Motor Co., who is a member of Rotary Club of East Colorado Springs.

Miss Wieselmann graduated from Cheyenne Mountain High School and is a sophomore at the University of Colorado where she is a psychology major. She is the daughter of Egon Wieselmann, owner of Pikes Peak Plastics and a member of Rotary Club of Colorado Springs.

Miss Palm is a freshman at the University of Colorado. She graduated from Cheyenne Mountain High School. She is the daughter of Rotarian Stig Palm, personnel manager of Kaman Nuclear and president of Rotary Club of North Colorado Springs.

Miss Nelson graduated from Cheyenne Mountain High School and will be a freshman this fall at Colorado Women's College, Denver, where she will major in fine arts. She is the daughter of Albert S. Nelson, attorney and candidate for El Paso County Judge. Nelson is president of the West Side-Manitou Springs Rotary Club.

Russians Have No Comment On Viet Crisis

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet news agency Tass reported President Johnson's announcement of U.S. action against North Viet Nam in a nine-line dispatch from New York today. There was no comment.

Another five-line dispatch reported that the United States had requested an urgent meeting of the United Nations Security Council.

The first dispatch said Johnson "announced that the American armed forces have taken 'reply measures' not only against enemy ships in the Tonkin Bay but also against 'auxiliary means' on the territory of the Democratic Republic of (North) Viet Nam."

Graveside Services Set For Oscar Anderson

Graveside services will be held at 9:30 a.m. Thursday in Evergreen Cemetery for Oscar L. Anderson who died Monday at his home, 832 Prospect Lake Dr. Mr. Anderson was 89.

The Rev. Ward Hurlburt will officiate.

Mr. Anderson was born April 15, 1875, in Concordia, Kans., and had been a resident here since 1898. From 1938 until 1947, he lived in Long Beach, Calif. Mr. Anderson was a landscape gardner.

He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Jennie C. Anderson; two daughters, Mrs. Mildred Martin of Colorado Springs, and Mrs. Lerla Kilborn of Coronado, Calif.; a sister, Mrs. Esther Grimes of Portland, Ore., and a brother, Carl Rudolph Anderson, also of Portland, and two grandchildren.

Three Out of Four Persons Now Have Health Insurance

Over the last 20 years, the number of people protected in the United States by some form of health insurance has gone from one out of every five to more than three out of every four persons, the Health Insurance Institute said today.

In 1943, 19 percent of the U.S. civilian population were protected by some form of health insurance, the Institute said, while at the beginning of this year 77 per cent of Americans were so covered. At the midway point, 1953, some 61 per cent of the population had health insurance.

Twenty years ago, only 24 million Americans were covered by hospital expense insurance. Since then there has been a six-fold increase and over 145 million persons were protected against the cost of hospital care at year-end 1963, by insurance companies, Blue Cross, Blue Shield, and other plans. In 1953, over 97 million were so insured.

The Institute said this explosive growth can be atrtibuted to many factors, among which is the public's growing awareness of the value of modern health care and its need to find a mechanism to help prepay the cost of such care. The same type of growth has been shown, said the Institute, by other forms of health insurance. In 1943, 10 million Americans had surgical expense insurance, but in the following 20 years there was a 13-fold increase and at the end of 1963 nearly 135 million persons had protection against the cost of surgical bills, the Institute said. In 1953, nearly 81 million persons had surgical insurance.

Regular medical expense insurance covered over 3 million Americans in 1943. There was a 30-fold increase in coverage in 20 years so that more than 102 million persons were covered last year. In 1953, close to 43 million persons were so protected.

Lions Members Hear Mountain Training Talk

Members of the Colorado Springs Lions Club received a concise but complete review of Fort Carson's military mountaineering potential at the Lions' luncheon meeting Tuesday.

Capt. Vincent Vespia, commandant of the Fort Carson Leadership and Mountain Training School, outlined the mission of the school. M. Sgt. Harold Caldwell and SFC, Bobby S. Dalrymple demonstrated the use of climbing equipment.

First Lt. John McGuire of the school staff recalled highlights of recent search, rescue and recovery missions by Carson's mountaineers and the Lions inspected a static display of equipment.

The leadership school gives training in leadership and in military mountaineering techniques such as those demonstrated each week in N. Cheyenne Canon.

The school has had four calls so far in 1964 ranging from 14,500-fot Maroon Peak near Aspen, Colo., a hazardous mass crumbling granite, to nearby areas where inexperienced climbers are stranded on rock ledges.

Demonstrating these skills is a regular tourist attraction through the summer months. Only a rescue mission or bad weather normally postpones these rock climbing shows.

The regular Thursday show will be cancelled in favor of the Pikes Peak or Bust Rodeo parade in Colorado Springs at the same hour, Aug. 6.

However visitors can see the demonstration at 10:30 a.m. in N. Cheyenne Canon on Wednesday, Aug. 5, along with Civil Air Patrol cadets here for their national drill competition.

Commodity Money — Or Fiat Money

In the history of human kind there have been all kinds of things used as money. And money is important. Barter, which is the term we use to explain exchanges which do not use money, is not very practical, although when money systems break down, barter is always employed.

The reason barter is cumbersome and not too practical relates to the multitude of commodities and services each of us wants. When barter is the only method available for exchanges, then the choices relating to exchange are severely limited. We exchange a side of beef for a dozen pair of shoes. But we only wanted one pair of shoes. Then we have to exchange the extra shoes for other things, and so on. It gets pretty complicated and you can only exchange something with someone who happens to be in the market for the particular good you have to offer.

Money is called a "medium of exchange." Actually, money stands between the two persons who are to make the exchange and serves as the transfer agent.

By converting the side of beef and the shoes both into money, then the lack of similarity in the two products is not a deterrent. Because of the universality of money, anyone will exchange almost anything for it. This expands the area of choice for all of us.

In general, there are two kinds of money. There is commodity money. And there is fiat money.

Commodity money is any kind of money which, in itself, would also have some kind of market value.

Since people began using money the following items have been employed: all kinds of metals; all kinds of stones, precious and otherwise; shells, beads, objects of art, food products of various types; animals, largely cows or sheep; people, usually women or children, but often any kind of slave.

During World War II and the Korean War, many soldiers found out that in occupied territory they could use chocolate bars or cigarettes as money.

In each of the above cases, the item to be used as money is also a commodity. Now, while it is being used as money, it is withheld as a commodity. However, if the owner of this kind of money ever desires to do so, he can use the money he has as a commodity.

Example: A man is using wheat for money. He exchanges various things using wheat as the medium of exchange. He has a barn containing 1,000 sacks of wheat. He now takes some of the wheat, which he accepted as money, and he grinds it for flour and bakes bread. He has converted some of his money into a product which he can now consume. Thus the medium of exchange, by its own nature, was converted into a consumer commodity.

If he had had gold, he could have made trinkets or jewelry from it and sold those items or kept them himself. If he had had cattle as money, he could slaughter a cow and dine on it. Such actions would cut into his supply of money, but they are entirely under his control, since the money he is using is also a commodity.

Then, there is fiat money. Fiat money consists principally of bookkeeping entries in ledgers, in credit expressed in various ways, in paper notes of various kinds and in checks which we write. None of these things has any commercial value in itself. The bookkeeping entries cannot be directly converted into jewelry or into food, clothing or shelter. Neither can slips of paper, no matter what they say, and no matter who signed them.

Of course, if one collects enough of these slips of paper they will finally have a commodity value for by the bale they can be used as waste paper and thus would be reconverted as a commodity.

The fact is that human beings at the present time use both kinds of money. We use commodity money and we use fiat money. Commodity money is far more safe and certain than fiat money. But fiat money is far more convenient and simple to use than commodity money.

Many times people are tempted to forego the certainty of commodity money for the convenience of fiat money. But let us be certain we understand this point.

The illusion persists that if the government issues greenbacks or notes of any kind that state on their face that they are redeemable in gold or silver, then such notes are not fiat money. Because they are "backed by" a commodity such as gold or silver, it is assumed that such paper is NOT fiat.

But, indeed, it is fiat money. The convertibility is only as good as the word of the government which promises to pay in gold or silver or any other commodity.

Example: Prior to 1932 the U.S. government had issued millions of dollars worth of gold and silver certificates. Each of these pieces of paper claimed to be redeemable in gold or silver. But the fact is that all the people had was the paper, which, in itself, was merely fiat money.

When, in 1933, the gold backing was removed entirely and the silver backing reduced, it was discovered that none of this paper was then redeemable in gold and much of it was not redeemable in silver. Thus, the paper money was only as good as the word of the government. It always had been fiat money, for when the government's word changed, then all that people had was paper.

These two characteristics of money, its safety and its convenience, provide conflicting qualities. What we really would like to have is a kind of money that is both safe and convenient.

For an examination of the qualities we would like to find in our money, see the ensuing editorial.

Characteristics of Money

Here are the qualities we all want when we seek an ideal money.

First, we want a money that can readily be exchanged. This is the first requirement. We do not want money as a thing in itself. Whatever is being used as money must be transferrable to others. Thus, we value it, not for itself, but because we believe others will value it when we wish to get rid of it. If we grow suspicious of any particular item as money, then we won't accept it. We will stop accepting it at the moment we believe other people won't accept it.

Thus, most economists have concluded that money (as money) is not wealth. If it is commodity money, then it could well be wealth. But in its role as money, it is valued primarily because we are certain others will take it from us when we offer it. So wealth is classified as those things we exchange money for, the end products of the exchange. And of course, if we are using commodity money, especially the precious metals, they constitute a kind of wealth, not in their role as money, but in their role as gold or silver.

Next, when we are looking for an ideal money we want something that will tend to retain a fixed value over a very long period of time. Preferably we would like a money to have a fixed value forever. Unfortunately, this is not possible.

Value is a state of mind and always fluctuates from person to person and from moment to moment. The amount of any item in supply will reflect upon its value, raising or lowering it. All items of value are considered relatively. A man who is hungry will value a hamburger more than he values 50 cents. He will gladly exchange the 50 cents for the hamburger if he is hungry enough. But if he is not hungry, he will devalue the hamburger in his mind and prefer to keep his 50 cents.

The amount of money in circulation very largely determines its value. If there are great quantities of dollars in circulation, for instance, then everyone will have more dollars to spend. Having more dollars they will bid up the prices of other items offered for sale. Thus, in relation to available goods and services, money will go down in value when it is plentiful and it will rise in value when it is scarce. This will not only occur on a wide basis within a general economy, it occurs in a narrow area as each person considers the supply of money he has in relation to the things he would like to have in exchange for his money.

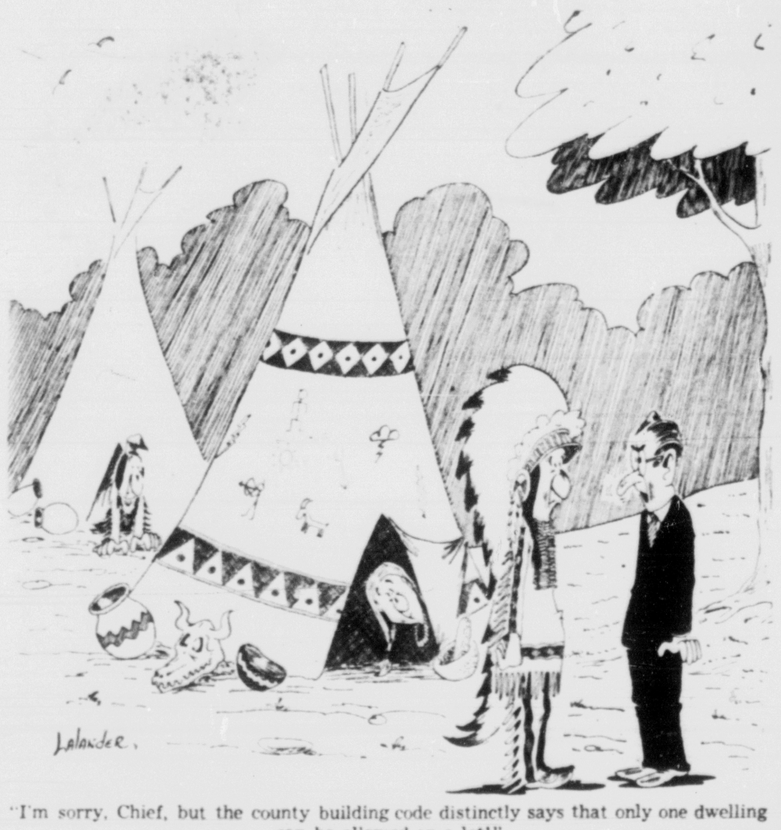

Next is convenience. We wish to have purchasing power at hand whenever we find something we wish to purchase. If what we are using for money is cattle or heavy metal, it is not convenient. If we saw something we wanted to purchase we would have to round up a cow, or carry a certain amount of heavy metal about with us. If the metal is in small pieces and not too heavy, we will use it in this connection with great convenience. But if we want to buy something fairly large and the only thing we can use is gold, we may have to carry large supplies of gold about with us. Gold is not too portable and is inconvenient in this respect.

Next is durability. We don't want a money which, in itself, tends to be less valuable with the passage of time. Wheat mildews and spoils. Cows grow old. Lots of things wear out. In fact, almost everything wears out with use. So we want a kind of money that will resist wear and tear and will retain its value. Metal, especially gold, is ideal in these areas.

Next is divisibility. We want something for money that can be broken down into small units of equal size. And we want to be able to expand these units to very large amounts of equal size, too. So commodity money, in its raw state in nature, fails us here. But metal money, especially gold or silver, is excellent in this respect. It can be divided into tiny units of great uniformity and as such facilitates countless exchanges.

So there are five qualities which we seek in money. These are: exchangeability, valuability, durability, portability and divisibility. And the history of money reveals that human beings tend to sacrifice the valuability and durability for portability and other items relating to convenience.

Fiat money is the most convenient. But it is the least reliable. Gold is the most safe and certain. But it is not convenient except in small quantities. This is the perpetual dilemma we face respecting money. But, as in most other cases where problems arise, we tend to ask the government to solve this problem for us. And when the government gets into the money picture, political objectives supersede market place requirements. Then we truly come to grief and fiat money becomes the only money in constant usage.

Even Keel

By GEORGE BOARDMAN

At the risk of seeming to take a kick at capitalism, I wish to establish that if capitalism and the laws of supply and demand will combine to keep the economy on an even keel, I am not interested. Idle and unthinking conversation about any "system" which will keep the economy on an even keel suggests a form of equalization which fits exactly into the economic hogwash of the socialist conglomerate.

Living in a condition of freedom will only guarantee that human beings will be free, not that they will become wealthy or even desire financial wealth, and this seems a bit difficult for a good many people to understand.

I know people who would be entirely satisfied to live as subsistence farmers. They have had experience in this field and found it a delightful way of life until government intrusions drove them into a way of life they do not find delightful. This may come as a shock to many people but I know many people, and there must be a few more around some place, who are not and never have been money hungry. They have many interests, enjoy simple and inexpensive activities, spend a lot of time in conversation with people of compatible tastes and have no time to spend trying to gather up a million or so dollars. They are more hungry for knowledge than dollars and even the intrusions of government have not despoiled their preferences. They will not be forced or shoved into spending more of their time in search of dollars.

Actually, human beings, enjoying a free market economy in a condition of freedom, will make their own decisions, arrive at their own conclusions and some will become wealthy while others seek other forms of riches. One grocer may earn a million dollars while another will be content with ten thousand dollars a year or even less. One author will write a novel each month; another, two or three a month, and another, one novel in a year, and that's exactly as it should be.

A man doesn't need a lot of intelligence to assume that everybody wants exactly what he wants; in fact, those who presume too much invariably arrive at incorrect conclusions. I can make a long list of activities which would engage my interest in a condition of freedom but I will not presume to even imagine you might be interested in the same or similar activities and this, strange as it may seem, is a vitally important aspect of the freedom philosophy.

Not long ago a very bright young lady asked me this question, "Do you believe earning a million dollars is the best way to combat socialism?" I ducked the question by asking if the young lady was interested in fighting socialism or standing on her own two feet in freedom, and her reply went like this. "I am concerned with my own freedom and I have no desire for a million dollars or even in proving that capitalism 'will work.' If earning a million dollars is the best way to combat socialism, that leaves me cold. I am willing to take a chance on being able to earn my own living, to protect my life and my property, even though I do not want much property. I may want to work six months and study six months, be a beachcomber, a writer or an artist. I want to be free to be ME."

I repeat, this point is vital. In freedom, human beings may achieve great wealth — monetary profit — or enjoy their lives on a bare subsistence level if that is their preference, and it might be a good idea right now to think about the fact that government is not annoyed by people who have great wealth, regardless of occasional remarks made to the contrary. It is concerned with those who manage to get along without running to government for help or special privilege. Obviously, the wealthy are providing government with a great deal of support and have little, if any, problem with conscience in doing business with socialism.

Every aspect of totalitarianism is aimed at control, keeping the economy on an even keel, redistribution of wealth and property and on and on. To say that government fails in this regard and that capitalism will be successful is to play into the hands of totalitarianism. In freedom people will have the right to be what they want to be!

Good health and good luck to you, in Freedom.

Question Box

Question No. 560: "Are most employers paternalistic? If so, do they harm themselves, their employes, and their customers?"

Answer: Judging from the employer-employe relationships it would seem that most employers are paternalistic. They invariably choose to give fringe benefits, pay for vacations even when the workers are paid overtime for the extra hours they work, and give them a pension when they retire.

It hurts the employer because it exalts him and makes him think he is superior to his workers because he has to take care of them. In doing this he retards his growth and thus reduces his ability to service his customers and employes.

It hurts the workers because they think they are going to be taken care of by their employer. It is always bad for anyone to think that he is secure. It has a tendency to make employes more or less careless and not do their own planning, not use their own initiative to plan their lives. Anything that reduces a man's necessity of planning his own life and future is harmful.

Yes, the great majority of employers have gradually drifted into paternalistic practices to the detriment of themselves, their employes, and their customers.

Each man should get all he produces in every pay period and have the experience of managing it and enjoying it and either becoming destitute or having the pleasure of accumulating a nest egg to take care of himself in his old age. And if he didn't have someone he thinks will look after him, he would be making his own decisions. And life is just making decisions as to one's future.

Questions are limited to general human relations questions that will improve the well-being of all mankind on this earth.

Allen-Scott Report

Aid Figures Juggled

PAUL SCOTT

WASHINGTON — The doughty fight in the Senate to steeply slash President Johnson's $3.5 billion foreign aid budget is seemingly doomed to failure, but it is performing one extremely useful service.

It is making crystal clear that this huge budget is only about half of the amount actually being spent on foreign aid.

The real total is more than $7 billion.

Under various titles, designations and agencies, Congress already has voted the other $3.5 billion.

The little-known fact that actual foreign aid spending is in excess of $7 billion was admitted by Foreign Aid Administrator David Bell under questioning at a closed-door meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

He made this highly significant admission in response to a question by Senator Stuart Symington, D-Mo. This was disclosed on the Senate floor by Senator Ernest Gruening, D-Alaska, who with Senator Wayne Morse, D-Ore., has been spearheading the determined effort to drastically prune the President's $3.5 billion budget.

Following is this revealing testimony:

"Senator Symington: You present a figure of $3.5 billion. I turn that over to someone trying to be objective and say, 'Give me what the true foreign aid figure is.' He then gives me a figure of some $7 billion as the actual amount of foreign aid we are going to give or loan this year. Is that figure correct?"

"Bell: Somewhere around that, yes, sir."

Caustically commented Gruening, who has been futilely battling to induce the Small Business Administration to grant ¾ of one per cent loans to hard-hit Alaska businessmen and other earthquake sufferers, "We have hear much about this being a 'bare-bone' foreign aid budget. That is not quite correct. It now develops that foreign aid spending for fiscal 1965 is to be in the neighborhood of $7 billion and not $3.5 billion."

The Foreign Aid Administration and other agencies in that field have granted hundreds of millions in loans to foreign countries and businessmen at ¾ of one per cent interest. But earthquake-stricken American citizens in Alaska are being required to pay 3 per cent interest.

WHERE MONEY GOES

A detailed compilation of the more than $7 billion the Johnson administration has budgeted for foreign aid is recorded in a little-noticed minority report by the House Foreign Affairs Committee.

This highly enlightening summation is as follows:

Signing this scathing report were Republican commiteemen E. Ross Adair, Ind.; H. R. Gross, Iowa; E. Y. Berry, S.D.; Edward Derwinski, Ill.; James Battin, Mont., and Vernon Thomson, Wis.

They emphatically contended that "our generous, well-intentioned but misguided assistance activities (have) accomplished nothing — and events of the last few months prove that."

"NATO appears on the verge of complete disintegration," continued the group. "France, a major recipient of U.S. aid, has apparently withdrawn its support while retaining its voice. We have been unable to obtain the cooperation of our European allies to reduce their trade with Cuba in strategic materials.

"The political settlement in Laos has predictably worked to the advantage of the Communists. The $330 million poured into that country has done nothing more than identify the U.S. with a losing battle. After ten years and $370 million in aid, Cambodia has asked us to pick up our marbles and go home.

"Indonesia with $870 million of our money continues to threaten freedom - seeking Malaysia. And a few months ago, Sukarno announced, 'To hell with U.S. aid.' Yet we continue to give him aid. In fiscal 1965, $10 million is planned for technical cooperation. Our allies in Turkey and Greece are at each other's throat over Cyprus."

Senator Morse, who last year succeeded in lopping $500 million from the foreign aid budget, was equally scathing.

"The foreign aid program has become one of the most stagnant, unproductive and misrepresented of all federal activities," he declared. "It is stagnant because its objectives are still tied largely to American strategic interests of the 1950s; it is unproductive because much of it goes for uses that neither build nor develop; and it is misrepresented because in spite of all the official handwringing pleas that we help the underprivileged and deprived peoples of the world, not more than 40 per cent of it goes for that purpose."

Morse is determinedly seeking to cut some $466 million from this year's budget. So far it has been a vain fight against a seemingly irresistible administration juggernaut.

While many senators privately agree with Morse and Gruening, they are not voting that way. Under unceasing White House pressure they are lining up as the President wants. But this isn't keeping Morse from speaking out bluntly and unsparingly.

"I do not know of any federal program of any size," he declared, "where so much known waste of money continues with so little action being taken to stop it."

FOREIGN AID SPARKS

Under the foreign aid budget, 99 nations and 9 territories will receive funds in the current fiscal year. . .A total of 71,416 persons are on the payrolls of foreign aid agencies, a considerable percentage of them foreigners. . .Included in the foreign aid budget is $6,873,000 for Cuban refugees; $4,743,000 for "migrants and refugees"; and $3,200,000 for the Japanese Ryukyu Islands.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

The Local Scene

Panacea

By RUFUS L. PORTER

Deep in a forest of wonderful trees
Filled with the odors of balsam and pine,
Let me lie in the shade and listen to bees
Gathering honey from blossoming vine,
While birds overhead sing sweet melodies
And gold filters through on rays of sunshine.
Where soothing woods' odors drift on the breeze
And the heart of nature is tuned to mine.
There I'll recline in silent elation
Steeped in remedies that are nature's own,
While my soul enjoys regeneration
And strength flows back into sinew and bone.
Forgetting, the while, the dull cares of life—
Relaxing, recover from wear of the strife.

There is an old and trite saying to the effect that "it takes all kinds of people to make a world." There is more than a grain of truth in most of the old adages and it is certainly evident that we have "all kinds of people" in our world.

We have the self - centered, the thoughtless, the morbid, the calamity howlers, the chiselers, the crooks, the bunco men and the bum steerers who "never give a sucker an even break."

But, to offset them, we have the optimists, the boosters, the considerate, the kind, the generous, the honest, the square-shooters, the helping-handers and the friendly who will not only give you the right directions, but will help you also get there.

It is most refreshing to meet someone from the latter category after having had dealings with those in the former. We often get to thinking that there are no folks left in this world who are downright kind, helpful and honest and we are apt to believe that the "country is going to the dogs," or has already gone.

But it pays to take stock of ourselves occasionally to see whether we have been doing our fair share of lightening the burdens of our fellowmen. Now, do not get me wrong. I do not mean to imply that we should support them, as in the welfare state. I simply mean that we should greet them cheerily, should be kind and considerate and helpful whenever possible.

A kind deed or a cheery smile is often all it takes to add new zest to the day for someone who "got up on the wrong side of the bed," or who has large worries that we know not of and that are no concern of ours.

I have run into many kind, considerate and generous people lately who have done me unexpected and unrewarded kindnesses, and they have made me feel a lot better toward my fellowman. The fact that I had had dealings with a few men of different varieties earlier only makes me appreciate the generous ones the more.

Looking back over a long life, I have come to the conclusion that most people are upright, honest, fairdealing and kind, although there have been times when I felt that the whole world was against me. But, invariably, when I was at the lowest ebb, someone would come along to give me a tremendous lift by a kindly or a friendly act. So, I have never had to "cuss my luck" for any great length of time. I can only hope I have helped others as much as others have helped me.

I believe that the Pikes Peak Region has a larger percentage than the average of friendly, helpful, honest people. And I am not alone in thinking this. I have had many tourists tell me the same thing. One thing we may be sure of, courtesy and kindness to our visitors pays off in more ways than just in the cash registers.

LEAPING LENAS

To the Editor:

Articles in Time and the Columbia Journalism Quarterly have indicated that about 75 per cent of our Washington (newspaper) correspondents are political-liberals. This ratio probably applies to big-chain columnists and commentators, as well. No doubt, some are fine, objective reporters but far too many of them are what we call the LL's (the Leaping Lenas). The LL's jump to, skip over, and sometimes trip-up the truth in their conclusions, "flavoring" their out-put with their own philosophy so that the unsuspecting reader or listener ends up believing black to be white; light, dark; etc., etc. Paradoxically, these self-proclaimed "academic freedom" champs often character-assassinate the conservative proposer of ideas instead of arguing the proposals. In a word, they loathe the conservatives.

In spite of all the recent "Moscow-mellowing" malarkey and State Department - Kremlin bear-hugging, the ultimate goal of the Communists (on both sides of the split) still is to take over the U.S. It's axiomatic that the Reds hate anything that's good for the U.S., and they literally hate the conservatives. Why? Because they know that the alert conservatives are a bulwark against an easy take-over of this coutnry. So, the Reds and the Leaping Lenas (who definitely are not Communists but who ARE soft on communism) have one thing in common — an inordinate contempt for conservatives. And how the wily Kremlin propagandists, experts on Pavlovian-orientation, make use of "the Lenas" to misdirect American public opinion. A few examples follow.

On December 5, 1960, Reds from 81 countries met in Moscow. They'd heard of the rising U.S. conservative (anti-Communist) movement and decided that it had to be stopped in its tracks. How? By using smear tactics — by lumping the 99 sound, patriotic conservative citizens with the 1-in-a-100 oddball or occasional crack - pot group (that pops up in every movement no matter how worthy). The strategy? To tack some sinister - sounding, "dirty-bird" words (as Geo. Gobel would say) on all anti-Communists to belittle the whole anti-Red movement.

Accordingly, Moscow - trained Gus Hall, U.S. Red Party general secretary, came home and ran a double-spread in THE WORKER (7-16-61) ordering all Reds to strike out against the "ultraright" (meaning all anti-communists). He said we'll "slam shut the door on the ultra-right, defeat it, and force a shift in policy on the administration itself. . ." How's that for plain talk? (Above quotes and dates from 87th Congressional Record, Aug. 25 and 28, 1961.)

Soon, the LL's pounced upon dear Gus' "ultraright" term and sent it hurtling into the language main-stream. As a result, today, quite a few Americans actually believe the anti-Communists are the "bad guys" in the picture and the Reds, the "good guys." No doubt, the Soviets are laughing at the uproar over their Moscow-hatched (anti-Communist) "ultraright" bogy. Their December '60 Moscow meeting strategy is working perfectly — the synthetic "thunder on the right" that they've created is completely drowning out the raucous gnawing of the Red termites as they bore from within. Red-infiltration is having an unmolested field day, thanks, in no small measure, to unreliable LL - reporting.

PARTY AND SECT

To the Editor:

The recent conventions and rallies for candidates have brought to mind thoughts that have been in mind for some time — that of party spirit and sectarianism.

It seems so utterly ridiculous for two candidates to resort to name calling, b l a c k balling, smearing and all the rest only to find that when it is over they embrace and appear as if they always were the best of friends — even forgetting, it seems, the festering thing that is still within them ready to come back again at the next chance when their opposition makes a slip. Seems they are crouched and waiting, all ready to spring as a lion upon its dinner.

Then, too, the thought of this brings to mind the same thing under a different disguise, that of the house of God and religion. Countless times in my travels over half of the world have I seen this thing crop up in the hearts and minds of ministers and churches. All one need do is walk in. Immediately, in most cases, the first question asked is, what group are you with? If the wrong answer is given, rest assured there will be a cold feeling, and one certain thing — if you are a minister, they certainly will not ask you to speak. After all, one must be a follower of the Great Man Doctor So and So. If not, oh, we must pull up our skirts and keep from contaminating ourselves. After all, they are in error — all but us, that is. OUR beloved demonination (mispelled on purpose for the first five letters spell demon) is the only one that is right. Should a man follow Wesley, Calvin, Hutter, Ammen, Fox, White, Rees, OR infinite others to the extent of leaving out the very one they should follow to the exclusion of all others, Jesus, our Lord?

There are even groups of churches who have a doctrine of perfection to where one does not sin. In these, as in all the churches, this sin is most dominant. I have yet to find o n e church that does not have this back in their minds.

But enough on churches, I am not finding fault. I only wish more would follow the Master Jesus with their hearts and minds as they know they should.

Yes, sectarianism, party spirit and such like is everywhere, under many names, of course, but still the same deadly sin, whether in the church or the world. It is no wonder that Communism encircles one third of the globe while democracy and church lie back and bicker with each other a n d themselves instead of pulling together in essentials and allowing freedom of choice to those that believe different. It would be a terrible world indeed, though, if one certain group or church were allowed to make all others converts to exactly their way of thinking, if all were Democrats or Republicans, or Independents, or suppose all were Baptists of a certain offshoot, or all of Methodist or some other line. WE would sure be in a fix if man could run things his own party way. This has gone on far enough; I guess by now you are tired of me, but get the idea I am trying to bring forth.

Jersey City Riots Not 'Planned,' Race Chiefs Say

NEW YORK (AP) — Three of six top Negro leaders say the Jersey City, N.J., riots are not a planned breach of the recent "summit meeting" call for curtailment or cessation of civil rights demonstrations until after Election Day.

One disagreed, and the other two had no comment.

Leaders of national civil rights organizations issued the call for the moratorium last Wednesday, after the New York and Rochester riots. The Jersey City violence broke out Sunday.

The summit statement said Negroes should concentrate on voter registration and political activity until after the Nov. 3 election.

Two of the six leaders of the summit meeting—James Farmer of the Congress of Racial Equality and John Lewis of the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee—later disassociated themselves from the moratorium call, although both emphasized they were against violence.

Both Farmer and Lewis, reached in Washington, said the Jersey City riots had nothing to do with the moratorium because they were not demonstrations.

Roy E. Wilkins, executive secretary of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Jersey City had a "spontaneous outbreak" and the NAACP chairman there is "working hard with city authorities to prevent further violence." Wilkins also was in Washington.

But A. Philip Randolph an AFL-CIO vice president who also heads the Negro American Labor Council, said "undoubtedly it (Jersey City) is the first major breach of the moratorium."

"It is almost impossible to get the various groups over the country to comply," said Randolph. He was reached in Chicago, and said he had no direct knowledge of the Jersey City situation.

Randolph said he thinks the moratorium appeal "will have a wholesome effect even if there is not total compliance."

In Atlanta, a secretary to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, said King did not have any comment immediately.

Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League, was attending the organization's convention in Louisville, Ky., and could not be reached for comment.

Segregated Barbers May Be Suspended

TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — New Jersey's barbers were told today that refusal to cut the hair of Negroes could result in license suspensions.

In a letter to all barbers, the New Jersey Board of Barber Examiners said: "A statement by any licensed barber given as a reason for denying service to non-white persons that he did not know how to cut or shave their hair would be untrue."

Frank Marchese, secretary of the board, said the state attorney general's office had reminded the board it "is obliged by statute either to refuse to issue or renew or to suspend or revoke any license . . . for gross malpractice, gross incompetence or unprofessional conduct."

The State Division on Civil Rights has been investigating complaints that barbers have refused to cut the hair of Negroes.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

© 1964 by Chicago Tribune N.Y. News Syndicate, Inc.

QUESTION: What did Jesus mean when He said: "Think not that I am come to send peace, but a sword." —A.Y.

ANSWER: The peace that Jesus came to bring was not the peace of appeasement, or the peace of compromise and conformity. It was a spiritual peace. He said to His disciples: "My peace I give unto you; not as the world giveth, give I unto you." The world doesn't give peace, for it doesn't have any peace to give. It fights for peace, it negotiates for peace, it maneuvers for peace, but there is no ultimate peace in the world. But Jesus gives peace to those who put their trust in Him.

He also brings a sword. Not a sword of steel dripping with blood, but a sword that divides men into two camps; the saved and the lost; the world and the church; children of light and children of darkness.

He said, "I have given them thy word; and the world HATH HATED THEM, because they are not of the world, even as I am not of the world." That is the sword He came to bring. It is a divisive sword that separates sheep from the goats and the tares from the wheat. If you have received His peace then you are in His camp. But if you have rejected it, then you are against Him. His peace is available for everyone who will receive it.

QUESTION: Why do some people believe that going to movies is a sin and yet they watch television. Personally, I don't see where the difference is? —M.W.

ANSWER: Since much of TV is comprised of "movies", I can see little difference between watching TV and attending a movie.

However, Christians are concerned with the matter of influence. And if one refrains from attending theatres because of his influence, this is commendable.

Since any form of entertainment usually caters to the public's taste, we often get TV programs and films that are not of the highest type. A Christian should exercise the best of judgment in selecting entertainment which will contribute to his spiritual life and influence, and not detract from them. We should not view something in the secrecy of our hope that we would not view publicly in a theatre. That would be a form of hypocricy. Each of us have to live with ourselves, and to keep a good conscience before God, we must "abstain from that which is evil"—whether it be on TV in the privacy of our homes, or in a public place.

C AND S SPINES

Milwaukee is famous for its art center and its beer but it has another claim to fame — the Milwaukee brace. This device is used as a corrective support in spinal curvatures. Because it is adjustable, the patient can remain comfortable while sitting, lying down, standing, or walking.

Curvature of the spine (scoliosis) to the left or the right is a common deformity. It usually develops during the early years of growth and often is recognized before the age of 14. Bays are more likely to be affected during the early school years but the situation changes in adolescence when three to five times more girls than boys develop it. The curve may be shaped like a C or an S.

When poor posture is responsible the outlook is good because the vertebras and structures otherwise are normal. Other children are born with defective vertebras or paralysis of the muscles of the trunk on one side. The latter destroys the normal balance of the supporting muscles.

The back muscles may be weakened or paralyzed by polio or other neurological afflictions. Spinal curvature occurs when one leg is shorter than the other. Injury is another possible origin of curvature.

Despite the cause, the crookedness may escape detection for years because it comes on slowly and seldom produces distress. The left shoulder may be higher than the right or a hip or shoulder blade may be prominent. The defect may be noted first when a parent sees the child in a bathing suit or a young girl is being fitted for a dress. Now and then fatigue and backache provide clews.

Mild curvature may correct itself with additional rest during the day, provided the youngster makes an effort to sit and stand erect. Exercises keep the spine flexible and improve the balance of the trunk muscles. They must be done faithfully over a long period. Progressive curvature calls for more specialized care, involing traction or the use of corrective plaster jackets and braces. Approximately 5 per cent are severe enough to require surgery.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

Obstructing Scar Tissue

F. R. writes: What is meant by scar tissue following duodenal ulcer? This is said to affect the stomach valve.

Reply

Some duodenal ulcers leave scars after healing, especially when the lesion is chronic or has recurred many times. The scar may pull on the exit valve of the stomach and obstruct the passageway.

Teen-Age Talk

E. G. writes: My 14-year-old daughter insists that if you eat a lemon after a full meal you won't gain weight. Right or wrong?

Reply

Wrong. She is rather young to be spreading old wives' tales. Calories do count, regardless of unscientific claims to the contrary.

Bone Fracture

B. H. writes: How could a person come up with a cracked bone in the leg if he has not had a fall or other injury?

Reply

This is unusual unless the bone is defective. Cysts and tumors, for example, weaken the skeletal structure so that spontaneous fractures occur.

Antibodies After Infection

V. H. writes: Can a person carry the brucellosis bugs in his body for 28 years?

Reply

No, but his blood may contain protective antibodies that serve as evidence of a previous infection.

GOOD FOR LAUGHS — Lamar native Ken Curtis, left, who portrays Festus Haggen on the Gunsmoke television series will join cantankerous "Doc" Adams for six performances at the Colorado State Fair rodeo, Aug. 27-29 at Pueblo.

Young Wetmore Rider Sets Sights On Another National Rodeo Crown

A young, tough-muscled Wetmore cowpoke, who has reaped more honors at 17 than most amateur athletes win in a lifetime, is pointing for his second national championship title next month at Littleton, Colo., during the famed Little Britches rodeo championships Aug. 18-22.

Virgil Lee Lawson, 17-year-old Florence high school senior and son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lawson, Wetmore ranchers, will be defending his title as national champion cowpoke in the Little Britches Senior division which he won last summer.

A stellar high school football performer and wrestler, Lawson keeps in peak physical condition for his tough summer rodeo circuit by taking an active role in aggressive high school sports. The summer rodeo stint, which makes the schoolboy sports program seem like a rest cure, keeps the young cowboy and 4-H leader in prime shape for gridiron and mat.

A senior this year at Florence High School, Lawson hopes to attend a roping school next summer in Texas during the month of June before enrolling in a college which has a No. 1 intercollegiate rodeo team. His ultimate goal is to specialize in one or two of the rough rodeo events and turn professional. He has an eye on calf-roping and bareback riding.

Winner of 13 saddles, scores of belt buckles, ribbons by the car-load lot, and over 60 trophies, Lawson is mid-way into another successful season.

In addition to several Southern Colorado Horseman Association meets, 4-H gymkhanas, and jackpot rodeos, Lawson has taken his share of honors at Little Britches rodeos and high school rodeos throughout the area this summer.

A top member of the Florence High School rodeo team, Lawson took three ribbons and won a belt buckle at the Air Force Academy rodeo, April 5. The Florence team won the rodeo with flying colors. Rena Miller, this year's State Fair Queen, is also a member of this crack team of young riders.

At the Canon City High School rodeo, Lawson was awarded the all-round trophy and won two belt buckles for his performances in the bareback and barrel races.

At the Colorado Springs Junior Championship Rodeo, June 6-7, he won a saddle, placed second in the all-round events, earned more ribbons and a belt buckle.

Entering all events at the tough Brighton (Little Britches) rodeo, Lawson won another expensive saddle for his bulldogging and calf-roping. He was also awarded a trophy at this rodeo.

The Loveland rodeo, another Little Britches event, found Lawson again in the top spot winning all-round honors and a clock trophy which his mother has appropriated for her TV set.

At Cedar Ridge, Lawson scored runner-up honors and then top all-around cowboy honors at Chadron, Neb., another Little Britches rodeo. He was awarded another saddle for his efforts in this show.

This, his third year in the Little Britches senior division, Virgil Lee will finish his rodeo career in this divison. Youngsters from 8 through 17 are eligible for rodeo prizes in Little Britches events. The senior division is for boys and girls ages 14 to 17, while the junior division is open to youths 8 through 13.

Judged national championship cowboy in the senior division of Little Britches last year, Lawson counts this trophy and its honor as his most coveted.

Before defending his title in August, he will compete in at least six more rodeos including one at Syracuse, Kan., Friday and Saturday, and the Pueblo Junior championships last Saturday and Sunday.

Points accumulated at the various Little Britches rodeos held prior to the championships at Littleton count toward the all-around cowboy honor Lawson will be defending next month. He plans to count points from his Chadron, Jefferson county, and possibly the upcoming Syracuse competitions. To keep in shape, Virgil, his Dad, and two younger brothers spend hours each day at the arena on their home ranch roping, riding, and bulldogging.

Starting his rodeo career at the age of eight, Lawson now tackles any and all events on the card. His dad, who started family on the rodeo circuit back in 1954 with a membership in the SCHA, won the first trophies including two nice saddles in tough competition in 1955 and 1956. He also won runner-up honors in 1954 and 1957 and has accumulated some 15 trophies and numerous belt buckles to add to the huge family trophy case.

Following closely on the heels of his older brother is Randy Lawson, 14, also a student at Florence high school.

Last year Randy won top honors at the national rodeo at Littleton and was named "Little Britches," a title reserved for the best all-around cowboy in the junior division. Now in the senior division, Randy will lay out a year before going for the top honors in the tougher division.

Like his brother, Randy takes saddle bronc riding, bulldogging, calf-roping, bareback riding and a host of lesser events.

Randy has won four saddles, about 15 belt buckles and over 20 trophies. Currently, Randy is leading in the SCHA junior division ... a feat which requires an accumulation of points through participation in a score of SCHA shows during the rodeo season.

Working in SCHS shows, gymkhanas, 4-H contests, and Little Britches rodeos, Randy, too, hopes for a brilliant career as a rodeo competitor. Both Randy and Virgil Lee are most careful to keep their amateur status in order to be eligible for high school and collegiate competition. Only money they can win is in an occasional jackpot rodeo.

The Lawson family has yet another budding rodeo performer in their midst. He is 4-year-old Richard, who entered competition this year for the first time. Rich, taking part in three events — Western Pleasure class, junior horsemanship, and barrel racing, has already entered three meets this season. He has placed in all three winning one trophy and three ribbons.

Rich has been riding in competition with children eight years old and younger, but he has been the youngest in each meet.

Needless to say, his mom and dad are pretty proud of him.

"The older boys could hardly ride a horse at age 4," his dad said, "but with Rich he rides one like a monkey. I kinda think he may be one of the best riders of the bunch."

"I guess Rich is destined to be a rodeo rider," his mother said. "He's been going to rodeos every summer since he was born and has lived in dust and rodeo atmosphere since he can remember. Actually, he's never really been a baby. He just started growing up when he was old enough to walk, and he has been living on horses almost as soon as he could take his first steps."

In all the family has accumulated 19 saddles, all valued between $250 and $300, and nearly 200 trophies of every kind and description.

Virgil Lee has used only a few of his prize saddles although he has tried out most of them at least once. His current favorite is the saddle he won at the Chadrom rodeo.

Pop Lawson, who estimates that he enters his youngsters in about 30 shows a summer from April 1 until the last of September, noted that he'll probably have to add a room to the family's big ranchhouse just to display the trophies of his stalwart sons. With the boys not yet in their prime it would seem that the trophy room is next on the agenda since the present trophy case, which covers one whole wall in the recreation room, is already unable to contain another trophy, let alone the jumble of trophy saddles which now occupy a former bunk house.

Residents of Fremont and Custer Counties, who have been keeping close track of the Lawson brothers and their rodeo careers, will be rooting for the youngsters again next month when the kids tackle the big one at Littleton.

Specialist Says Wilderness Bill Is Good One

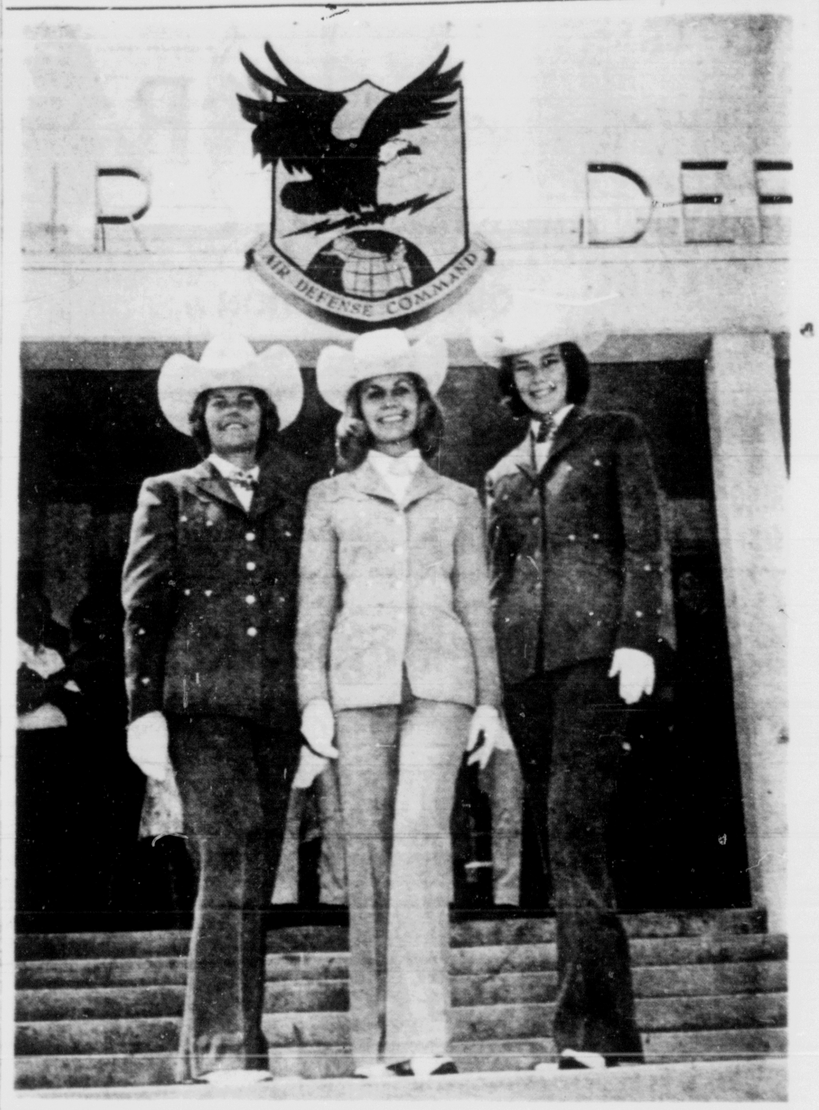

A natural resources specialist said in Denver recently that the current "wilderness bill" which was recently approved by the House of Representatives" ....is a good bill .... on that farmers and ranchers can be pleased with."

John I. Taylor, American Farm Bureau Federation assistant legislative director, told a group of Colorado Farm Bureau members that Colorado's Congressman Wayne Aspinall has done "a masterful job" of guiding the development of the "wilderness bill" that will benefit land owners and users.

Taylor, who specializes in the development and guidance of federal legislation dealing with natural resources for Farm Bureau, pointed out that the current bill, sponsored by Representative John Saylor, (R), Pennsylvania, has many features requested by federal land users.

He said the Saylor bill, H.R. 9070, permits the multiple use of federally-owned lands, continues the grazing of cattle where now permitted, allows the continued exploration of minerals and places the power to annex additional areas to the original wilderness tract entirely in the hands of Congress.

Aspinall is Chariman of the House Committee on Interior and Insular Affairs and is author of a bill calling for a commission to review the nation's public land laws. In support of the proposed commission, Taylor said, "... for more than 100 years we've added law on top of law, with regard to the nation's public lands, to the point that we have no idea of the provisions contained in all those laws." He expressed confidence that the Senate will approve the Saylor bill in substantially the same form that it passed the House.

Work to Resume On U.S. Cowboy Hall of Fame

Construction on the National Cowboy Hall of Fame will resume next week. Target date for completion is the tourist season, 1965.

In a special ceremony at a chuck wagon breakfast on the building site last Friday, Oklahoma Gov. Henry Bellmon, Oklahoma City Mayor George Shirk, Cowboy Hall Board Chairman Albert K. Mitchell, and other dignitaries officially marked the resumption of work on the $2 million first portion of the $5 million project, which had been stalled 2½ years due to lack of funds.

Rapid renewal of the project has been made possible by the recently formed Oklahoma City Industrial and Cultural Facilities Trust in cooperation with Oklahoma Industries, Inc., industrial development arm of the Oklahoma City Chamber of Commerce.

The trust is one of the first in the nation to combine cultural and industrial development into one financing plan. First projects of the new financing venture are the Western Heritage Center and the $1 million industrial facility for Ling-Temco-Vought University, Inc., makers of audio loudspeakers for both consumer and military use.

"This is a great day for our institution," Albert K. Mitchell, New Mexico rancher, said on behalf of the directors of the National Cowboy Hall of Fame. "We will move forward now with all possible speed in putting our staff to work on bringing together artifacts and other museum materials which will make this one of the outstanding historical museums of the nation."

The National Cowboy Hall of Fame is a joint and equal venture of the 17 Western states. It is located on the northeast edge of Oklahoma City, near the intersections of Interstate Highways 35 and 40 and U.S. Highways 66 and 77.

Former CC Med Student Featured at State Fair

Colorado native Ken Curtis, who portrays drifter "Festus Haggen" on the "Gunsmoke" television series will join cantankerous "Doc" Adams for six performances at the Colorado State Fair rodeo, Aug. 27-29 at Pueblo.

Curtis, most recent addition to the "Gunsmoke" cast was a Las Animas jailkeeper at the age of 10, studied medicine at Colorado College, becames a song-writer, repiaced Frank Sinatra as vocalist with the Tommy Dorsey band, starred in his own television series as a parachutist and is a motion picture producer.

The unshaven character actor was born July 2, 1916 in Lamar, not far from Dodge City, the locale of the "Gunsmoke" series. For six years his father, Daniel Gates, was sheriff at nearby Las Animas where the Gates family solved the housing problem by living in the jail. His mother did the cooking for the prisoners as well as the family. When Sheriff Gates was away on business, 10-year-old Ken acted as jailkeeper.

Ranching filled the rest of his youth until he enrolled at Colorado College intending to become a doctor. However, succes as a songwriter for a college production spurred him to try for a Hollywood career.

Instead of setting the world on fire as a song writer, Curtis landed with a musical group as a singer and from there was hired by NBC Radio as a staff vocalist. This led to his eventual hiring by Tommy Dorsey as Frank Sinatra's replacement and a stint with Shep Fields band.

When World War II started, Curtis enlisted in the Army and served with the infantry and in an anti-aircraft unit. After his discharge he made several guest appearances with Johnny Mercer and the Pied Pipers. His rendition of "Tumbling Tumbleweeds" brought him to the attention of Columbia Studios and subsequent western movie roles.

Since that time Curtis has appeared in feature movies including, "The Searchers," "The Alamo," "The Quiet Man," "How The West Was Won" and "Cheyenne Autumn." As a producer, he has turned out three features, "The Killer Shrews," "The Giant Gila Monster," and "My Dog, Buddy."

In 1960, Curtis was signed to star in the synidcated television series, "Ripcord," which resulted in a new hobby, sky diving. His other television credits include previous roles on "Gunsmoke," "Perry Mason," "Rawhide," and "Have Gun Will Travel."

Curtis is married to the former Barbara Ford, daughter of the motion picture director, John Ford. They live in an Early-American style home in the San Fernando Valley near the CBS Studio Center where "Gunsmoke is filmed.

Fire Losses On U.S. Farms Reach New High

Fire losses on the nation's farms reached an all-time high of $191 million last year, according to the 1964 edition of Insurance Facts. Total fire losses throughout the country in 1963 soared to $1.4 billion.

The insurance fact book is published annually by the Insurance Information Institute, a public information and education agency supported by the capital stock insurance business.

Farm fire losses have been on the increase steadily with the 1963 figure rising 9 per cent over the $175 million for 1962. When a fire occurs in rural or farm areas, the booklet points out, damage is three to six times greater on the average than when it occurs in a city area.

A problem of great concern to the nation's farmers is damage to their crops by hailstorms. This is particularly true in the plains states where hailstorms are most frequent. Tracing the growth of crop-hail insurance during the last 25 years, a chart in the booklet shows that premiums for this coverage have increased from $9.7 million in 1939 to $110 million last year.

Although crops are insured against hail damage in every state, the greatest amount of crop-hail insurance is purchased in Illinois, Kansas, Minnesota, Montana, North Carolina, North Dakota and Texas.

The crops that are most often insured are wheat, tobacco, corn, cotton and soybeans. Crop-hail coverage is sold by both insurance companies and governmental agencies. In 1963 insurance companies wrote $81.5 million in premiums, or 74 per cent of the total volume.

Judges for the Home Economics divisions are Mrs. Shirley Duane, Miss Jean Manly, Mrs. Herbert Foster and Mrs. Lewis Vincent, all of Pueblo and Mrs. Rachel Stewart and Mrs. Helen Zgut, Herfano County.

Pueblo County Reports Outbreak Of Stomatitis

DENVER (AP) — Outbreak of a contagious but non-fatal disease among livestock in western Pueblo County, the eastern half of Fremont County and the northeastern part of Custer County was reported late Thursday by state agricultural officials.

The disease is known as vesicular stomatitis, said Agriculture Commissioner Paul W. Swisher and Dr. E. S. Cox, veterinarian in cahrge for the department.

They reported it has shown up on 35 premises in the affected area—the most severe outbreak in Colorado in a decade. They emphasized, however, the disease is not out of control.

It affects the tongues, lips, gums, palates and nostrils of horses, cattle and swine, the state officials reported, and runs its course within a few days but causes considerable loss in weight among the animals.

Swisher said it cannot be transmitted to humans. He said the symptoms sometimes are confused with foot and mouth disease.

The agricultural agency urged stockmen in the affected area to inspect their animals frequently and to call local veterinarians quickly if any sign of teh disease is discovered. Stockmen were urged to curtail movement of their animals and limit contact with other livestock until the outbreak subsides.

Cattlemen Laud Senate Vote On Beef Quota

Passage last Wednesday of HR 1839, the "beef quota" bill, by the United State Senate was hailed in Denver by officials of the American National Cattlemen's Association as "great and hopeful news".

The measure passed by a resounding 72-15 margin after more than nine hours of debate. Members of both parties joined in support of the bill which could restrict beef imports to the average levels of 1959-1963 and would limit the amount coming into any one port.

The import legislation was contained in the so-called "Mansfield Amendment" to a previously passed house bill which dealt with imports of exotic birds and beasts. Although the bill was amended by the Senate to drop the House subject entirely, it goes now to the House for conference committe or direct floor action.

C. W. McMillan, executive vice president, said the association, long advocating limitations against excessive imports of beef and veal, "is particularly pleased over the wide margin in the Senate vote.

"It proved that the senators, particularly those of major beef producing states, recognized the urgent need for reasonable protection for a basic domestic industry," McMillan said.

Many state association officers will join national cattle organization officials in Washington, D. C., to seek fast House action before the expected adjournment of congress in a few weeks.

Rusty Riggs Ute Pass Club Trophy Winner

Rusty Riggs won his third consecutive trophy in the age 8 and under group Saturday at the Ute Pass Saddle Club gymkhana.

AFRICAN VIOLET SAFEGUARD

Porous clay pots are perhaps the best friends your African violets have, for they automatically guard against the excess moisture these popular plants dislike, but can be frequently watered without danger of "drowning". Use warm water for better results with African violets.

GARDENER'S WORKSHOP—A joy to green thumbs is this protected potting bench where space under slat roof is reserved for shade-loving blooms. Upper front panels go up or down to control light inside or to display hanging fuchsias. Behind are storage fence and much bins. Structure is built with standard sizes and grades of Douglas fir lumber.

Work Center For Gardeners Easy to Build

Gardening is a favorite hobby of many homeowners. To this blessed breed, there's nothing more relaxing than digging and potting planning and planting.

But gardeners, like otner hobbiests, need a special work center, preferably one located right in the garden.

A delightful and practical design encloses a gardener's potting bench on two sides with a screen wall facing the garden and a full-sized storage wall at the back. Overhead, a slat roof built on an eggcrate frame provides shade for the work center in attractive fashion.

A workable plan would allow a 12-foot length for the structure, or more, and a 6-foot width between storage wall and screen wall. Depth of storage units will vary according to need, but plan about 3 feet maximum.

The arrangement is ideal because it allows the gardener to be outdoors, yet under shade, while working, and the storage wall keeps equipment snug and weather-proof.

You'll gain points if you can locate the storage wall directly adjoining the driveway, because bins for mulch and the like can be included and built to be loaded right from the driveway and unloaded on the garden side.

The entire workshop can be built with western red cedar lumber. Strong 4x4s would be recommended for supporting posts and roof beams, with 2x6s used for the eggcrate roof framing. The sunshade section could be 1x1s, slats spaced an inch apart. Two-by-four are needed to frame the storage wall which can be sided either to match the house or in a contrasting siding pattern.

The screen wall at the front could be made up of sections of spaced cedar 1x4s which are installed horizontally between the roof support posts. A dandy idea is to design these screens so that the top half of each folds down. Many gardeners will want to use the shaded workshop also as a place to display hanging baskets for fuchsias and begonias, and the fold-over screen, when lowered, will act as a perfect display case.

Ground should be level in the workshop to provide easy movability for wheeled equipment and to give safe footing for the gardener at work.

20,000 4-H Members Plan Fair Exhibits

Premium garnished exhibits and fascinationg demonstrations of farming skills by 4-H and FFA members will again be a highlight of the Colorado State Fair.

The largest exhibit at the mammoth exposition in Pueblo, Aug. 24-29, will be that of Colorado 4-H Clubs, representing the best efforts of the more than 20,000 members. During fair week, more than 500 delegates from every county in Colorado will live in dormitories at Camp Tobin, located on the 80-acre State Fairgrounds.

The full program of 4-H activities will include workshops, educational tours, recreational activities, as well as dress revues, livestock showmanship, tractor and automobile driving, dog obedience trials, and a milking contest.

Approximately 200 members of the Colorado Future Farmers of America, will again call their fairgrounds facility "home" during the exposition. The teenage boys from rural high schools have expanded their popular Children's Barnyard exhibit of young farm animals. City cousins will have an opportunity to see and in many cases pet, the animal babies. The FFA boys will also sompete for awards in educational booth displays, farm mechanics, and in the Junior Fat Stock Show and Sale, co-sponsored by Colorado 4-H Clubs.

Superintendent of the 4-H Department and Camp Tobin will be C. G. Staver. He will be assisted by Miss Audrey Sandstead and Raleigh Brooks. All are from Fort Collins.

Marvin Linson, Denver, is superintendent of FFA Activities. Paul Foster, Rifle, and Lloyd Lawson, Denver, will serve as assistants to Linson.

CSU Professors To Attend Meet in Italy

FORT COLLINS—Two professors of Colorado State University's department of microbiology and pathology will attend international meetings at Italy in September.

Dr. Alvin B. Hoerlein will attend the 5th International Congress on Animal Reproduction and Artificial Insemination at Trento, Italy, Sept. 6-13. He is a professor of microbiology at CSU.

Dr. Robert Rubin will attend the 1st Iternational Congress for Parasitologists (people who study parasites) at Rome, Italy, Sept. 21-26. He is a professor of parasitology at CSU.

Dr. Hoerlein will present a paper entitled, "Induced Immunities to Vibroisis in Cattle." He will also participate in a symposium on "Pathology of Reproduction." Dr. Rubin will present a paper concerning the effects of Thiabendazole (a drug) against cattle parasites.

Odds and Ends 4-H to Order Identity Bands

The July meeting of the Odds and Ends 4-H Club, held in the I.O.O.F. Home at Canon City, was presided over by Alice Snodgrass, president. The club decided to order identification arm bands. A report on the bulletin board was given by Lawrence Brasier and Leonard Claar.

It was announced that the Fremont County 4-H Fair will be held Aug. 9-12. Alice Snodgrass and Vivian Prather presented the program, while refreshments were served by Helen and Lawrence Brasier.

Mary Claar and Donna Prather will present the program at the August meeting, while Marion Brasier and Leonard Claar will serve refreshments.

Present were Alice Snodgrass, Roberta Hulse, Judy and Joe McCullough, Vivian, Donna and Dennis Prather, Helen, Lawrence and Marion Brasier, Anne, Judy and Gary Dilley, Mary and Leonard Claar, Cathy May and Allen Svedman.

Also attending were leader, Jim Dilley and the following guests: Mrs. William Kemp, Linda Snodgrass, Harold Petre and Mike McCullough.

Cavalier Riders To Participate In Rodeo Parade

The Cayalier Riding Club will ride in Thursday's Pageant Parade of the Rockies as one of its activities for this month. Others will include a moonlight ride, and in September, a horse show at Ft. Carson.

Activities for the remainder of the year include a trail ride to Bear Trap Ranch for overnight in October, the annual meeting and election of officers in November and a Christmas party in December.

The Cavalier Club, based at the Ft. Carson riding stables, is unique in that few of its members own their own horses, but rent them from the stables.

Age limits are so flexible that riders often range in age from 7 to 70. Civilians are eligible for membership if sponsored by a military-connected member. The club was established in 1959.

A member of the Central Colorado Horsemen's Association, the club holds board meetings every month. Lt. Col. James Young of Ent AFB is the president.

New members are welcomed. Applications for membership may be obtained by calling the club secretary, Mrs. A. C. Herzberger at 634-2388.

District 4-H Demonstration Contest Held

More Than 125 Ships Ready in Pacific Theater

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The military strength of the United States in the Pacific includes nearly a quarter of a million men, thousands of planes and about 125 Navy ships in the 7th Fleet alone, with other ships ready elsewhere.

Part of the "substantial military reinforcements to Southeast Asia" which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara announced were being moved up, apparently come from units already located in the central and northwest Pacific regions.

First indications of the nature of the buildup came from Saigon today with an announcement by a U.S. spokesman that U.S. Air Force F102 jet fighters were being rushed to South Viet Nam.

Some reportedly arrived there from Clark Air Force Base in the Philippines. Others are stationed on Okinawa and in Japan.

As the reinforcements head for the Southeast Asian zone, the Defense Department will draw on planes, ships and men now in the continental United States. These will take up stations from which the beefed-up Southeast Asia force has been taken.

Here is how the U.S. military setup in the Pacific stood as the crisis intensified:

Manpower — A total of about 229,000, including 69,000 Army, 30,000 Marines, 70,000 Air Force, 60,000 Navy in the 7th Fleet deployed along the Asian coastline.

Ships — The 125 ships of the 7th fleet include three attack carriers the Ticonderoga, Constellation and Bon Homme Richard, plus an antisubmarine warfare carrier, the Kearsarge.

The Ticonderoga and Constellation were standing close to the mouth of the Tonkin Gulf today, with planes from the ships flying air cover for the destroyers Maddox and C. Turner Joy as the latter continued their patrol.

The Bon Homme Richard and the Kearsarge apparently were deployed farthur up the western Pacific, but still within fairly fast steaming distance of the North Viet Nam trouble zone.

Air Force — The Pacific Air Force, with headquarters in Hawaii, operates 40 tactical squadrons of aircraft. They are strike, support and air defense types and include many supersonic jet fighters.

Bases in Guam and elsewhere are used for rotational and training flights by Strategic Air Command bombers from home bases in the United States. The Navy estimates the total plane strength for the 7th Fleet, including aircraft operating from carriers and from land bases, at about 650.

The Marine Corps, in addition to the approximate 20,000 ground force personnel based in Okinawa, has a Marine air wing of about 10,000 men and 300 to 400 planes in the western Pacific.

A battalion landing team of Marines, about 2,000 men, is rotated on sea duty from Okinawa with the 7th Fleet's amphibious force.

Japan Approves U.S. Steps in Viet Crisis

TOKYO (AP) — The Japanese government said today it considered President Johnson's promise of a "limited and fitting" response to North Vietnamese attacks on American warships to be "warranted and inevitable under the circumstances."

The statement was issued through chief cabinet secretary Zenko Suzuki after U.S. Ambassador Edwin O. Reischauer reported to Premier Hayato Ikeda on the incidents.

The Japanese government said it hoped that "a settlement will be found before the situation worsens."

Official sources said the brief statement would be the only government comment "at the present time."

Foreign Ministry sources said unofficially earlier today they found President Johnson's statement "stronger than we expected."

Laos Reports Rumor Of New Overthrow

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The Laotian government took precautions today following rumors "of a plot to overturn the established order."

Armed troops moved constantly through the otherwise quiet city during the night.

The Interior Ministry, in a statement to the public, said the commandant of the army and national police had to take "security measures to assure order and security of the town and to be prepared for all eventualities following rumors of a plot organized to overturn the established order."

A clash of interests had been rumored between the rightist Deputy Premier Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, and rightist Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, one of the leaders of the April 19 coup.

The statement appealed to the public "to keep calm and abstain from actions that will provoke the situation which may be profitable to the enemies of the country."

Florissant News

By MRS. BEN GARVER

The former Florissant schoolhouse now owned by the Grange, was gaily bedecked in a dozen or more colorfully decorated booths, July 24, 25 and 26. Every type of handicraft including ceramics, paintings, needlework galore, hand made jewelry of native rocks, home canned and baked goods and decorative household gadgets attracted many spectators. Approximately two hundred signed the guest book. The Grange ladies were busy serving lunches the three days and the generous profit will be used for improvement of the building. Despite many other activities the same weekend, Mrs. Marie Monroe, chairman of the project, feels the Hobby Show was a success and will be an annual event hereafter.

The community welcomes Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Picrone and son of Moline, Ill., who are building a new home at Crystal Peak Estates and will make this their permanent home. Picrone is a retired cabinet maker.

Recent house guests of Bette and Marie Monroe here to attend the Hobby Show were Mrs. Sally Hall of Delhi; Josie and Ada Gyurman of Tyrone and Mrs. Irma Rains of Tempas.

An auction sale last Sunday at the former Gilley ranch, now owned by R. E. Perkins, attracted a large crowd, with a number of out of town ranchers attending. Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Snider of Yoder were among those present.

Lake George was brightly illuminated one night last week, when the town dump was afire, possibly set by prankster. Fire equipment was rushed to the scene and the fire was soon under control.

A number of residents from here attended the Ute Pass Stampede at Woodland Park last weekend and the Burro Race at Fairplay. Among those riding in the parade at Fairplay was Wilbur Lewis and a group in the Jane Jefferson entrant were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Landis, Mrs. Glen Lovejoy and Mrs. Oleta Havecock.

Don Stephens is recovering satisfactorily at Memorial Hospital from a heart attack. Mrs. Stephens' brother and family from Wichita, Kan., are presently visiting and assisting her during Don's absence.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry Morton of Stillwater, Okla., are vacationing here at Mulligan's summer home at Lake George.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Schoon family and Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Moreland and Rusty Smith of Colorado Springs were recent Sunday visitors at the Ira Moreland ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. O. N. Wamsley and Jean Welch were in Denver last Thursday to meet Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Wamsley, who visited here a few days before their air flight to Padora, Italy, where both young Wamsleys are resuming their medical courses.

House guests last week of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Garver were Mrs. Sylvia Hobson of Arkansas, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Garver, Susan and Lisa of Littleton.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Anderson were Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Hammer of Topeka, Kan. He is Mrs. Anderson's brother.

The Help U Club which was hosted July 23 at the home of Mrs. Nate Snare, assisted by Mrs. Mary Gager, attracted fifteen members and four guests. Roll call was "Flowers." Happy Birthday was sung to Mrs. Carl Reick. "The Thing" was won by Myrna Robson. Club members agreed to be present Aug. 9 at Cripple Creek to assist at the county fair. It was agreed to hold a drawing for the wrist watch purchased with gift stars at the September club meeting. A report was made on the Gold Bond benefit project. Guests were Myrna Robson, Mary Hendershot, Irma Rains and Mrs. A. M. Raines. The next meeting will be Aug. 6 at the home of Mrs. Albert Lafferty.

A barbecue and a drawing for a free lot drew a large crowd at Colorado Mt. Estates, south of Florissant, last Sunday. A lady from Colorado Springs was the lucky winner of the free lot.

Mrs. Boyce Kinsala and girls of Texas are vacationing at the Gregg ranch. Kinsala will join his family later.

House guests recently at the Nate Snare home were Mrs. Mary Hendershot of Guymon, Okla., and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hendershot of Texas.

The Don Whites and Gilbert Thorper of 4 Mile were Friday visitors at the Al Lafferty home.

Mrs. Bernice Hersch of Del Norte was a weekend bisitor at the home of Mrs. Fannie Lincoln. Mrs. Lincoln left for a visit at Mrs. Hersch's home. Norte was a weekend visitor at the Hobby and Craft Show were Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Garrett and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Ellermier of Widefield. Mrs. Garrett displayed ceramics and paintings and Garrett operated a popcorn machine.

House guests at the Ben Garver ranch last week were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Farrell of Denver. The group enjoyed a trip to Dillon Dam and Leadville. Other callers were the Chuck Eriksons of Colorado Springs and Mr. and Mrs. Dan Miller of Jefferson.

Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Schmitt have been entertaining their granddaughters, Pam and Sally Beckman of Denver. The Schmitts have their present home for sale and are building a larger home at Crystal Peak Estates.

Visiting at the Frank Goldsby home at 11 Mile Ranch have been Mrs. Everett Johnson and Miss Mary Miller of Norman, Okla., the Goodwins and Mr. and Mrs. Baker and daughter of Colorado Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Lavern Bangert and children of Peyton have spent their vacation visiting the Frank Daniels here and at Canon City.

Friends of Kenneth Willey regret to hear he's been seriously ill of Memorial Hospital. The Willeys were former Florissant residents.

Marring the many festivities of the past week have been several car accidents, some minor and some of a serious nature.

Mr. and Mrs. James Schroyer of Waynesburg, Pa., arrived last weekend and a group of geology students arrived this week for their annual field instruction here.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Barr Sr. are now home at Tarryall after a long visit with their daughter and family in Washington.

Favorites Win at Broadmoor

By TOM CUSHMAN
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The first chapter of this year's Broadmoor Women's Invitational went off like a Perry Mason trial — but a glance at the bracket this morning suggested that future editions may switch to the Hitchcock ending!

Favorites trampled over the opposition without exception during Tuesday's first round of match play in a day that was jammed with some of the most lopsided margins in the history of the tournament. But starting this morning, collisions between the top "names" in the field were beginning to occur and the length of the matches was expected to increase sharply.

The top attraction of the second round sent favorite Barbara Fay White, the tournament medalist from Shreveport, La., against Julie Hull of Anderson, Ind. Miss White, who is becoming a sort of Arnold Palmer of the women's amateur circuit, was favored as usual — but not by much. Both girls are zero-handicappers, even though Miss Hull slipped to an 83 in the qualifying round.

Another enticing battle sent Carol Sorenson of Jaynesville, Wis., the former Western Amateur and National Collegiate champion, against vastly improved Joan Ashley of Wichita, Kan. Miss Ashley, who has played in the rather imposing shadow of her older sister for some years, has begun to carve out a reputation of her own in recent weeks and could enhance it substantially with an upset today.

Other second round matches sent Jean Ashley of Colorado Springs against Vivian Dorsey of Denver; Jeanie Butler of Harlingen, Tex., against Ann McCarthy of St. Louis, Mo.; Joan Birkland of Denver against Ginny Long of Colorado Springs; Judy Bell of Colorado Springs against Mrs. Robert Allen of Chanute, Kan.; Barbara McIntire of Colorado Springs against Vi Ann Beadle of Belton, Mo.; and Marcia Bailey of Denver against Marcia Allen of Chanute, Kan.

Despite the wave of one-sided triumphs Tuesday, there was a near casualty — this one involving former Curtis Cup star Judy Bell. The popular Broadmoor lass, who only recently set a single-round scoring record in the Women's U.S. Open, couldn't get together with her clubs Tuesday. Playing off the front tees, she turned up with an un-Bell-like 42 on the first nine and trailed slight Karen Keesling of Wichita, Kan. by two holes.

The resurgence started at the 10th hole slammed a long fairway wood onto the green and two-putted for a birdie. She added a second birdie at the 11th to tie the match and then soared ahead as Miss Keesling barely cleared the tee-box with her drive at 12 and faltered to a bogey.

The battle still raged as the two came to the 18th green, however, and there Miss Keesling hit a brilliant third-shot to within two feet of the pin and sent the match into overtime by sinking the putt while Judy three-putted. Miss Bell wrapped it up on the first extra hole by running in a 12-foot birdie putt that stamped out any further hopes of an upset by the Kansas girl.

A second extra hole match involved tiny Marcia Allen of Chanute, Kan. and Mrs. K. R. Grigsby of Coffeyville, Kan. Miss Allen had a five hole lead at one point before blowing to a tie and then finally winning with a par on the 19th hole.

The majority of the other matches had none of that suspense. In fact, most of the top players saw very little of the Broadmoor's back nine.

Miss White posted a one-over-par score in blitzing Hybenia Jorden of Greeley, 8 and 7; Miss Hull downed Martha Badgett of Amarillo, Tex., 6 and 5; Jean Ashely shocked Jean Suman of Houston, Tex., 7 and 6; Miss Sorenson ripped Jane Oliver of Amarillo, Tex., 8 and 6; and Miss McIntire posted the biggest margin of the day, a whopping 9 and 7 edge over Marian Pierson of Boulder.

LAS VEGAS, Nev. — Thad Spencer, 196, Los Angeles, knocked out George (Scrapiron) Johnson, 204½, Oklahoma City, 4.

PORTLAND, Ore. — Gaspar Ortega, Mexicali, Mexico, and Gene (Honey Bear) Bryant, Tucson, Ariz., drew, 10, junior middleweights.

HONOLULU — Stan Harrington, 159½, Honolulu, knocked out Robert Pena, 131½, Mexico City, 3.

Local AC's Game Postponed

HUGO, Colo. — The Colorado Springs Athletic Club-Boulder Collegians baseball game here Tuesday night was called after one and one-half innings because of rain during the semi-finals of the Colorado State Semi-Pro Tournament.

The game has been rescheduled for Thursday at 7 p.m.

With the score tied at 1-1 in the top of the second inning with the Boulder Collegians at bat, the downpour postponed the game until Thursday night.

The Springs AC's score in the bottom of the opening frame when lead-off hitter Jim Taylor tripled and scored on a throwing error. Boulder scored in the second frame on two singles and a fielder's choice play.

LeRoy Porterfield, who pitched the AC's to a decisive victory over Jones Mortuary of Pueblo, started for the Colorado Springs team and set down the Boulder batsmen in order in the first stanza. Porterfield struck out 18 batters in the game against the Jones Mortuary team.

The AC's have scored three victories in the Semi-Pro tourney including a stunning win over the defending champion, Denver Merchants.

Griffith Named Georgia Tech Scout

ATLANTA (AP) — Johnny Griffith, who resigned as head football coach at Georgia at the end of last season, will be a part-time scout at Georgia Tech this year.

Tech athletic director Bobby Dodd announced Tuesday that Griffith would carry out special scouting assignments on a weekend basis for Tech.

Sertoma Meets Junction In Legion State Play

By CHARLIE DREUX
Gazette Telegraph Sports Writer

The Sertoma baseball team, rated co-favorites along with defending champion Greeley, opens its bid for the American Legion "A" State Tournament championship when the Colorado Springs based nine tangles with bull-pen strong Grand Junction Friday night at Pueblo's Runyon Field. Game time is set for 8 p.m.

In the Legion "A" tourney opener Friday, Greeley takes on the Denver American Die & Box squad at 2:30 p.m. The state tournament will continue through Sunday and all games are slated to be played at Runyon Field. This will be a double elimination tournament.

Behind the strong pitching of Bob Torrie, Clay Chambers and Bob Kochis, the Sertoma aggregaiton — winners of the local American Legion "A" league with an 11-1 record — qualified for a berth in the Legion state tournament with a decisive two-out-of-three series victory over Pueblo last weekend in the district playoff.

The Sertoma crew dropped the first game to Pueblo, 2-1, but came back stong to take two straight, 10-2 and 8-4.

Should the local team defeat Grand Junction this Friday night in the tournament opening round, the Sertoma team would meet the winner of the Greeley-American Die & Box of Denver game Saturday afternoon at 2 p.m.

A loss to Grand Junction would put the Sertoma bombers in the losers bracket and they would meet the loser of the Greeley-Denver game at 10 a.m. on Saturday. The winner of this game (between the two losing team from Friday's games) would play for the consolation spot against the loser of Saturday's 2 p.m. game in the third game Saturday at 8 p.m.

Then on Sunday the finals will be held at 1 p.m. Any one of the four teams would have to win all games to cinch the championship in a single game on Sunday. A second game Sunday at 3:30 p.m. would be scheduled if required to decide the championship.

According to Sertoma Coach Chris Talbott, the local team will have the services of third baseman Mike Teague, who was forced to decide between playing in the All-State football game on Aug. 15 or playing for the Sertoma baseball team in the American Legion "A" State tournament.

Jack Isenhour, executive secretary of the All-State Games Committee, offered Teague the choice of either playing in the Legion tournament or in the All-State football game. Isenhour said the former Wasson fullback could not play in the All-State football game if he played for Sertoma in the baseball tournament.

Isenhour was reported to have made the decision because the Legion baseball tournament would interfer with Teague's practice schedule with the South football team in preparation for the Aug. 15 game. The footballers were expected to report for training in Pueblo today. Bruce Heath, former Pueblo Central fullback, will replace Teague on the South football squad.

Teague, who plans to play baseball at Colorado State College decided to pass up the chance to participate in the All-State football game and will be in the lineup Friday night when Sertoma takes on Grand Junction in the Legion baseball tourney opening round.

Greeley qualified for the state tourney with a two-game sweep over Sterling when the defending Legion champions dumped their northern neighbors, Sterling, 18-6 and 3-0. Big Daryl Brumley paced the Greeley nine to their second victory over Sterling as the portside chucker tossed a two-hitter and struck out 18 batters. Greeley should be the toughest foe the Sertoma group will have to face in the three-day tournament.

Grand Junction received a bye in district competition and automatically qualified for the state tournament. Although the Western Slope team has yet to be severly tested this summer in Legion play, the Junction team boasts a strong pitching staff which revolves around Bob Else and lefty Jack Elsea.

Else pitched a no-hitter against Pueblo Central last spring in the State Class-AAA quarter finals. However, the Grand Junction team lost to Arvada in the state finals.

The fourth team in the Legion tourney, American Die and Box went undefeated in the Denver Legion "A" league and captured a state tournament berth with upsetting best two-out-of three series over highly favored Littleton. After losing the opening district playoff game to Littleton, 11-8, the team composed of South High players came back strong to win two straight, 9-6 and 5-4. The final game went 10 innings before the Denver squad eked out the 5-4 decision.

During the regular season, the Denver entry in the Legion finals was defeated by the Pueblo squad, victim of Colorado Springs' Sertoma in the district playoff.

Polumbus Gets Second Shot

DENVER (AP)—Gary Polumbus got a return match today with the man who defeated him in the recent Pikes Peak Invitation Golf Tournament — Arnie Abel.

The two are paired in today's second round of the Colorado State Amateur Golf Tournament at Hiwan Country Club.

Abel defeated Polumbus 4 and 3 in the Pikes Peak tournament Sunday.

In Tuesday's first round of the state tourney, Polumbus downed Al Brooks 3 and 2, and Abel drew a bye.

Five other favorites also advanced from the first round into today's second round.

Defending champ Larry McAtee downed Bob Karlin 4 and 3 as the field of 64 was halved.

Jim English, who won medalist honors in Monday's qualifying round, defeated Dick Johnson 2 and 1. Hale Irwin of Boulder downed Ivan Krohenke 8 and 7. Les Fowler, a former champion, defeated Al Brooks 3 and 2.

Ralston Starts Mid-Atlantic Meet

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dennis Ralston, top-seeded and winner of three of his last four tournaments, and Frank Froehling, winner here in 1961 and No. 2 seed this time, see their first action today in the middle Atlantic Invitation Grass Court Tennis Championships.

Ralston faces Nick Kourides in his first match. The winner takes on England's Tim Phillips, 6-2, 16-14 winner over Jim Buck of Los Angeles in Tuesday's opening play.

Froehling's opening opponent is Patricio Cornejo of Chile.

Charles Pasarell of Puerto Rico, the No. 3 seed, defeated Peter Breed of England 6-2, 6-3 Tuesday. Patricio Rodriguez of Chile, four ranked, beat England's John Baker 8-6, 6-3.

Blue Bombers Tie Lions, 10-10

WINNIPEG (AP) — George Fleming's last-quarter field goal earned the Winnipeg Blue Bombers a 10-10 tie with the British Columbia Lions Tuesday night in their opening game of the Canadian Football League season.

Padres Widen PCL Lead; Bears' Game Postponed

The San Diego Padres widened their lead to two games in the Western Division of the Pacific Coast League Tuesday night when they beat Tacoma 8-1 and 3-0 while Seattle was downing second-place Portland 3-1.

Arkansas took the measure of Dallas 5-3 to tighten its grip on the top rung of the Eastern Division ladder. The Travelers got help from Indianapolis, which defeated second-place Oklahoma City 7-4. The gap between first and second place widened to 3½ games as a result.

Rain caused postponement of Salt Lake's game at Denver and Hawaii's at Spokane.

San Diego scored its eight runs in the first three innings in the opener against Tacoma. The Padres collected 11 hits, six for extra bases. Miles McWilliams got his ninth homer of the season with two mates aboard for three runs for the Padres in the third.

In the nightcap, the Padres waited until the last inning to win. Cesar Tovar, Jim Saul, Larry Burright and Tommy Helms singled, and there was a hit batsman to account for the three San Diego runs. Ted Davidson, who relieved starter Larry Dovel in the sixth, got the victory in the second game.

Jim Lonborg gave up only one hit for Seattle's victory over Portland. That lone blow was a solo homer by Ray Barker in the seventh. Seattle won the game in the eighth with Bob Guindon's three-run homer, his 12th of the year.

Four of Arkansas five runs were the result of homers in the Travelers' win over Dallas. In the fifth, Bill Sorrell slugged a solo homer, then Wayne Graham walked and Adolfo Phillips brought him home with another homer. Bobby Malkmus got the other for the winners in the eighth. John Wojcik homered for Dallas in the sixth.

A three-run homer by Jim Hicks in the sixth provided the victory margin for Indianapolis, which racked up its fourth straight victory. Dave DeBusschere was the winner, going all the way.

N. Y. Athletic Commission Opposes Liston-Clay Bout

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — The backers of heavyweight champion Cassius Clay intend to have him take on Sonny Liston despite the New York State Athletic Commission's opposition and call for reprisal if the bout is held.

The Clay backers plan to have him defend his title against Liston in a match promoted by Intercontinental Promotions, Inc., Gordon Davidson said Tuesday. He is the attorney representing the syndicate handling the 22-year-old champion.

Earlier Tuesday, the New York Commission stated its opposition to the match and urged that serious sanctions be imposed on any state agency approving the fight.

The commission said its ruling was based "not only on the character of the manipulations attending the bout at Miami, but interested in the promoting corporation which had planned to promote the return bout."

The commission said such a return bout contract "violates the spirit and the word of the resolutions and directives agreed upon by all boxing agencies, including the World Boxing Association."

Clay recently signed for the defense against Liston, the man he dethroned in February. At the time of the announcement it was reported Liston had disposed of his IPI stock.

Davidson said the proposed fight was "part of the original price exacted by Intercontinental," in which the syndicate agreed that if Clay won he would make his next defense for IPI.

IPI had the right to name the opponent, date and site, he said.

"This was eventually and reluctantly agreed to," Davidson said, adding that it was perfectly proper and legal.

"As far as Clay is concerned," he said, "he is ready, willing and able to fight any of the top contenders. Clay does not want to be a do-nothing champion. He wants to fight this fall."

As for the New York action, Davidson said, "it's really nothing new since Liston never has been licensed in New York and none of his fights can be held there. Clay is licensed there and would be welcome.

"As for the WBA imposing sanctions, I doubt it. The association has no enforcing powers and is a voluntary association. Its members can do as they please. I believe the Clay-Liston fight will be held because some state commission will decide that it wants to hold it and that will be all there is to it."

Bill Faversham, spokesman for the sponsoring group behind Clay, was out of town and unavailable for comment.

The New York Commission quoted a WBA resolution prohibiting contracts calling for return bouts. It requires automatic suspension for any commission approving any such prohibited championship return bout and for any boxer, manager or promoter participating in such a return bout.

Ed Lasman, WBA president, has said his group would take up the issue of the second Liston-Clay fight at its convention at Norfolk, Va., Aug. 26-30.

Jerry Stovall Returns Home as Pro Gridder

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Jerry Stovall is one of the exceptions to that old cliche about nice guys finishing last.

He was called "Mr. Do-It-All" at Louisiana State. And do everything he did—run, kick, catch passes, and inspire his teammates.

Stovall, a scholarly looking youngster from West Monroe, La., was chosen All-America in 1962 and was runner-up in the Heisman Trophy balloting to Oregon State's Terry Baker.

Stovall makes his first appearance back in his home state as a pro Saturday night when the St. Louis Cardinals meet the Green Bay Packers in a National Football League exhibition game in Tulane Stadium.

The Cards picked Stovall as their No. .1. draft choice in 1962. He cracked into the Cards' starting defensive line-up last fall.

"Stovall is a hard worker and a perfect boy to coach."

That comment came from Paul Dietzel in the spring before his last season as head coach at Louisiana State.

A year later Dietzel was gone and Charlie McClendon was the LSU coach.

"When you take in attitude, personality and modesty as well as football talent, a boy like Jerry Stovall is one in a million," said McClendon.

Stovall had a big run in his senior year. While a nationwide television audience looked on, he caught the second-half kickoff and raced 98 yards for a touchdown that started LSU toward a 10-7 upset over Georgia Tech in 1962.

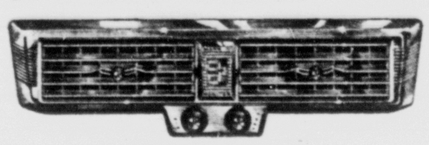

Stovall is no longer carrying the ball. He's batting down passes and tackling the ball carrier as part of the Cardinal secondary. But he's still punting —a feat which he also did in college.

Does he miss the football under his arm?

"Not at all," says Stovall. "I've always considered defense more of an individual challenge. I'd rather play it.

"Also, it's less demanding physically and I figure it will lengthen my career as a pro."

STOCKHOLM (AP) — Ollan Cassell of Nutley, N.J., who will run the 400 meters in the Olympics at Tokyo this fall, won a double in the sprints — 100 and 200 meters — in an international track meet here Tuesday. His times were 10.7 and 21.5.

Top Three AL Clubs Throw Away Games

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Doesn't anyone here want that pennant?

That was the big question in the American League today after the three top contenders played kick-the-game-away Tuesday night.

Here's the way it went:

The first-place New York Yankees held a 1-0 lead on Mickey Mantle's homer and were cruising behind ace lefthander Whitey Ford when surefingered Tony Kubek suddenly committed two errors in two innings and helped Kansas City to a 5-1 victory.

The second-place Baltimore Orioles were locked in a scoreless battle with Los Angeles until the fourth inning when Norm Siebern dropped a two-out foul pop and the Angels rushed across five runs and went on to a 5-0 triumph.

The third-place Chicago White Sox were leading Detroit 3-0 and left-hander Gary Peters had allowed only a bunt single through seven innings when he came apart, was slammed for four runs and a 4-3 defeat by the Tigers.

The frantic fumbling left the Yankees one percentage point ahead of the Orioles with the White Sox a full game back.

Elsewhere, Harmon Killebrew stroked three singles and his 37th homer, leading a five-homer barrage that carried Minnesota to a 12-4 walloping of Boston and Steve Ridzik preserved Washington's 4-2 victory over Cleveland with 7 1-3 innings of two-hit relief pitching.

Ford, who had missed two turns on the mound because of a hip injury, got himself into a jam in the sixth when he issued walks to Ed Charles and Jim Gentile. Kubek helped him stay in it.

When Doc Edwards doubled, scoring Charles, Kubek let Tom Tresh's throw from the outfield get by him and Gentile also scored, bringing in the lead run. In the 7th, Kubek let Wayne Causey get to second base by throwing wild on his grounder and Charles doubled Causey home.

Ford, losing his fourth against 12 victories, pitched a strong game but his control was off. He gave up only four hits, but walked six.

Dave Vineyard started for the Orioles and ran into difficulty in the fourth when the Angels loaded the bases with two out on two walks and a double by Willie Smith. Pitcher Don Lee then lofted a foul pop that Siebern dropped.

"Our foursome all have calluses on our hands pretty much in the same places. However, I have some that the others don't. Can I learn anything about my game from them."
—Asks Don Glossop, Royal Oak, Michigan.

A There are certain areas on the hands where calluses or hardened skin should develop. Various assumptions can be made from their location.

Calluses here indicate you're gripping the club properly with the last 3 fingers of left hand.

Blisters here could mean your left hand is opening or slipping at top. A firmer grip would correct this.

Calluses ok here if they indicate you're coming through with right hand in hitting area. (Beware if it's due to slipping.)

Callus here is good if it indicates you're using first 2 fingers to hit through the ball.

Reds Present Hutch With Pair of Wins

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Cincinnati Reds planned a perfect homecoming for Fred Hutchinson and they weren't about to let the weather or the Milwaukee Braves get in their way.

It looked for awhile like the Reds wouldn't be able to play one game Tuesday night but before the evening was over they had beaten the Braves twice 5-2 and 4-2.

Hutchinson,, who had been hospitalized for a week, returned to the club but left the bench midway through the first game which was delayed three times by rain. He watched the remainder of the twi-night doubleheader from Reds' President Bill DeWitt's box.

The Reds couldn't have put on a better show if they had rehearsed it. The first game was delayed 43 minutes right at the start but when the Reds finally came to bat, Deron Johnson clouted a three-run homer for a quick 3-0 Cincinnati lead.

Play was held up for 27 minutes in the third inning and again for 42 minutes in the seventh. It was during the third delay that Hutchinson left the bench and joined DeWitt in his box.

In between rain delays, the Braves had trimmed Cincinnati's lead to 3-2. But Leo Cardenas' two-run triple in the seventh clinched it.

John Edwards' run-producing single broke a 2-2 tie in the seventh inning of the nightcap helping the Reds wrap up the sweep.

In other National League action, San Francisco struggled 14 innings before edging New York 4-3, Chicago blanked St. Louis 4-0 and Los Angeles swept a twi-night doubleheader from Pittsburgh 5-1 and 10-7.

The Reds' double victory moved Cincinnati within 3½ games of National League-leading Philadelphia and only two games back of the second place Giants.

Jim O'Toole went the route in the nightcap, winning his 12th in 16 decisions. Bob Purkey (5-6) won the opener with ninth inning help from Sammy Ellis.

Hutchinson, fighting a chest cancer, was hospitailzed for tests last Monday. The 44-year-old manager spent most of his time in bed but told reporters he had watched some of the Reds' games on television during his hospital stay. He could not have enjoyed any of them as much as the double welcome home gift his club presented him with Tuesday.

Jim Davenport's 14th inning hit and run single scored Jose Pagan from first and ended another Giants-Mets marathon. San Francisco had taken a 3-1 lead in the 11th on Orlando Cepeda's two-run single but Jim Hickman tied it again for the Mets with a pinch single in the bottom of the inning.

The last time the Giants and Mets played in New York, they went 23 innings and nearly 7½ hours before San Francisco won.

Former Cardinal Lew Burdette pitched his first shutout in more than a year as the Cubs blanked St. Louis. Billy Williams clouted his 25th homer for Chicago and Burdette won his eighth game, seven of them coming after he was traded to the Cubs in May.

Sandy Koufax became the first pitcher to win 16 games but needed ninth inning help from Bob Miller to wrap up the first game victory against the Pirates. Koufax allowed six hits, struck out six and walked five before leaving with the bases loaded in the ninth. Miller got Bob Bailey to line into a double play ending the game.

Willie Davis stole three bases and scored each time to help the Dodgers complete the sweep. Derrell Griffith clubbed a three-run homer in the nightcap and Tommy Davis hit safely in both games running his consecutive game streak to 16.

Shamrock Top Kennel At Pueblo

PUEBLO — The Shamrock Kennel of Colorado Springs and Cecil W. Wilson of West Palm Beach, Fla., apparently plan to duel it out down to the wire in the race for top kennel honors at Pueblo Greyhound Park.

WAUKEGAN, Ill. (AP) — Marsha Houghton,, 14-year-old star of the Women's Western Junior Golf Championships, aims for a quarter-final berth today in the second round of the tournament.

Miss Houghton, the tournament medalist from Modesto, Calif., scored a 3 and 2 victory over Sue Basola, Muskogee, Okla., in the first round of match play Tuesday. She captured medal honors with a four-over-par 77 Monday.

Miss Houghton meets Sherry Taylor of Oklahoma City today in the upper bracket, which also includes Peggy Conley of Spokane, Wash., one of the country's top young women stars.

Miss Taylor squeezed into the second round with a 1-up victory over June Slee, Neptune, N.J., after a 20-hole struggle. Miss Conley advanced with ease, defeating Jane Taylor, Portage, Wis., 5 and 4.

Defending champion Janis Ferrairs of San Francisco remained a strong favorite in the lower bracket with a 4 and 3 triumph over Mary Margaret Dwyer, Geneva, N.Y.

Al Dark to Be Fired As Pilot, Says AP

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Dark, whose San Francisco Giants are locked in a battle with the Philadelphia Phillies for the National League pennant, will not be back as manager next year, The Associated Press was told today by a club official.

Dark's dismissal may be imminent. According to the source, it would not be too great a surprise if Dark were fired before the end of the season — perhaps even before the end of the month.

Dark has been managing the Giants since 1961. He led the club to a pennant after a playoff with the Los Angeles Dodgers in 1962 but the Giants lost the World Series in seven games to the New York Yankees. The Giants finished third last year.

The Giants currently are in second place, 1½ games behind the Phillies. The Giants picked up one-half game on the idle Phillies Tuesday night with a 4-3 triumph over the New York Mets in 14 innings.

Reported statements of prejudicial nature by Dark against Negro players — charges which he has denied — have nothing to do with Dark's untenable position, according to the source.

Dark, at a hastily called press conference Tuesday night, did what a Giant spokesman said was a "thorough and honest job of scotching these malicious accusations."

Strained relations have existed between Dark and club owner Horace Stoneham since the start of the season. A sentimental man, proud of his close relationship with his employees, Stoneham reportedly was hurt last spring by Dark's failure to inform him of a managerial offer made to him by the Houston club for 1965.

The breach has widened in recent weeks to a point where Stoneham reportedly has decided a change in managers was necessary.

Informed of The AP's story, Dark obviously was shaken. At first he refused comment, but then said:

"I signed a two-year contract in September of 1962 and have not discussed my future with the club since. As a matter of fact, that's against club policy."

Dark's latest difficulty stems from an article written by columnist Stan Isaacs of Newsday, a Long Island daily, which quotes him as saying Negro players are physically superior but mentally inferior to white players.

Dark, at the press conference held prior to Tuesday night's game, denied this as well as other statements attributed to him by Isaacs, who also quoted Dark as having said:

"We (the Giants) have trouble because we have so many Negro and Spanish speaking players on this team. They are just not able to perform up to the white ball players when it comes to mental alertness."

"Isaacs visited with me in San Francisco two weeks ago and we discussed what was wrong with the club," said Dark. "There was nothing racial involved. The story in the papers implied that it was."

"I was definitely misquoted on some of the things I said and other statements were deformed. I don't think Isaacs meant to do me any harm. I think it was a misunderstanding. A case of misinterpretation. He came to me after the story had appeared and apologized. He said he had not intended it to come out the way it did."

Earlier, Dark conferred with Commissioner Ford Frick with whom he had requested a meeting to explain his views.

"I was gratified by the commissioner's words to me," Dark said. "He told me I had nothing to worry about as far as baseball was concerned. He knew my record and was convinced I could not possibly make these statements."

Isaacs, who arrived at the tail end of the press conference, held in the visiting manager's office at Shea Stadium, remained quiet throughout. Questioned by reporters after Dark had left, Isaacs said he apologized to Dark for the trouble he had caused Dark personally. He insisted the quotes were accurate.

Bears' Offense Goes Into High Gear As College All-Star Game Draws Near

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO (AP) — There's bad news for the College All-Stars. George Halas thinks his Chicago Bears' offense finally is beginning to click for Friday night's game at Soldier Field.

"For the first time in 18 days I am encouraged by a showing of cohesion and proper execution by our offense," Halas said Tuesday at the Bears' camp in Rensselaer, Ind.

"Our defense came around after the sixth day of camp and has been improving every day," said the 69-year-old owner-coach. "Now our defense is beginning to perk up."

The Bears' offense never did kindle any burst of enthusiasm last year, when the team drove to the National Football League championship behind a solid ball-hungry defense.

"I think we will be inclined to open up more this season," said Halas. "The addition of Rich Kreitling and Gary Barnes gives us added strength on the left side. Of course, the club still is shaken by the tragic loss of John Farrington and Willie Galimore."

The Bears' first offensive unit to open against the All-Stars will have Bill Wade at quarterback, Ron Bull at left half, Johnny Morris at right half and Joe Marconi at fullback. Kreitling, former Cleveland Brown, is the No. 1 split end. Of course, Mike Ditka is the tight end.

A future Bear, Mike Reilly of Iowa, was one of the two co-captains named Tuesday by the all-stars. Reilly, a linebacker, was the Bears' No. 4 draft. He is rated a good bet to make the ball club when he joins the pros after Friday's game.

George Mira, the fabulous quarterback from Miami, was picked as the other co-captain. Although Mira has been hampered by a pulled muscle in the arm-pit of his right arm, he is expected to carry the main burden of the attack. Mira, who joins the San Francisco 49ers after the game, was the star of the East's win in the All-Star game at Buffalo in June. The other quatrerbacks are Pete Beathard of Southern California (Kansas City) and Jack Concannon of Boston College (Philadelphia).

More than 1,700 football fans greeted the All-Stars Tuesday at a luncheon in a downtown hotel at which Otto Graham, making his seventh appearance as head coach, introduced the players.

Commenting on his squad's selections for co-captains, Graham said "Mira is a 100 per cent take charge guy. When he got into the scrimmage against the Cardinals last week he told the men in the huddle, 'Come on now. We're going to move the ball.' And he did.

"Reilly is the same type of leader that Jordan (Lee Roy Jordan of Alabama) was last year. He's not quite as quick as Jordan, but he's as rugged as they come."

Among the all-stars are three players who will join the Bears. They are Carl Evey, a tackle from Tennessee who was the Bears' No. 1 draft, split end Chuck Logan of Northwestern and Reilly.

The professionals hold a 19-9 edge, with two ties in the long series sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. The All-Stars won last year, upsetting Green Bay 20-17, but the Bears are favored.

Former Indian Outfielder Signs With Red Sox

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) —Veteran outfielder Al Smith, released by the Cleveland Indians last Friday, has been signed by Boston, a Red Sox spokesman said Tuesday night.

The Sox did not indicate their immediate plans for Smith, but it's believed he will be used chiefly for pinch hitting.

Smith, 36, began his major league career with the Indians 12 years ago and returned to the Tribe last winter in a deal with Baltimore. The Orioles got Willie Kirkland and threw in $50,000 as well.

Smith had appeared in games with Cleveland this season, mostly as a pinch hitter. He was batting .162.

Cleveland released him to make room for Max Alvis, who returned after being sidelined with spinal meningitis for a month.

PGA Moves From Present Site

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (AP) — The Professional Golfers Association has moved out of its new clubhouse. The grounds and clubhouse staff have been laid off.

Tuesday's move came on the heels of a PGA suit filed this week in circuit court asking $150,000 in damages from John D. MacArthur, developer of Palm Beach Gardens where the clubhouse is situated.

PGA officials contend MacArthur did not complete the facilities according to contract. MacArthur says he did.

PGA officials at the administrative headquarters in Dunedin were not immediately available for comment.

Giants' 'Pitching Staff' in Hospital

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

NEW YORK (AP) — The San Francisco Giants' pitching staff is in the hospital.

Juan Marichal, the ace right-hander of the pennant contenders called by Manager Al Dark "my pitching staff," may be lost to the Giants for nearly two weeks with a back ailment.

The latest setback for the Giants came Tuesday night and followed the recent loss of another starter, Jack Sanford. Sanford underwent an operation last month for removal of an elbow obstruction and is lost for the season.

Marichal, a 25-game winner last season who was tied with Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax for the most victories in the majors going into Tuesday night's program, was taken to Harkness Pavilion for extensive examination and will remain there at least through Friday.

Xrays taken Tuesday were negative and the ailment was described as muscular, but estimates were that the 15-game winner could be out for two weeks. He already has missed one turn. He was scheduled to pitch Monday against Pittsburgh, but Bob Bolin, normally a reliever got the call, and the Giants lost.

Marichal, 15-5 with a 2.55 earned run average and a brilliant ratio of 144 strikeouts to 35 walks, said the pain began a week ago and has increased.

Congressman Refuses Offer Of Bank Stock

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Henry B. Gonzales, D-Tex., says he refused an offer of $14,000 worth of bank stock but he feels it was the idea of a "naive businessman" and a local matter.

"I cannot truthfully say it appeared to be part of any national lobbying attempt," Gonzales told the House Monday, interrupting a speech by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., describing the purported incident without giving any names.

Patman is chairman of the House Banking Committee, and Gonzales is a committee member.

Patman, praising "a member of my committee," told the story after saying that "anti-public action by the bankers' lobby" sometimes "takes the form of offering a congressman bank stock either free or at a cost greatly under the market value."

Gonzales said "a very distinguished gentleman" from his San Antonio district called on him in Washington and suggested he become director of a bank. Gonzales said he told the man that directors are usually stockholders "and I didn't have any money."

He said his caller told him that $14,000 worth of stock would be available "and I didn't have to have any money."

"I stopped him at that point," Gonzales said. "I told him I would consider this an outright conflict of interest. I reminded him I was a member of the banking committee. He said he did not know this."

Gonzales said that "one of the troubles with businessmen is that they often can't tell the difference between the private and the public sector."

After Gonzales finished, Patman and several other congressmen congratulated him.

"I think it is a fine example that the gentleman from Texas has set," Patman said. "I know a lot of people wouldn't be so courageous."

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, asked, "ought not more of us when we are tempted in public life make known our experience?"

Candidate Finds His Name Is Missing

NORTON, Kan. (AP) — Guy Ankeman, on the Democratic ticket for Norton County commissioner, got a jolt when he entered a polling place to vote Tuesday.

His name wasn't on the ballot.

Election officials found that Ankeman's name was omitted on ballots used in the three city wards.

Since he was unopposed for the nomination, the officials agreed that nothing had to be done about the omission.

There were 26 per cent more women than men past 65 in 1963 and this margin may increase to 43 per cent by 1985, says the Census Bureau.

Israel Agrees to Change of Border

JERUSALEM, Israeli Secort (AP) — Israel has agreed to a minor change in its frontier with Jordan.

Israeli officials disclosed today their government will relinquish a 100-by-125 foot plot in Beit Safafa, a village southwest of Jerusalem that has been divided by a barbed wire fence since the 1949 armistice.

Chihuahuas are an ancient, pure breed of dog from Mexico.
